ETHEL TWIGG, KINGSTON, TO RECEIVE SILVER CROSS

For Heroism in Rescuing a Child From Drowning Last August. Miss Ethel Twigg, patrol leader of the 9th Kingston Company, Girl Guides, has been awarded a silver cross by the Canadian Council of the Girl Guides' Association for heroism in rescuing a child from drowning.

The circumstances connected with the incident created much comment at the time of Miss Twigg's feat and attracted the attention of the officers of the Canadian Council of the Girl Guides' Association. In August last, Edna Gerald, aged twelve years, got beyond her depth while bathing at the Richardson bathing beach, Macdonald Park, and only the prompt and heroic action of Miss Twigg, who was near at hand, saved her life.

Asparagus Loaf: Cook two bunches of asparagus then cut the tips from the stalks. Take a pan which is three inches deep and which holds one quart and butter it thickly; cover the bottom with paper and line the bottom and sides with the cooked asparagus tips. Now make a sauce as follows: Melt two tablespoons of butter in a saucepan, rub into it four tablespoons of flour, at the same time adding gradually one cup of sweet milk. When this paste has cooked until thick (about four minutes), add to it one-half cup of cooked veal (the leftovers from yesterday's veal cutlets will do), also one and one-half cups of cooked asparagus stalks cut small and one teaspoon of salt. Pour this mixture onto four well-beaten eggs (off the range), then turn it into the pan which is lined with asparagus tips. Set the pan in a larger pan in which you have put about one inch of boiling water (that is, enough water to rise half way up the sides of the smaller pan). Bake in a slow oven until firm—about 5 minutes. During this baking period the water in the larger pan must not boil. Serve the loaf turned out onto a platter covered with a simple cream sauce to which you have added a few extra asparagus tips. Jellied Apples: Mix together two cups of granulated sugar and two cups of boiling water; add to this six tart apples quartered, and turn the mixture into a baking dish. Bake in a hot oven until the apples are pink. At this stage, take the dish from the oven, lift out the apples, and put one and one-half tablespoons of granulated gelatine (softened with a half cup of cold water) into the hot apple juice; set the baking dish containing this mixture away to cool and when partly cooled add to the apple juice the juice of one lemon and of one orange. At this point, too, a little pink vegetable coloring matter may be added if desired. Now place your baked apple-quarters in a mould, turn this mixture and fruit-juice mixture over them, and place all in a cold place to solidify. Serve with a custard sauce or just as it is. Take the gelatine from its mould easily, dip the mould up to its rim for a moment in boiling water; this melts the hardened gelatine slightly just where it rests against the inner surface of the mould—thereby loosening the mould's contents so that it can be slipped out onto a platter. Rev. Ernest Thomas is to Receive Degree of D.D. Among those whom the Senate of Queen's university will honor at the convocation, on May 9th, will be Rev.
