The Misses Cartwright, "The Maples," gave a corn roast on Thursday evening for Miss Betty Cartwright and "Billy" Cartwright, Toronto. The big bonfire on the shore was surrounded by happy children and their elders, who sat on the bank, were lured by their laughter to join in the fun of roasting corn and marshmallows. A singing, led by three girl musicians from a neighboring camp, and the wonderful moonlight that flooded the grounds and turned the water to silver, were among the pleasures of this very delightful party.

Mrs. William Keyes, Bath Road, is entertaining just now Miss Eleanor Dawes, Grand Rapids, Mich., Mrs. Harvard Helm, Effie, Minn., (Mrs. Keyes' daughter, Ethel), Mr. and Mrs. George Keyes and their daughter, Winnipeg, and W. J. Keyes and his daughter, Dorothy, Toronto. A reunion of the family is planned for Sunday, Aug. 26th.

Gordon Mylks, Kensington avenue, asked a few old friends of his guest, Arthur Jacquith, Chicago, Ill., to meet him on Thursday evening, when the young people, receiving Mrs. G. W. Mylks, enjoyed several hours in dancing with a dainty supper at midnight.

A party of young people motored to Gananoque on Thursday for dinner, going on to the dance at the Canoe Club. The cool air made dancing a delight and the view of the islands by moonlight was an entrancing one.

SECRET OF HIS SUCCESS

One of the most noted, successful and richest men of this country in a recent article said, "Whatever I am and whatever success I have attained in this world I owe it all to my wife. From the day I first knew her she has been an inspiration and the greatest helpmate of my life." Health is the first essential of every woman who wants to be a successful wife and to hold the love and admiration of her husband. If a woman finds her energies flagging and dark circles appearing under her eyes, she has backache, headaches, nervousness and "the blues," she should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the medicine which holds the record of helping 93 out of every 100 women who try it. There is nothing better.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Creato Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat. Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food poisons, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well. Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any drug store a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

One of the draw backs to life in Collin's Bay has been the two dangerous railway crossings at which many lives have been lost. Now a new road has been built across the end of the bay which will be completed this autumn, and there is no doubt the traffic between Kingston and the village will be greatly increased.

Little use is now made of the splendid, natural harbor that the bay affords, a house boat owned by some pleasure seekers from the United States is the only sign of life on the smooth surface of the water, but at one time the Collin's Bay Rafting and Forwarding company, of which Capt. William Lessie was president, did a large business here and the ways now in use, are a reminder of those busy days.

Collin's Bay sets an example in the vexed question of church union and seems to have solved it to everyone's satisfaction, for the little Union church, ministered to by Rev. G. A. Sisco, Cataract, is filled with worshippers, who join in the hearty singing and benefit by the thoughtful sermons of the clever young minister.

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

BY GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

SATURDAY, AUGUST 25. Conflicting figures are again found in the ruling sidereal operations. Although there may be some decided brooding away from old obstructions and congestions, with the opportunity for change, removal or travel, yet there may be a tendency toward too precipitate movements or decisions, which may defeat more propitious openings. The inclination to haste or impulsive acts should be subdued if the benefic influences are to prevail. Avoid law and quarrels.

Those whose birthday it is have the prospect of a year of renewed opportunity, after long obstruction and stagnation, but this should be emceed with deliberation, not impetuously. Speculation, litigation and disputes should be avoided. A child born on this day may be impulsive unless it is carefully trained.

TO PROVE TRUE AMBER

Real Thing Passes Unscathed Through Testing Fire.

You who have purchased genuine amber know that it is very expensive. It is too expensive to be deceived when purchasing it. The most certain test for amber is that of fire, which, while welcomed by the honest dealer, puts the dishonest merchant in a rage. Suggest applying a match to the amber object in question. The honest dealer will remain indifferent, while indignant protests arise from the dishonest salesman. Real amber passes unscathed through the ordeal, while imitation amber flares or burns, according to the composition. Real amber is wholly and solely wood which has been transformed by a chemical change, some say, by the action of salt water. It is consequently very light and delightful to wear.

There are three varieties of true amber. Chinese amber or "red amber," as it is often called, is just the color of heather honey newly run from the comb, or ripe corn, and is absolutely clear. Chinese glass beads are made to resemble it exactly, until one has noted the difference in weight. Japanese tree amber is almost exactly like it in color and is much more difficult to detect, being identical in weight. It also responds to what was formerly believed to be an infallible test of real amber. When rubbed on cloth it becomes "magnetized" and will pick up bits of paper like a magnet.

The difference is this: Real Chinese amber, if examined under a magnifying glass, shows minute flaws. In common with all true amber: Japanese tree amber, which is largely composed of resin, is absolutely flawless.

The very attractive light yellow and much-mottled, opaque amber beads, which one sees so often, are formed of Russian amber. It is washed up from the Baltic Sea and is rather less costly than other varieties.

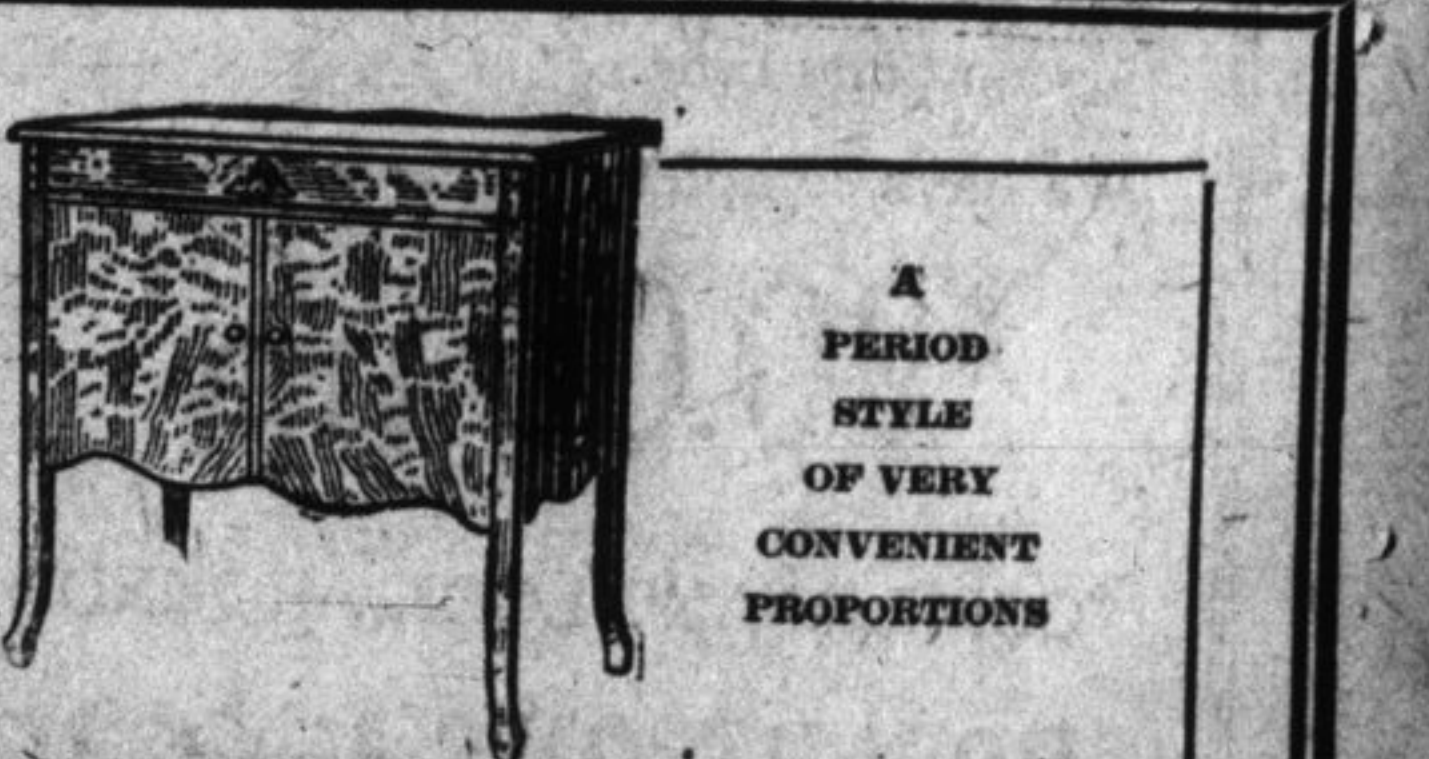

All amber lights up well at night and many an antique amber bracelet or necklace will last on a new lease of life when restrengthened on a long silver string of exactly the same color, the beads spaced in groups of
