SPLENDID ROMANCE IS "THE PRISONER OF ZENDA"
"The Prisoner of Zenda," which has thrilled thousands who have read the book or seen the play, has been made into a photoplay by Rex Ingram, the man who leaped into the front rank of motion picture directors by his production of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." This Metro picture, which comes to the Strand Theatre to-day, preserves all those elements which made the Edward Rose stage version of the novel by Anthony Hope, on which the photoplay is based, so popular.

BARBARA LA MARR

It is a story of the adventures of Rudolf Rassendyll, a young Englishman who for a time became the king of the mythical country of Ruritania and who won the love of the Princess Flavia, after a series of plots and counterplots during which he is compelled to fight for his very life. Beautiful settings, gorgeous costumes, and an exceptional cast contribute to make this romance one which will be talked about by all lovers of good pictures.

In the cast are Lewis Stone, Robert Edeson, Alice Terry, Stuart Holmes, Ramon Navarro, Barbara La Marr, Malcolm McGregor, Edward Connelly and Lois Lee. The adaptation was done by Mary O'Hara and the photography by John F. Seitz.

RUNS MILE ACROSS FIELDS.

To Rescue Family—Ten Saved From Fiery Death.

Mountain View, Feb. 19.—A frame house belonging to Mr. Hart, near Picton, was destroyed by fire Friday evening and a dreadful tragedy was narrowly averted.

When Cyrus Tyne went out to the barn to do his chores at night he noticed the roof of a neighboring house on fire. Although the house was a mile away he hastened with all speed across the fields and roused the family. The occupants of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wood, their six children and Mr. Wood's parents, were in bed and were quite innocent of their peril.

The roof which was on fire was directly over the bedroom occupied by the children. Needless to say they quickly made their escape and were soon in safety. With the help of neighbors the fire was extinguished before a great deal of damage was done.

It is desirable to think what might have happened to the whole family had not Mr. Tyne given the alarm when he did. Considering the condition of the fields since the recent snow storms it was no easy task to run the entire mile or so across the unbroken fields.

Fighting Between French Soldiers and German Policemen in the Ruhr.

Essen, Feb. 19.—Fighting between French soldiers and German policemen in different parts of the Ruhr was reported to-day and the situation seemed to be drifting toward guerrilla war.

A German policeman shot and wounded a French soldier at Gelsenkirchen, the latter returning the fire and wounding the policeman. Fighting throughout the occupied areas became extremely bitter this clash coming a few hours after a French officer was found dead, believed slain by German policemen here.

Several other clashes between police and troops were reported.

Fine Is Paid.
Dusseldorf, Feb. 19.—Gelsenkirchen's fine of one hundred million marks, assessed as penalty for the shooting of two French soldiers, has been paid out of one hundred and ten million paper marks which the French seized when they took over the railroad station.

A FINE ATTENDANCE.

At the Sing-Song Service on Sunday Night.

On Sunday evening Rev. G. I. Campbell, field secretary of the Department of Social Service, and E. Angelstein, was the special speaker at the Sing-Song service held at the close of the evening service in Sydenham street Methodist church on Sunday. Miss Joan Douglas and Miss M. Bruton assisted in the musical part of the service. These services are very popular which was shown in the large attendance of students and young people.

OLD LONDON IN "GAME OF LIFE"

Big English Picture Will Be Brought to Grand Opera House.

History says "The Old London Music Hall of the fifties was the sporting rendezvous of England." Here we find Lords and Baronets rubbing shoulders with sporting gentlemen and buxies. The nobility hobnobbed with the hot polo for a lord was only a lord, but a Derby winning jockey was a king.

This was the romantic setting for much of the drama and comedy in "The Game of Life." It is here that we see the dramatic meeting of Travers, the plunger, and the bookie who never sets a limit, and it is here that we find that hilarious pair, the irrepressible Cobbles, and the lovable urchin, The Nipper, who by a strange trick of fortune have been lifted from a coster barrow in the slums of London to a baronet's castle with thirty servants and money to burn.

The Old London Music Hall, and the Derby of 1866, as staged in "The Game of Life," are the most remarkable scenes ever staged in motion pictures. An actual Derby of crinoline times is staged in the picture, faithfully reproduced in every detail from the historic prints in the British museum.

We see the gay Victorian thousands who thronged the course, and here and there the strange figures of the bookies and jockeys of the old sporting days of the 50's.

"The Game of Life" comes to the Grand Opera House for three days commencing Thursday, Feb. 22nd after smashing all English cinema records in London, Liverpool, Glasgow and Edinburgh, and being hailed as the greatest picture ever made.
