SHIFTED HIS SCALES TO CHEAT FARMERS

As Much as Forty Pounds Lost to Vendor in Weighing He Says.

Moose Jaw, Aug. 2.—How, as a buyer, he shifted his scales to deprive farmers of from 30 to 40 pounds on a load was told by W. T. Rogers, former grain buyer for the Searle Grain Company, at the Royal Grain Inquiry Commission here.

Rogers' evidence, together with strong criticism by Isaac Pitblado, K.C., Winnipeg, counsel for the Terminal Elevators, of statements made without substantiation by William Rose, counsel for the Order of Grain Buyers, alleging that counsel tampered with witnesses, and an apology by Mr. Rose, featured the afternoon session.

The evidence of Rogers was given in connection with a charge of incitation to theft made by Mr. Rose. Examined by Mr. Rose, Rogers said he was a buyer for the Searle Grain Company at Star City in 1920-21, when J. M. Stewart, a travelling superintendent of the company, visited him, and the two used a file on the scale in such a way that when grain was weighed it was possible to take at least 30 pounds and as much as 40 pounds from the farmer selling the grain. He filed the beam, Rogers said, the whole action of filing and rebalancing the scales to suit the adjustment taking about 30 minutes.

Knew It Was Dishonest. Questioned by Travers Sweatman, counsel for the company, Rogers said he knew it was a dishonest act; he was perfectly willing to do so as Stewart had told him it was necessary to get the extra grain. When the Scales Inspector came, he was to "fix up the scales again."

He readjusted the scales when the inspector came and the inspector did not find anything wrong. Asked by Mr. Sweatman how long the scales were stayed "crooked" at one time, witness said that after they were first tampered with they had stayed that way for about one week, when, because of complaints of some of the farmers, he "had got leery of losing some business" and had replaced the scales on an honest basis. Rogers said that when the scales were first placed on a dishonest basis the elevator was taking in about 1,000 bushels a day. That was early in October. Under cross-examination he admitted he had changed the scales two or three times a season.

Some Farmers Too Alert. Asked why he changed the scales back to the honest basis, Rogers said there were some farmers he could not "get" the dishonest scales on. When one of these farmers came he changed the scales back so that they weighed honestly. The ratio of farmers he could not cheat was one in ten, he said. Asked whether he cheated all of the nine-tenths of farmers, he said he did not. Asked why, he said it might look suspicious. He was there to get as much grain as possible, and yet do business. Asked where he kept the files he used on the scales, he said he kept them in a grip of tools he had.

Mr. Sweatman — Did you have a Jimmy or any burglars' tools in the grip? Witness — No; I didn't have a Jimmy, but I expect a burglar could have used some of the tools. Rogers said he had worked for Stewart before he took the position at Star City. Stewart had discharged him while at Star City, he said. After his discharge he did not report the condition of the scales to the company. He did not know why he had been discharged. He had been told his services were "utterly unsatisfactory."

HOW IT CAME ABOUT!

Justification for Flappers and Jazz Found in Diets. Chicago, Aug. 2.—The jazz age, the flapper, the slinker, the lack of corsets, rolled stockings, bobbed hair and cowbell orchestras, are not due to inherent wickedness, but have been traced directly to the improved diet of women—carrots, oranges, lettuce, milk and other foods rich in vitamins.

Mrs. Ida B. Allen, nationally known dietitian of New York made it all clear before the American home economics association when she said: "No wonder our grandmothers lacked the pep of the flappers of today. They often were half sick from overcooked food, greasy food and lacking the proper vitamins. Today they attend gymnastics during the day or go swimming, and at night they dance."

Mrs. Marie F. Baird of Champagne, Ill., told practically the same story before the convention of the American Cosmetics society. She said women in business was the real reason for their snappy personal appearance, their pep and their mental ability. They must keep themselves in trim physically as well as aesthetically. They must choose the proper diet, take proper exercise and guard their health carefully. That is one reason why it is difficult to distinguish between a flapper and a grandmother, for both are dressed alike and both are mentally and physically alert.

Eric E. Moles, son of Dr. E. B. Moles, Brockville, has left for Vancouver, B.C., where he will accept a position.

Mr. Brown has been in the employ of the bank for fifteen years and for the past few years has served as superintendent of eastern branches.

Mr. Francis, in announcing the appointments, states that it is gratifying to the directors to be able to find among the bank's own officers, those who have been tried in its service, who know its history and who by their previous efficiency and record, have proven themselves well equipped to fill the responsible positions to which they have been appointed.

LAUDS GREAT BRITAIN FOR PROMPT PAYMENT

Gives New Assurance of Stability Throughout the World, Says Harding.

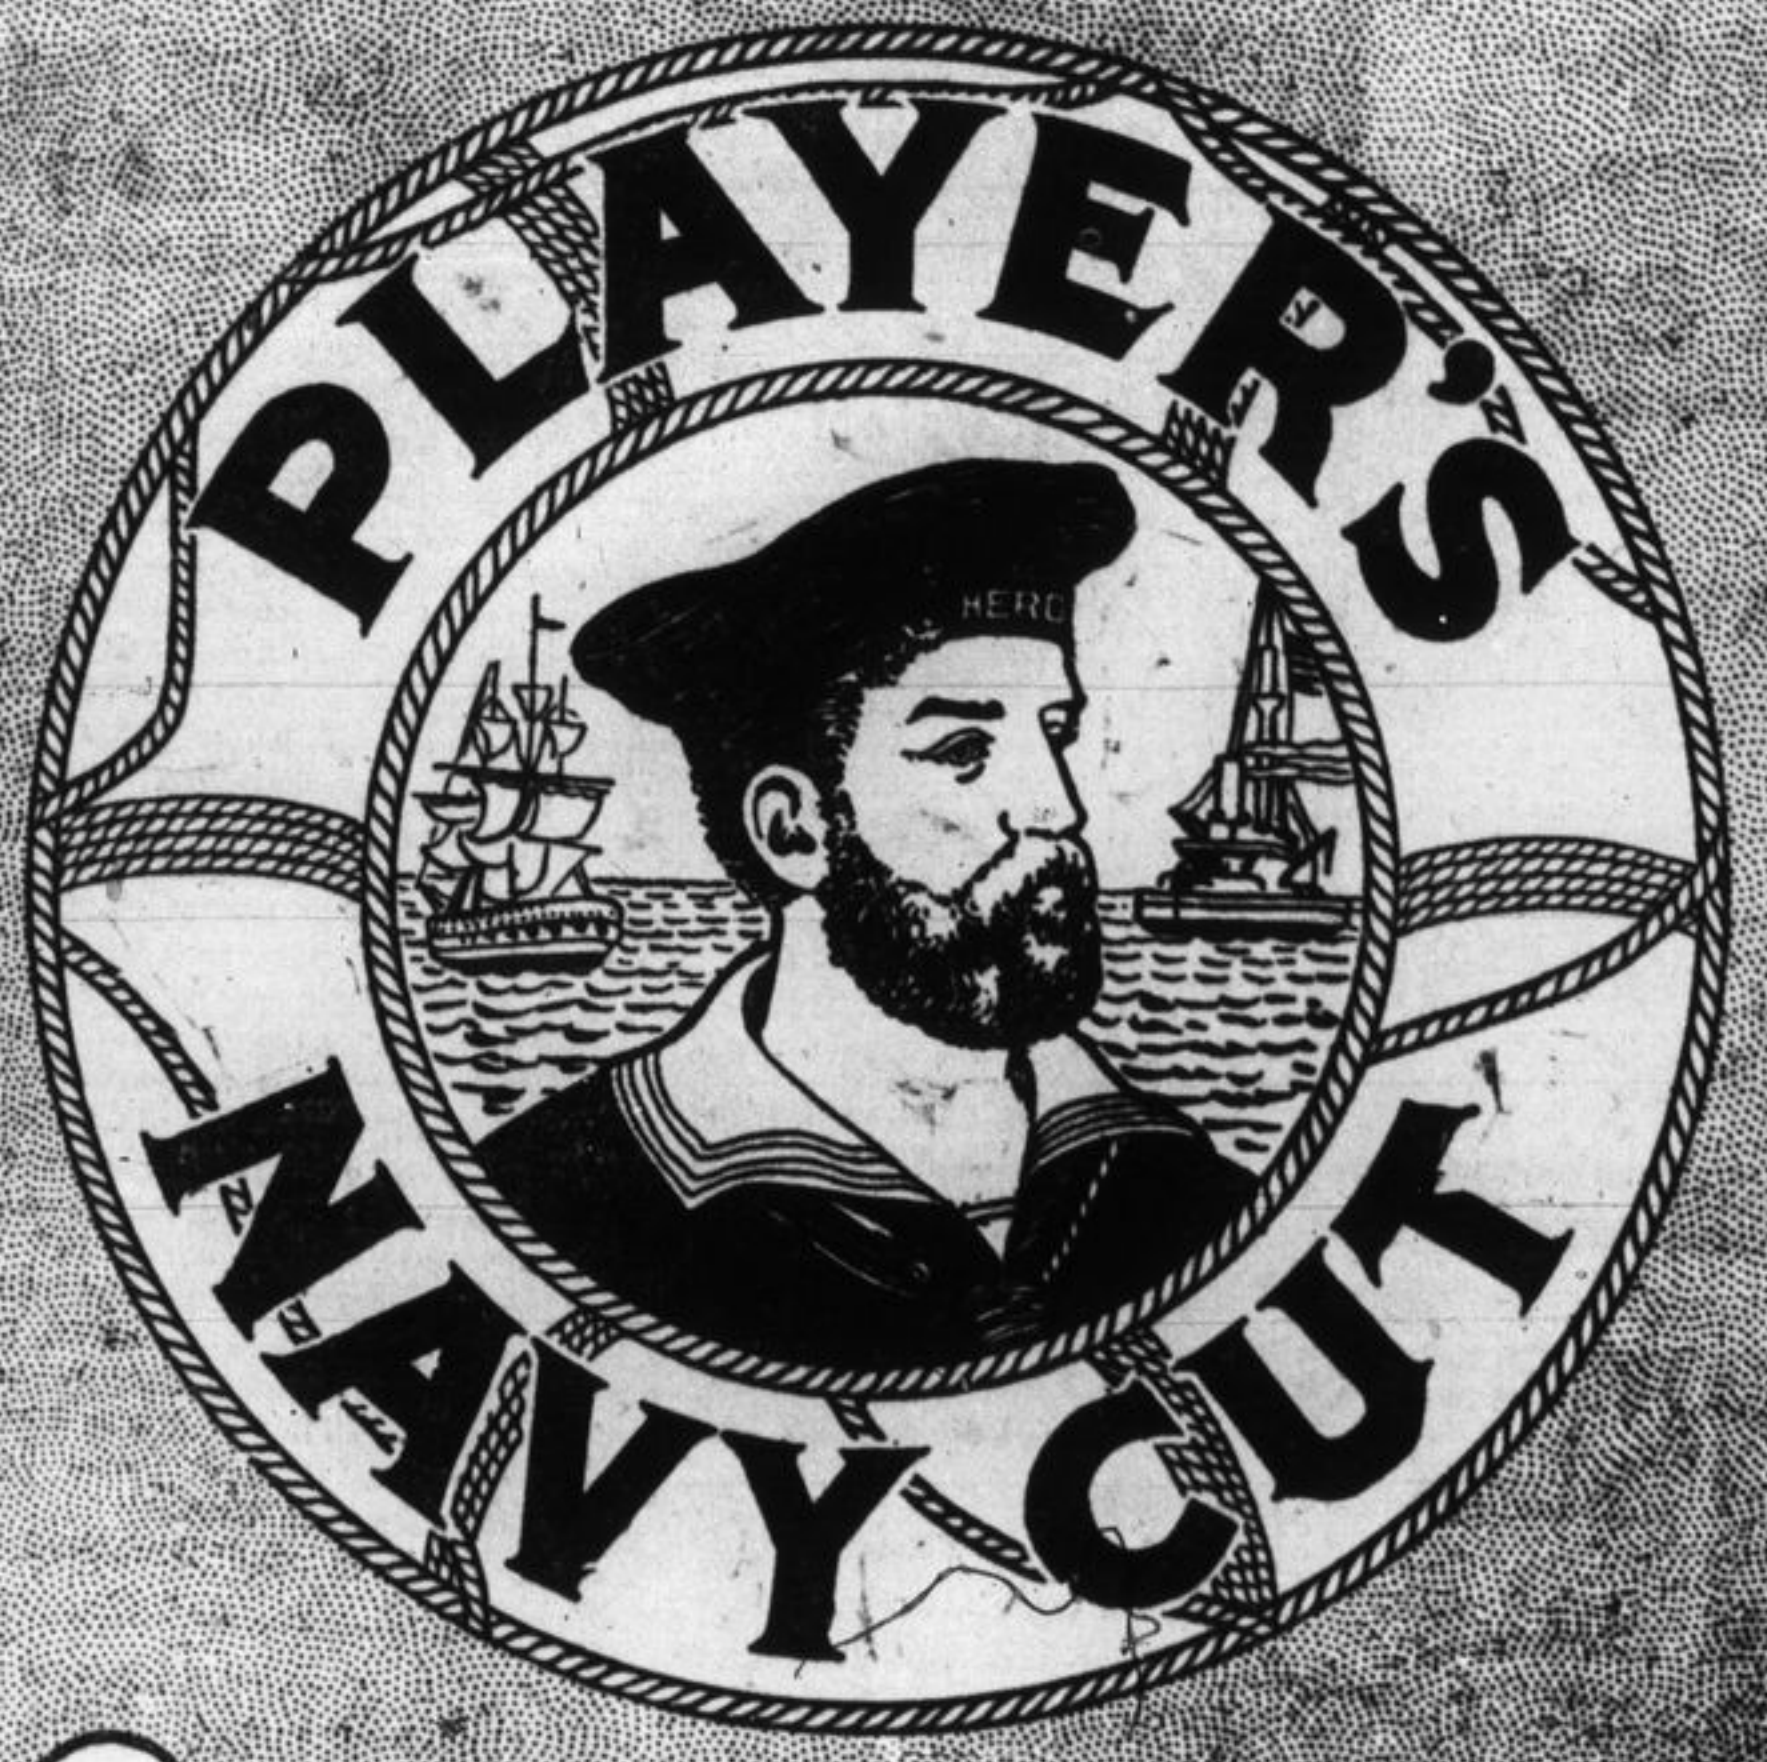

San Francisco, Aug. 2.—In an address he was to have delivered here last night made public because of his illness by his secretary, President Harding urged permanent court of international justice as the next step to be taken. In urging United States support of the court, he declared: "I do not know that such a court will be un-falling in the avoidance of war, but I know it is a step in the right direction, and will prove an advance toward international peace for which the conflicting conscience of mankind is calling. The big thing is the firm establishment of the court and our cordial adherence thereto. All else is mere detail."

In referring to the settlements of the British debt of more than four and a half million dollars, Mr. Harding declared Great Britain had "put a fresh stamp of approval on the sacredness of international obligations," and the settlement itself gave "a new assurance of stability throughout the world."

Not a Major Issue. Washington, Aug. 2.—Definitely sidetracking the league of nations as the major issue of next year's political campaign, Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, minority leader in the senate, in a formal statement declared that "the questions of first importance are undoubtedly domestic in character."

Adheres to World Court. Geneva, Aug. 2.—Latvia has notified the League of Nations that it has ratified the protocol establishing the permanent court of international justice. This makes the thirty-seventh state adhering to the court by act of its parliament.

At Brockville on Monday evening Rev. L. E. Davis united in marriage Miss Vera Henoply to Henry Chamberlain, both residents of Brockville. Much merriment from British Columbia due to extremely wet season.
