

The British Whig Pictorial Page

May McAvoy, popular film star, whose beauty has brought her fame on the screen.

The Earl of Lanesborough is on a honeymoon tour around the world. At present he is on this continent.

President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State, making his first speech at an election meeting in Ireland.

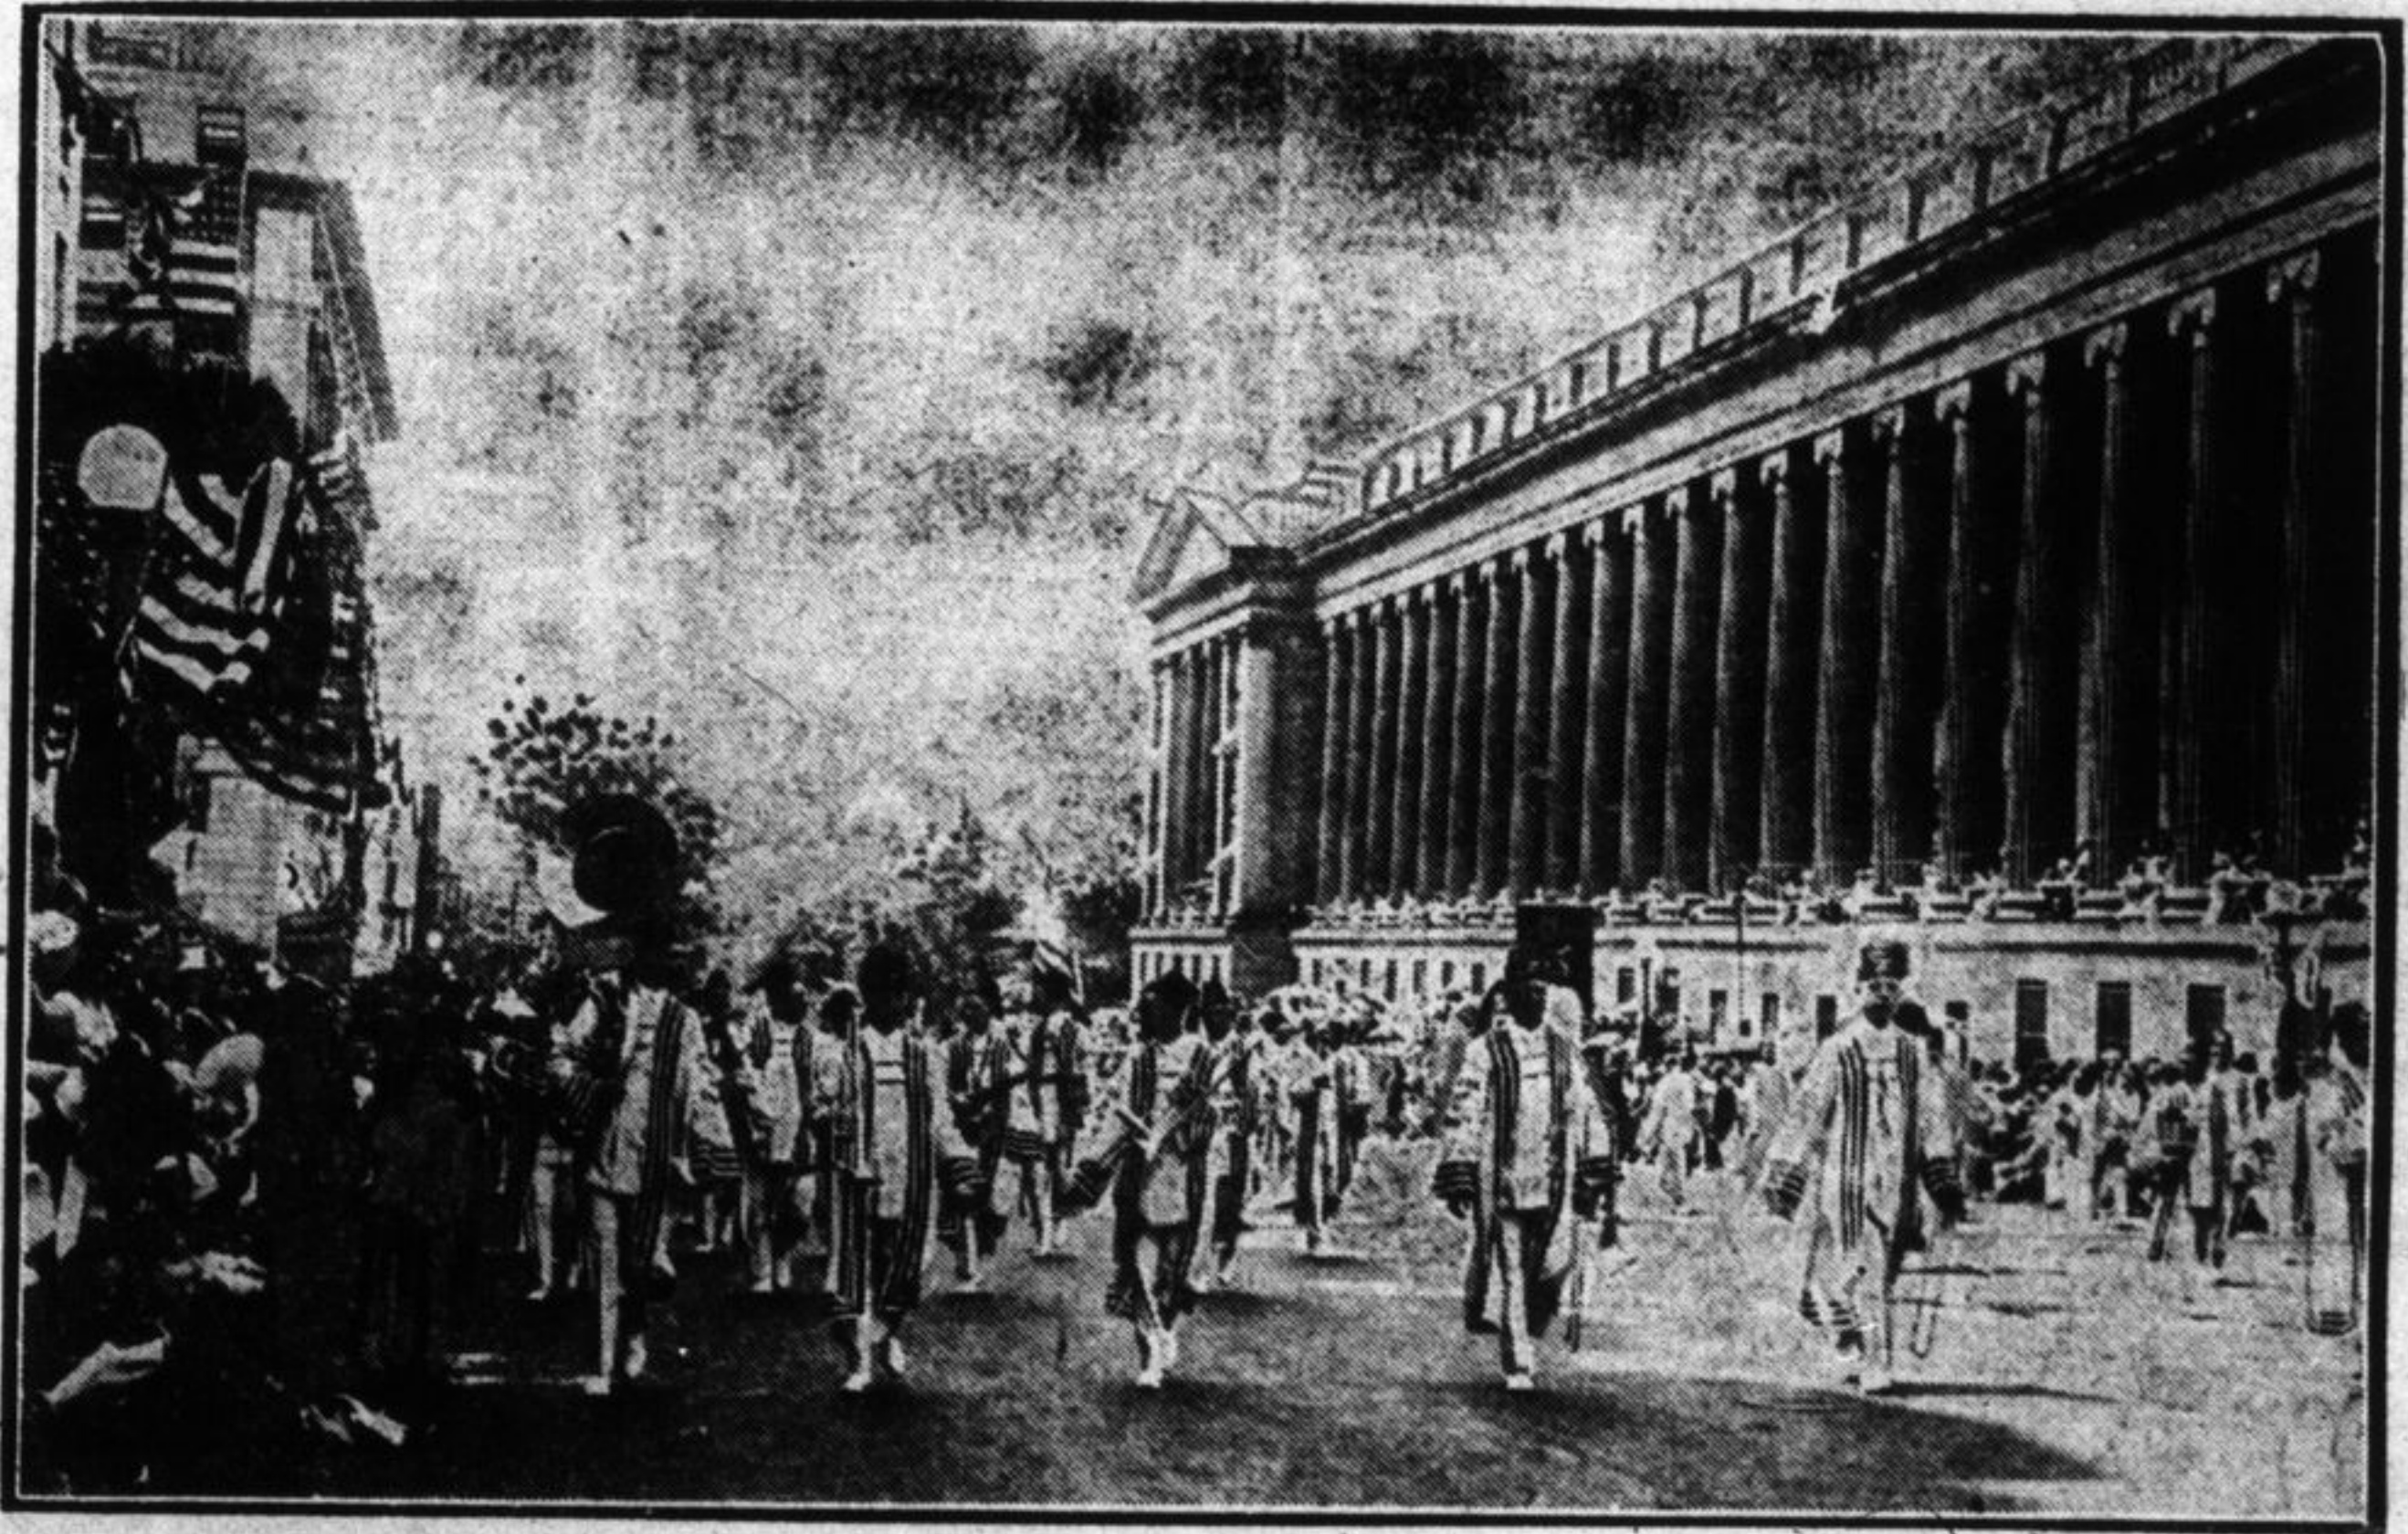

The Hon. Juliet Gardner, a cousin of the present Earl of Carnarvon, who is well-known in social and literary circles in England.

H. R. M. Queen Victoria of Spain, dressed as a colonel, during the inspection of her own regiment at Valence.

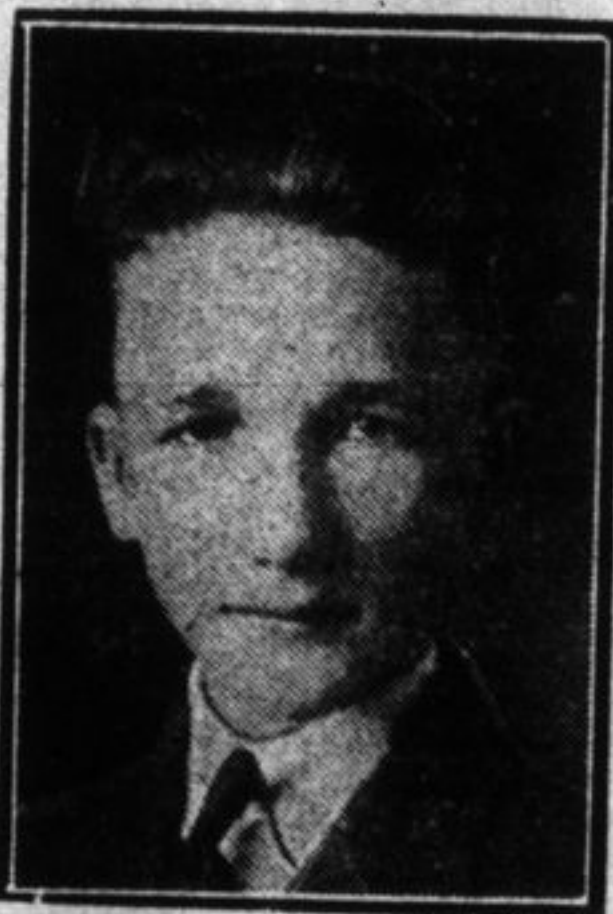

Lord George Riddell, whose newspaper printed a story stating that the United States is carrying out huge military expansion, which Washington denies.

Washington has been the scene of the greatest convention ever held by the Shriners. Hundreds of thousands of Shriners and visitors crowded the city to capacity.

The first photograph of Capt. Roald Amundsen leaving Nome, Alaska, for his attempted flight across the "top of the world." He expects to "hop off" on the 21st of June.

Eugene Murphy, a fifteen-year-old boy from Red Deer, Alberta, was awarded a perfect score for his playing of a Liszt rhapsody at the Alberta musical festival.

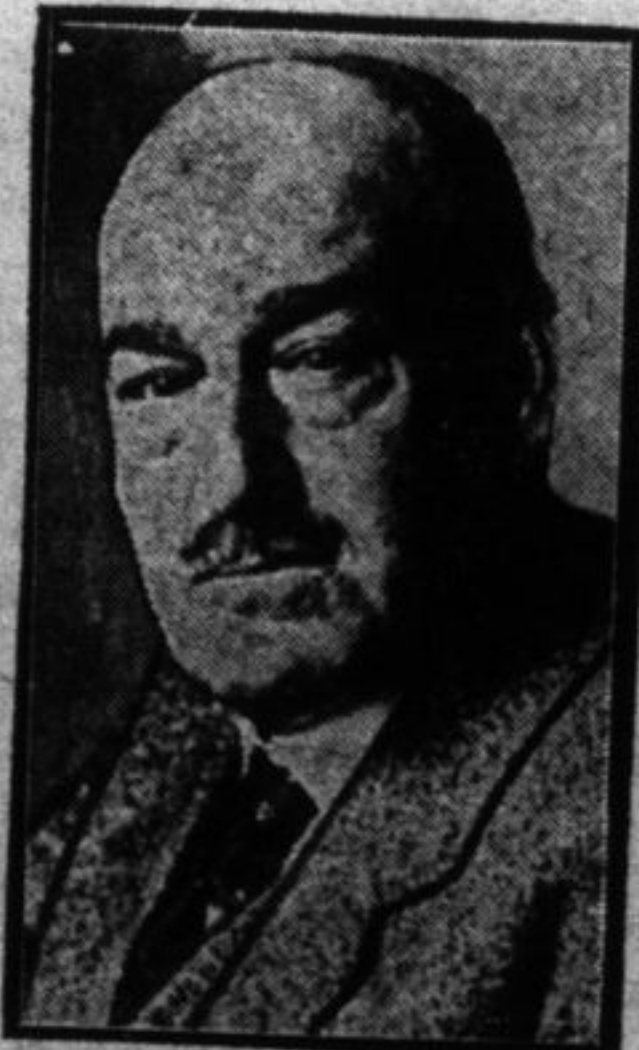

The start of the Italian Athletic Club annual walk from Big Ben, of London, England, to Brighton.

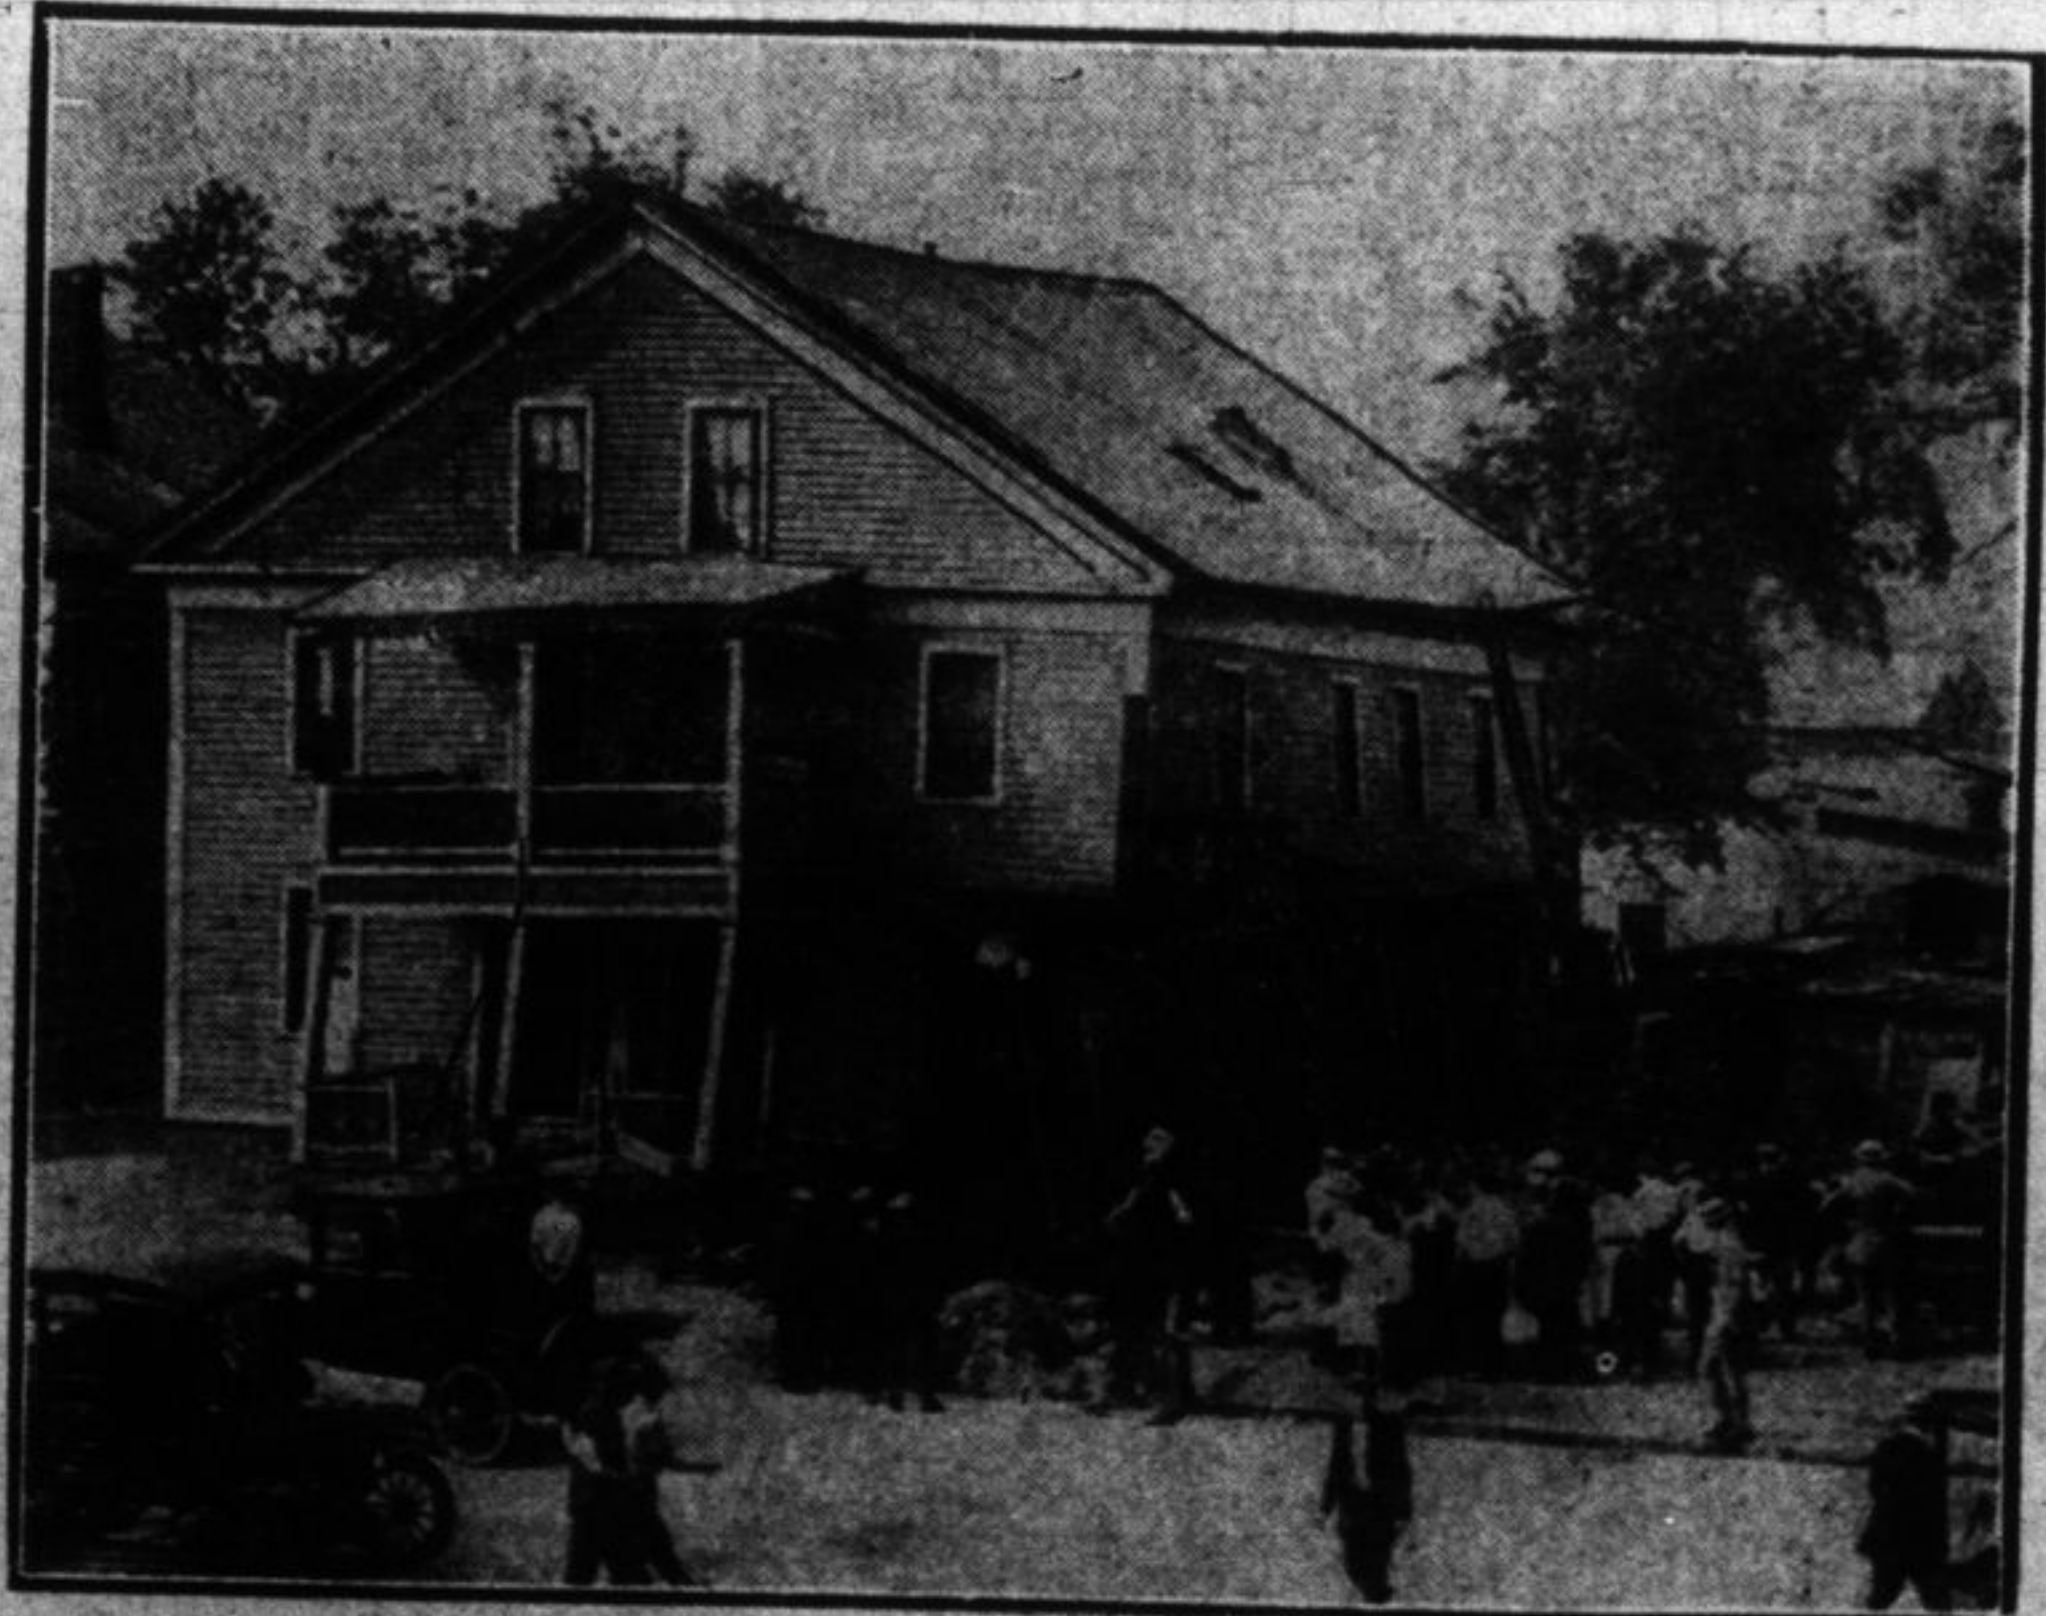

Virginia Wagner of Des Moines, Iowa, a twenty-one-year-old girl, who has won the inter-collegiate championship of America for the 100-yard dash.

Sir Samuel Hoare, the air minister, on his way to visit Mr. Baldwin, the newly appointed prime minister.

Captain Harry Zeitun, a British soldier of fortune, has been left $15,000 by Mrs. Julia S. W. Davis, an American woman. Her husband, who receives twenty-five cents, has been fighting the claims of Captain Zeitun.

This woke up a man who was peacefully sleeping on his bed in the second storey. He landed in the cellar unhurt, still on his bed, when a run-away freight car demolished part of his dwelling.