U.F.O. FAILS TO ADVERTISE

The speaker went on to tell of the many benefits derived from organization. Every branch of work was today organized. Even the boot-blacks in Toronto were organized, and it cost $5 a year to be a member. "And I was going to say that they know more about organization than a wagon load of farmers," added the speaker.

Organization Everywhere.
There is organization from one end of the province to the other. This is right and should be promoted. People worry over the crops and yet they say "why should the farmers organize?" Then they find the farmers will not stay on the land and they continue to worry. The boys and girls leave the farm. Our forefathers cleared the land for us and left us a heritage, but it is going. And why? Because we thought that all we had to do was to work and let the other fellows make the laws. We are running into the ditch and we are starting late to change the order of things.

I make the challenge here, and I hope it will start a controversy—that the agricultural industry is operated by the inefficient group of the people. It is a hard thing to say, but it is true. My industry and your industry has gone on the pike. The people are leaving the land and going into the towns and the cities, and can you blame them? It is because they can earn more money. The great dynamo that draws a person is the almighty dollar. It is absolutely necessary for the farmers to organize for themselves and take an active part in the counsel of the nation.

Women to be the Dynamo.
"Women are going to be the dynamo of the organization," declared Mr. Morrison. In fact they are now the dynamo of political life, and through them we will destroy party politics. Out of the young people must come the future of the people, and we must educate them as regards the right kind of leaders. The political life has to be built up. It is a hard job, but I think it can be done. I think we are all ashamed of some of the things we did.

We are now trying to put our political life on a higher plane. We do not want abuse, but the best in politics. People look for better partisanship but they do not get it from us. What a terrible thing it is to have our leaders abusing one another. Who is interested in that? Is that the great question before the people. And yet we are listening to it.

"I see a wonderful possibility before the women. They have been invited into politics at a bad time. They have been asked to come in and do some housecleaning. They may become disheartened and turn away, but I think they will eventually rectify things."

Independent Now.
Mr. Morrison recalled the fact that at one time he was a "terrible partisan." He was a Conservative first, then turned Grit, and later on

DRECO HELPS WHOLE FAMILY

The MacLachlan Family, of 68 Regent Avenue, Toronto—Husband, Wife and Son—Find Dreco a Wonderful Aid to Better Health.
"I feel better than I have for months," says Mrs. J. MacLachlan. "The first of this year I was attacked by what I took for rheumatism, the pains were so severe all through my limbs, making it impossible for me to get up and downstairs. My knees were terribly swollen. I couldn't get my proper rest and would feel all tired in the morning. My food would not digest. It felt like lead in my stomach and gas would form and press my heart, causing shortness of breath."
"But I'm simply feeling like a new person again and can move around and get up and downstairs as easy as ever before. I get up in the mornings feeling fine and have lots of energy. My food digests properly and my bowels are delightfully regular."

"I can heartily recommend Dreco, not only for the benefits I have obtained, but also on account of what it did for my son. Since his return from overseas he had not known a day free from gastritis. His entire system was run down and he was unable to get any nourishment from his food. Regardless of how careful he was, he suffered agonies. We tried several remedies for him without result, until finally we had him take Dreco. Now he can sit down to the table and eat with great enjoyment. Everything agrees with him and he is beginning to feel his natural self again."
"Mr. MacLachlan has also started to take Dreco, and is beginning to notice benefit, so much so, that he is continuing to take the treatment."

Dreco is a reliable household remedy for its success in relieving all disorders of the digestive system. Compounded of herbs, roots, bark and leaves, it acts on stomach, liver and bowels and benefits the health generally. It contains no mercury, potash or habit-forming drugs, and may therefore, be taken with perfect assurance.
Dreco is being specially introduced in Kingston by MAHOOD'S DRUG STORE, and is sold by a good druggist everywhere.

independent, and he hoped to be independent for the rest of his life.
"This is the great trouble," added the speaker, "some have just partly turned. They have one leg over as it were, and are always turning back to see what is left. They think they are independent, but they have not gone into it in a wholehearted manner."
Mr. Morrison said he did not believe in a two-party system. He felt it would lead to a serious condition of affairs.
"I claim that when the personal interests of the elected man comes into acute conflict with duty to his state, that the state suffers every time. I never knew it to fail, and we would not be human if it were not so."
"I believe in the solidarity of industry. We cannot divide. I am interested in every product until it comes back to me in the finished product. We have to have organization. It is up to you to maintain your standing and demand that you get equal opportunity. Don't be satisfied to be on a lower plane."

PRINCESS STREET CHURCH
Rev. J. A. Waddell To Farewell On 24th of June
Two very inspiring sermons were preached by Rev. J. A. Waddell in Princess street Methodist church on Sunday, the services in the morning being featured by the singing of the Junior choir, composed of young boys and girls of the Sunday school. The pastor took as his subject "The Boy (buoy) that Wouldn't Down" and the musical service included the following selection: "The Beautiful Bright Sunshine," by the Junior choir; "We Will Follow Jesus," trio by Miss Marshall, Miss Edith Culcheth and Miss Mabel Waddell, "The Good Shepherd," solo, Master Willie Timmerman. The young choristers were trained by Mrs. L. L. Loney, the organist.

The pastor, Rev. J. A. Waddell, who is leaving his present charge early next month, after service in the Princess street church of five years, will preach his farewell sermon on June 24th, which will also be the annual flower service. The new pastor, Rev. J. K. Curtis, Winchester, who is exchanging pulpits with Mr. Waddell, will probably hold his first service in Princess street on July 1st.

BOO-HOO MAY BECOME MASCOT OF THE U.F.O.
And Return in the Autumn To Perform at Queen's Rugby Games.
Boo-Hoo, the Queen's university cub bear, who was wrongly reported by the Standard as having paid the death penalty by order of the chief of police, still lives. The order was that Boo-Hoo had either to be kept in close captivity and cease frolicking about the streets, or be destroyed, but Boo-Hoo will not be disposed of just yet. So long as he is frolicsome he will be retained, for what would Queen's students do without their greatly-prized mascot in the autumn when their champion rugby team starts in to defend its title? If Boo-Hoo could not be produced, Chief of Police Robinson and "Billy" Hughes would be in danger of their lives, for there might be more than a Queen's initiation ceremony performed.
Toronto Riverdale Zoo authorities wanted Boo-Hoo shipped up there, but "Billy" Hughes would not consent to the cub going to the Queen City. "Billy," it is said, is superstitious, and fears that if the cub went to Toronto, Queen's rugby luck might be changed; so Boo-Hoo is to spend the summer in Frontenac county, away from the streets of Kingston and the policemen and their guns. In fact, Boo-Hoo may become the mascot of the U. F. O. during the next two weeks and perhaps bring back luck to the farm-er-candidate of Frontenac. In the autumn, if all goes well, Boo-Hoo will likely again frolic on the gridiron sidelines and possibly have as a companion no less a celebrity than Nan, the mascot goat of the 21st Battalion, who saw service in France and had a trip into Germany. Nan and Boo-Hoo would make a winning couple for the Queen's rugby club.
Boo-Hoo is even mentioned from the pulpit. In Chalmers church Sunday evening, Dr. Bruce Taylor, Queen's principal, in referring to the slothful man, mentioned in the Book of Proverbs, as giving the excuse that he might meet a lion on the way, said there was no more chance of him meeting a lion than there was of ourselves meeting a lion—or Boo-Hoo.

HORTICULTURE

Notes Compiled by the Kingston Society.

June is the month of peonies as well as roses. Note the peonies that you admire and plant some in October. Splendid varieties are Felix, Crouse, red; Eudalis Superba, pink; and Festina Maxima, white.
Dwarf lilacs on their own roots prove more successful than the grafted one. But after all—for the ordinary garden—there are not many that will prove more satisfactory than the Persian lilac or the old fashioned purple and white.
An excellent prop for a row of tomato plants is a ladder laid horizontally with supported ends about eighteen inches from the ground.
Few plants have ever equalled the geranium for bedding qualities. It is usually in bloom when planted and the bloom lasts until frost. Salerno and S. A. Nutt are excellent varieties.
If your garden is the ordinary backyard and space is necessarily limited try some dwarf fruit trees, such as Duchesse pears. They do not occupy much room and when well established give good returns.
Obtain a copy of the Horticultural Society's prize list from Secretary McLean for the September Show. Prizes are given for plants, flowers, fruits and vegetables.
The Horticultural Society seeks to improve, or incite the desire to improve, the home surroundings. One's example actuates others and thereby the whole city is visibly improved. A town is known by its well-keptness and every individual effort to improve gives visitors a good impression.
