SUCCESSORS TO BRITISH PREMIER ALREADY BEING PICKED BY POLITICIANS

Lord Curzon (left) named by Bonar Law, and Stanley Baldwin (right) popular chancellor of exchequer.

London, April 24.—The Hon. Stanley Baldwin, known to Americans as the shrewd head of Britain's debt funding delegation which visited the United States in January, has been picked by keen political prognosticators as the most likely candidate to succeed Bonar Law, whose days as British premier are said to be few.

Bonar Law himself is said to favor Lord Curzon, Marquis of Kedleston, and one-time Viceroy of India, as his choice of a successor, but it is thought that Lord Curzon is not so popular a candidate. He is a Conservative, or Tory, and headed the Lausanne commission to make peace with the Turks last fall.

Baldwin became very popular as Chancellor of the Exchequer with the declaration "I am either going to break the expenditure or it will break me." And he became equally popular with Americans when he arranged in Washington for payment in full of England's war obligations.

Baldwin became still further endeared to the English people by the publication of the budget and the reduction of the tax on beer by a penny a pint. It is thought that he is the man best fitted to withstand the Labor party, which is likely to be the official opposition, and to beat them at their own game, economy being their chief plank. Baldwin stakes his career on reduced expenditures.

Although Bonar Law has officially denied that he is about to resign, it is thought that his falling health will not permit him to cope successfully with the attacks being made against his ministry.

During Bonar Law's absence Baldwin has been acting as prime minister, and represents sound business principles in government as well as a more equitable assessment.

LAND IN GOOD CONDITION

Much Clover Visible—Death of Two Prominent Wolfe Island Residents.

Wolfe Island, April 24.—A number of farmers commenced seeding last week. Today seeding is quite general. All report the soil to be in excellent condition for tilling. New meadows in most cases look very promising. It is many years since there was as much clover visible as at present.

About forty years ago, in a small way, the late Father Spratt laid the foundation for an apriary that grew to be one that was known all over Canada, for the brand of honey that he placed on the market. The late Father Spratt's apriary, which was so widely known, and purchased by his successor, has again changed hands. This time it goes to Messrs. McLaren and Spoor. They have moved the bees to a new grounds.

That is the happiest conversation where there is no competition, no vanity, but only a calm, quiet interchange of ideas and sentiment. Too much confidence in success is the likeliest to prevent it because it hinders us from making the best of the advantages which we enjoy. "A speculative despair is unpardonable, where it is our duty to act.
