Gerrit returns from Shanghai with his Chinese wife to find Nettie Vollar (Jacqueline Logan) ready to marry him. Nettie suffers an injury and Gerrit leaves Taou to go to her. Edward Dunsack (Raymond Hatton), a rival of Gerrit's and an opium smoker, tells Taou Yuen that her husband and Nettie Vollar are in love. The young wife orders him from the house and goes to Nettie's home herself. She arrives just after her husband has left and goes to the sick room. Edward, now a raving maniac, follows her and a dramatic finale, filled with thrills, is reached.

A very pretty wedding took place in St. Paul's church on Monday afternoon at five o'clock, when Miss Grace Langford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Langford, and James Pilgrim, of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery band, were married by Canon W. F. Fitzgerald. The bride was attended by Miss Doris Langford and Miss Millie Stacey. T. Priest acted as groomsmen. The bride was beautifully gowned in white crepe meteor with pearl trimmings and wore a lovely hat to match. She carried a beautiful bouquet of opelia roses. The bridesmaids were gowned in blue crepe, wore white hats and carried bouquets of pink roses. The bride was given away by Mrs. W. F. Fitzgerald, who was gowned in grey voile and wore a hat to match. The choir, of which the bride is a member, sang the hymn "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," and J. Hartle rendered in fine voice "O Perfect Love." Miss Walker presided at the organ. Immediately after the ceremony the officiating clergyman presented a handsomely bound copy in white of the prayer book, which he used in reading the service, as a souvenir to the bride of the happy occasion. The bride and groom received numerous and valuable gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Stacey, Pine street, entertained most hospitably the bridal party and numerous friends in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Pilgrim are to reside at 303 Barrie street.

Mrs. J. J. Rappie wore a pretty yellow taffeta frock with corsage of roses and played the wedding march. Miss Lucy Hughes sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

Immediately after the ceremony supper was served, after which the happy couple left amid showers of confetti, for Watertown and Syracuse, N.Y., the bride travelling in a pretty brown Canton crepe dress with hat and shoes to match and seal coat.

Among the guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. George Gates, Miss Helen Gates, P. J. Gates and the Misses Eletha and Hazel Gates, of Westbrook; Mrs. Albert Brown, Lyndhurst, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Rappie, Toronto.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

So much has been said of the latest million dollar release of Chaplin, "THE PILGRIM," and the extra added attraction, "The Gertie Miller Trio," that the management of the Strand announces two performances every evening, thus giving the general public a chance to see this great picture. The entire double bill will commence the first performance at 7.30 sharp and the second show will start at 9 o'clock, so that those who are late for the first show will be able to see the entire performance.

"A DAUGHTER OF LUXURY" MAKES HIT

How a succession of circumstances may convert an innocent situation into a serious complication through no fault of the principals concerned, is an interesting plot development of "A Daughter of Luxury," Agnes Ayres' latest Paramount vehicle, which amused a large audience at the Strand theatre last night.

Mary Fenton, the heroine, has been reared in luxury, but is left destitute on the death of her parents. She is turned out of her cheap hall bedroom because she cannot pay the rent. Accidentally, she meets a man named Owen, a stranger. Mary, almost ready to faint from hunger, accepts Owen's invitation to have tea in his hotel suite.

A gossip friend of Owen's finds the girl in his apartment in innocent but suspicious circumstances. The gossip believes Miss Fenton to be Mary Cosgrove, a wealthy heiress, and to save from scandal Owen, who is married, Mary allows the Walfords, social climbers, to believe this. Having no prospect of shelter for the night, she accepts the invitation of the Walfords to stay with them. They believe her to be Mary Cosgrove, and it is this belief which brings about a serious complication for Mary and Owen, in which a jewel burglary plays an important part.

The picture, directed by Paul Powell, is well done, and the cast is excellent, including as it does Tom Gallery, as leading man, Edward Martindel, Sylvia Ashton, Clarence Burton, Zasu Pitts and Robert Schable.

There is also a very funny two reel comedy "The High Flyer," Sherlock Holmes and Pathe News, which complete one of the best programmes presented at the Strand in a long time at just the usual prices.

"JAVA HEAD," NEW PRODUCTION TO BE SEEN AT THE ALLEN

Dramatic impressive and thrilling. George Melford's latest Paramount picture, "Java Head," will be the attraction at the Allen theatre to-day. Salem, Mass., is the locale of the story, although several of the scenes are laid in China. The story, in brief, tells of the love of a young

In connection with the train a number of cars were used for bulls which were for sale. During the trip a large number of bulls have been sold to farmers who were breeding the best class of stock.

It is understood that more interest is shown by the farmers at the small centres and for that reason the train has not stopped at the large towns and cities. A. W. Sliet, the local representative of the Ontario department of agriculture was at Tichborne.
