All Next Week—Fine Array of Talent Will Be Seen.

The most pleasing and sensational theatrical treat of the season, will be presented at the Grand Opera House, all next week. The London Free Press says:

With an array of talent such as will be offered on the big bill patrons will undoubtedly accord these talented artists with a rousing reception.

The famous Japanese intellectual marvel, who has created a sensation in London and Paris with his marvelous demonstrations of extraordinary mental powers, will headline the bill.
The visit to London of Tameo Kajiyama is an important event, especially to students of such subjects as concentration. Mr. Kajiyama is a student of psychology, who has discovered that by concentrating it is possible for everyone to direct simultaneously more than one train of thought. He can do four or five things at the same time quite easily.
Here is his theory in brief: The average man wastes four-fifths of his brain power every year. The amount of brain power thus thrown away or diffused over a wide surface of futile or unimportant things would be great enough to solve all the problems of the age. According to the theory of mental simultaneity, which Mr. Kajiyama advocates, the subconscious mind is merely the portion of the attention working involuntarily free from direction of the will power, and thus it is possible to let thoughts wander while we continue whatever our hands are employed upon. To prove his theory he gives an interesting and most convincing demonstration of the so-called multiple action of the mind, which was the outstanding characteristics of the mentalities Napoleon, Julius Caesar and the famous Japanese Buddhist priest, Prince Sho-toku.

Bollinger and Reynolds.
A dainty miss and a funny chap provide a decided vaudeville novelty, entitled, "A Trip on the Line." Both are extraordinary and skilled artists on the wire and the male partner of the duo does some marvelous balancing stunts.

Maurice Briere and Grace King offer a charming little skit of song and dance that should more than meet with popular approval at the hands of Grand patrons. Miss King wears some stunning gowns, sings some new songs and hails from Boston, so the programme says. Mr.
Briere hails from New Orleans and does an excellent French impersonation that brings down the house.

Dan Caslar, celebrated composer, director and pianist, assisted by the famous Beasley Twins, will offer a novelty musical offering that should just about gather in the honors for the engagement. Mr. Caslar directed the famous Caslar Orchestra in New York City at one time and was the first musician to introduce the once-famous Tango. Mr.

Caslar will introduce one of his latest compositions during the London engagement.

Freddie Clinton and Angie Cap-pell offer "The Little Wop," a nifty little skit, with a few laughs, a story or two and some high notes. Miss Cappell is a singer of note, and is seen in the role from which the sketch takes its title. Mr. Clinton is an accomplished pianist, with a rare sense of humor, and between them they make a bid for applause honors.

Kinging's Entertainers is one of those enjoyable animal turns that holds the attention of dad, mother and the kiddies as well. The canine display almost human intelligence and do some extraordinary stunts.
The birds add a novel touch to the act and also do some clever stunts.
The famous leaping cats add zest to the turn and with the birds, offer one of vaudeville's greatest animal entertainments.

"THE CHRISTIAN" A GREAT SCREEN DRAMA

Proving to be without a doubt one of the greatest dramas ever shown on the screen, "The Christian" is Goldwyn's super-feature attracted a capacity crowd at the Allen Theatre last evening, and those fortunate enough to be at the theatre were loud in their praise of the great play which from start to finish was a vehicle in which marvellous acting and wonderful scenes held the most earnest attention of the audience.

It was indeed a remarkable picture, made all the more so because of the fact that it was from Sir Hall Caine's famous book and was directed by Maurice Tourneur, one of the greatest moving picture directors of the day. Laid out in England, the Isle of Man, Cambridge, and other British places the wonderful picture had a fine background, one which was only equalled by the acting of such luminaries in the screen world as Richard Dix, Gareth Hughes, Phyllis Haver, Claude Gillingswater, Alice Hesse, Mahlon Hamilton, Joseph Dowling and a host of others.

There cannot be too much said of "The Christian." Bearing a tremendously powerful lesson depicted on the screen by fine artists, the play was more than a mere moving picture to the audience.

Patrons of the Allen are urged to come early owing to the unprecedented demand for seats, hundreds being turned away last evening.

LAURETTE TAYLOR GREAT AS FILM "PEG"

Laurette Taylor, who won the hearts of a million people with her famous characterization of the delightful Peg in J. Hartley Manners' play, "Peg O' My Heart," was again seen in her celebrated role—this time in screen form. It was presented for the first time yesterday at the Strand Theatre, and it is a safe assertion that the star has endeared herself even more to the vast

FORTY GO ON STRIKE AT QUEEN'S LIBRARY

Forty men in the employment of Messrs. Anglin and Norcross, contractors engaged on the excavation for Queen's university library, went on strike Friday afternoon without giving any notice of their intention to do so. From inquiries made, it appears that the men were working ten hours at the rate of thirty-five cents per hour. They were dissatisfied and had asked for a nine-hour day at the same rate of pay.
After dinner they gave notice that they would not continue the work, and immediately left.

When questioned by a representative of the Whig, over the telephone, it was stated at the contractor's office that while some of the men were undoubtedly worth the money for the shorter day, others were not. Robert Grant, the superintendent in charge, is dealing with the situation.
