CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE By Uncle Ray

Chapter 18—Dogs Help Men Hunt

The dogs first tamed by man looked very much like wolves. They grew to be large. They were fierce toward all creatures—except the ones who had tamed and fed them. They learned to love the families which took care of them. They learned to "pay back" the kindness of men.

How did they pay back? For one thing, they sometimes helped in hunting. They could run much faster than a man, and often they could catch rabbits and bring them back to their master. The picture to-day represents a dog bringing a rabbit to a Stone Age hunter. Besides catching rabbits and other small game, dogs could help the hunter find the scent of such animals as bears, lions and mammoths, and could let their masters know of the danger by yelping or whimpering.

Above all, the dog became a friend of the children. He played with them in meadow and forest. He was always ready to give his life, if necessary, to defend them.

During the tens of thousands of years dogs have changed a great deal in appearance. Nowadays only a few kinds of dogs look like wolves. The nature of dogs, however, has remained much the same. They are still faithful to those who are good to them. Many times dogs have saved human beings from death by burning or drowning.

There are some queer facts in the history of man's treatment of dogs. In ancient Egypt, people are said to have shaved themselves when a dog died. This was a sign of mourning.

There is a still more amusing thing in the dog's history. Several thousand years ago, the people of Ethiopia (a country south of Egypt) plected a dog as their "king." The dog was given officers and guards, and was kept in great state. When it fawned upon the officers, it was supposed to be pleased with what they did. When it growled, it was supposed to be angry over the way things were going!

That was very foolish, of course. Those Ethiopians couldn't have had much common sense to expect a dog to rule them!

Although it knows nothing about ruling, a dog knows a great deal about being a true friend.

Had An Awful Cold and Cough

Was Confined To Bed

Some coughs and colds seem hard to shake off—stick right to you in spite of all you do to get rid of them. These are the kind that are dangerous—the kind that weaken the lungs so that the germs of consumption find a ready foothold.

Obstinate coughs and colds yield to the grateful soothing properties of

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

It soothes and heals the irritated lungs and bronchial tubes, cuts the phlegm, and aids nature clear away the morbid accumulations.

Mrs. Geo. D. Langdale, Barton, N. S., writes: "In the year of 1920 I was taken with an awful cold and cough, and was confined to my bed for some time. I thought I was going into consumption. I commenced to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and found it to be an excellent remedy. I can highly recommend it to every sufferer from coughs and colds."

There is one art of which every man should be master—the art of reflection.

The poorest can give as much as the richest if he will give all he can.

THIEVES SURPRISED BY AN EMPLOYEE

In Store at Clayton, N.Y.—Called Policeman Who Made Arrest.

Clayton, N.Y., April 27.—A sensational early evening burglary at the Levy brothers clothing store in James street was frustrated by the unexpected return of William Monteith here on Tuesday night. He surprised two thieves while they were at work, called a policeman and their arrest followed.

The men, arraigned before Justice Harrison Cole, gave their names as George Harris, twenty-five, Belleville, Ont., and W. Cain, sixteen, Watertown, N.Y. They waived examination and were held for the grand jury.

It is believed the men effected entrance to the store shortly after Mr Levy closed it at 9.15 o'clock. Mr. Monteith, who had forgotten some books, returned to the store shortly after 10 o'clock and found the men selecting suits, shirts and other articles from the stock. Policeman Marshall, who was only a short distance away, was called, and the men were arrested without any trouble. They did not have time to make their getaway, and from their actions, it is thought, this was their first attempt at the game.

They had taken a suitcase from the shelf and had filled it with shirts, neckties, stick pins and other articles, valued at more than $100.

DOMINION OFFICIAL RETURNS TO CANADA

Will Make Report to Ottawa on Dairy Industry of the Antipodes.

Winnipeg, April 27.—The mission of J. A. Ruddick, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, and W. A. Wilson, formerly head of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, to Australia and New Zealand, where they investigated the dairy industries as carried on in those countries, was successful in every respect, Mr. Ruddick stated here.

Mr. Ruddick passed through Winnipeg on his way back to Ottawa, where his first report will be made to the agricultural department. Mr. Wilson remained over in Vancouver.

Much information was gathered that will be useful to the dairymen of Canada if they will make use of it, Mr. Ruddick said. Both of the countries visited had made great progress in production, equipment and

Standard Oil King Awarded Medal as the Greatest in the World.

New York, April 27.—John D. Rockefeller was one of five men to receive the gold medal of the National Institute of Social Sciences. He was referred to as "The greatest philanthropist in the world, having given over $500,000,000 to education and the furtherance of medical research.

The others to whom medals were awarded are: Jules J. Jusserand, French Ambassador; Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador; Dr. Charles B. Davenport, biologist and head of the eugenic movement in this country, and Emery R. Johnson, dean of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. The medals were presented by Austin B. Fletcher, president of the Institute, following a dinner in the grand ball room of the Hotel Plaza.

The medals to Sir Auckland Geddes and Ambassador Jusserand were given in recognition of their "Long and distinguished services which have brought into even closer bonds of good will and friendship the United States and the two great nations they represent."

After National Convention, Chicago, April 27.—San Francisco is bidding for both the Republican and Democratic national conventions
