LITTLE REGINALD GIBBS WON MEMORY CONTEST

Hold by Cultural Vaudeville Circle—He Recited All the Words Given.

On Friday evening the Grand Opera House was again filled with an enthusiastic audience who enjoyed the splendid performance of the vaudeville artists, who have so delighted Kingston this week. Every number was excellently put on with a pep and perfection in detail that was most enjoyable. "A Trip on the Wire" by Bobbie Bollinger and Miss Emma Reynolds was clever and amusing. Maurice Briere and Miss Grace King were recalled when they sang and danced. Dan Casler and the Beasley Twins were simply fine on the piano and violin, and the pretty, clever sisters, were indeed "A Joy to the Eyes and Ears" as the program announced. Beautifully dressed, they posed and played charmingly, with graceful abandon, responding to repeated recalls. Miss Angie Cappell in "The Little Wop" was most attractive and her voice was heard to advantage in her songs.

The wonder-man, Tameo Kajiyama was as wonderful as ever and performed marvelous feats of concentration, writing five words at the same time and dazzling his audience with the power which he ascribes to the development of the will. The pretty pigeons, the oops and the cats, dwell together, much more harmoniously than do the nations to whom they are an example, and showed a highly-trained intelligence. The memory contest, for which the British Whig offered prizes, was most interesting, the first prize being won by a little lad, Reginald Gibbs, who recited absolutely correctly the words published in Tuesday's Whig, which were written on a black board set behind the contestants but visible to the audience. J. A. Miller, who only missed two words, won the second prize. Mr. Kajiyama congratulated the contestants most heartily on their splendid feat of memory.

SATURDAY'S MARKET.

Very Small Attendance, But Prices Same as Last Week.

There was a very small attendance at the Kingston market on Saturday morning. The farmers all say that they need rain badly and remark that rain seems to be plentiful in other districts, but holds off here. The small attendance did not affect prices to any great degree. Pork was 18c and 19c a lb.; veal, 9c to 15c lb.; lamb, 15c to 25c lb.; chickens, $2 to $3 per pair, fowls, $2.50 to $3. Eggs were quoted at 30c a doz., but could be secured for 28c without difficulty, and some were fortunate enough to get their supply at 25c a dozen. Butter sold for 35c a pound in rolls and 40c in prints.

Seed potatoes were fixed at 75c a bushel, while those for table use went as low as 65c a bag. Parsnips were 50c a peck and onions the same price. In the new vegetables green onions were 10c a bunch; carrots, 10c a bunch; beets, 2 bunches for 25c; lettuce, 10c and 15c a head; celery, 25c head; cabbages, 15c and 20c head; rhubarb, 18c bunch, and radishes, 10c bunch.

Apples sold for 50c a peck and maple syrup was offered at $1.75 a gallon.

MUST NOT RIDE WHEELS ON THE SIDEWALKS

Batch of Boys and Girls Before the Magistrate on Saturday.

If you ride a bicycle, keep off the sidewalks. The police have started a crusade against bicyclists who take to the sidewalks instead of the road, and there is trouble brewing for offenders. The police have received many complaints about bicyclists riding on the walks. It is a very dangerous practice, and very often the cause of accidents.

In police court on Saturday morning, nine boys and four girls appeared before Magistrate Farrell, charged with riding bicycles on the sidewalks and all pleaded guilty with the exception of one.

Magistrate Farrell drew attention to the complaints received about people riding on the walks, and stated that there was great danger of accidents. He felt that the publicity given the matter would tend to stop the trouble and dismissed the charge. He allowed the boys and girls to go with a warning expressing the hope that they would not violate the by-law again.

Had Close Call.

Brockville, May 5.—Three Brockville men, G. Perrin, F. Mallette and E. Monahan, had a narrow escape from drowning when a rowboat from which they were fishing capsized in Jones' Creek. Over 200 fish and some equipment in the boat were lost in the accident. The trio were rescued by other fishermen in the vicinity at the time.

Not Acceptable to Belgium.
Brussels, May 5.—The Belgian council of ministers to-day examined officially the German reparations proposals and unanimously decided that they were not acceptable.

It is a disgrace to every civilized man and woman that war and its brutalities are still possible. Honesty in little things is very far from being a little thing.

POST CLERKS' CONVENTION

To Be Held in Kingston During the Week Commencing June 25th.

The annual convention of the Dominion Postal Clerks' Association is to be held in Kingston during the week commencing June 25th. This organization is dominion-wide and non-political with present headquarters at Toronto. The city council has generously made a small grant towards the entertainment of the delegates who will come from coast to coast.

The postal clerks as public servants perform work that comes close to every one in the community. Every piece of mail matter, registered or unregistered, that comes into or goes from Kingston passes through their hands. They sort into local carriers' routes all mail matter which the latter take out and deliver, and they also sort into packages, bundles and bags all outgoing mail matter for places from the villages of Barriehead and Portsmouth to the colonies of Gibraltar and Hong Kong. It would surprise the average citizen to know to what distant points matter is sent. It may be said that mail matter is received from and despatched to every country, and the International Postal Union, and this means practically the civilized world. It goes without saying that the postal clerk must know his geography and his postal rates and regulations. And this knowledge is assumed, but it is proven and tested by frequent departmental examinations. He is penalized by loss of salary if he falls down in these respects.

Over five thousand letters pass through the cancelling machines each day and are rapidly sorted, bundled and bagged for their respective destinations. Considering the number handled there are very few mis-sending errors. Any of these that may occur are reported and checked up against the clerk at fault, who is called on for an explanation. It is realized that a letter mis-sent may mean considerable loss of time and annoyance, and every effort is made to prevent errors of this nature.

The three thousand post offices in Ontario—the postal clerk must know like a book. He must know the quickest route to "despatch," mail matter and to that end must be familiar even with the train connections.

Many of the older citizens will remember when everyone called at the general delivery of the local post office for his or her mail. Many will recall also the late John Kelly, who spent a lifetime handing out mail to Kingstonians. Later there was one letter-carrier—the late Pat Lindsay.

The postal services have successfully broadened out their activities until they now include most things of a governmental nature. The postal clerk must make himself familiar with the manifold regulations of registration, money orders, postal notes, savings banks, special delivery, annuities, parcel post, insurance, C.O.D., and radio licenses.

The local staff of postal clerks, it may be said, is officially supervised by Postmaster James Stewart, Assistant Postmaster C. G. Shannon and two senior clerks. It is divided into three sub-staffs, or shifts—day, evening and all-night, and all told consists of twenty-seven clerks who cover the entire twenty-four hours.

Great efforts will be made on the part of the local branch to entertain the delegates at the forthcoming convention, and it is hoped that they will carry away a good impression of the old Limestone City, which was known to and mentioned by Benjamin Franklin the first postmaster-general of the United States.

Sunday School Baseball.

At a well attended meeting of the executive of the S. S. A. A. held on Friday evening it was decided that a baseball league would be run during the summer months. There will be a senior, junior and girls' leagues. A meeting of the executive will be held on Monday evening when entries will be received and the schedules drawn up.

It was decided that the age limit for junior players will be eighteen years and the boys must be regular attendants of the Sunday school for which they play. The games will be played on the diamond in Victoria park and it is expected that the first match will take place about a week from Tuesday.

Representatives from St. Paul's Sunday school, which has not been entered in the league for years, were at the meeting and stated that the St. Paul's would have teams in the league.

St. James was declared winner of the D. A. Shaw, basketball trophy.

BABYLONIAN WOMEN WERE HIGHLY PAID

Discoveries Made Show Promissory Note Bearing Interest at 100 Per Cent.

Montreal, May 5.—An interesting side-light on the history of ancient Babylonia featured a letter by Prof. A. T. Clay, of Yale, in which he says sufficient material has been found in the excavations to illustrate practically every page of the Old Testament and corroborates the statements in biblical history.

That the ancients had some decidedly modern ideas was evident when a slide was thrown on the screen showing a picture of a payroll and revealing the information that as far back as the time of Moses, women were sometimes employed to do the work of men and that, in one particular case at least, a woman received a salary equal to that paid to a man for similar work.
That there were city libraries in Abraham's time and that a promissory note was well known to the ancient Babylonians, were other statements made. A picture of a promissory note of ancient times, bearing interest at one hundred per cent. was shown.
