JAPANESE HORROR; 160,000 PEOPLE ARE KILLED

EARTHQUAKE, FIRE AND WAVE DESTROY CITIES OF NIPPON

Tokio And Yokohama Are Ruins And the Streets Are Strewed With Heaps of Dead.

Whole Towns And Villages Completely Wiped Out—Over 300,000 Buildings Destroyed in Tokio—7,000 Killed in One Pleasure Resort.

LATEST SUMMARY OF THE CASUALTIES

San Francisco, Sept. 4.—One million persons are homeless while the death list totals 160,000 in a Japanese earthquake. Few buildings remain standing in either Tokio or Yokohama. In the famous mountain resorts frequented by foreigners it is said to be easier to count the living than the dead.

A former premier of Japan and forty leading members of the government party are reported killed.

Italian and French embassies in Tokio are destroyed. The C.P.R. steamship's building in Yokohama is wrecked.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 4.—Tokio, Yokohama, and neighboring cities are ruins, while more than 100,000 persons in the vicinity of these cities are reported dead as a result of Saturday's earthquake, according to advices received here by the Associated Press from its Shanghai correspondent and by the radio correspondent from its station at Tokio.

Death and destruction were spread over an area roughly comprised within a radius of fifty miles of Tokio. How extensive the casualties and the material damage outside that zone is, has not been determined, as all communications with Japan are still interrupted except for brief connections by radio with Tokio and occasional despatches from Japan to Shanghai.

With railroad lines, telephone wires and all other means of communications and travel between Tokio and the remainder of Japan and the outside world cut off, Tokio and the other cities on the central eastern sea coast on the Island of Honshu are isolated in their desolation.

The cities of Tokio and Yokohama were described by the superintendent of the Japanese government wireless station at Tokio which operates via radio correspondence, as "Like Hell."

Buildings were falling, fire was spreading everywhere; dead and dying were on all sides; there were explosions and cries of horror and fear by the panic-stricken populace.

What quake and fire did not destroy on land, tidal waves are reported to have crushed or sunk at sea. The fate of the ships in Yokohama Harbor and what ships were there, still remain to be determined.

The best available reports received yesterday said hardly a structure was left standing in the Yama-no-Tae district which includes the Tokio wards of Honjo, Fuzugawa, Akusaka, Shitaya, Nihonbashi, and Kaneda.

Thousands are without food and water and no means of getting any at present.

In Yokohama the fire started in the Bund, or foreign section, spreading rapidly to the business district which was wiped out.

Tens of thousands of guests at resorts in the Hakone district near Yokohama in the mountains, were driven from their quarters by quakes and fires. They were panic-stricken. The number of casualties is undetermined. The town of Atama was demolished, six or seven thousands being killed. At Ito, on the Izu peninsula, more than 500 houses were washed away by tidal waves. Six hundred persons are reported to have perished when a railway tunnel at Sasako collapsed. The city of Nagoya is virtually destroyed. The Japanese naval station near Yokohama was engulfed by a tidal wave and the imperial palace at Tokio is endangered by fire. Nagoya has a population of 820,000. It is about ninety miles east of Osaka and about 70 miles west of Tokio.

Prince Regent Safe.

Osaka, Japan, Sept. 4.—In Yokohama alone there have been 10,000 casualties from Saturday's earthquake and fire, according to a radio message from the Governor of Yokohama.

The Emperor and Empress are at Nikko and it is confirmed that the Prince Regent is safe.

A wireless from the Korea Maru reports 200,000 people of Yokohama homeless and without food. Thousands have taken refuge aboard the Paris Maru, Harbin Maru and Italy Maru.

Dead Heap Streets.

Pekin, China, Sept. 4.—The streets of Tokio are heaped with bodies of dead, according to advices from South Japan.

The casualties in the Japanese capital are said to be inestimable.

Most of the buildings were destroyed.

Nagoya, a city of several hundred thousand inhabitants, 170 miles southwest of Tokio, has been virtually destroyed.

At Yokohama the naval station was overwhelmed by a tidal wave.

Water Supply Failed.

The people fled from their homes, jamming the streets and open spaces. Intermittent shocks continued until sundown.

Fires broke out everywhere and the flames, fanned by the strong wind, spread in all directions. It was impossible to control them, as the water supply failed at the critical moment.

When the correspondent left at nine o'clock in the evening many of the government offices had been burned down, including the home department and the metropolitan police station.

The correspondent estimates that 500,000 houses were reduced to ashes and the fire was still burning in many places. Estimates of the casualties for the moment are uncertain, but they are believed to have been enormous.

Troops and doctors are doing splendid work in rendering first aid.

Still Another Great Upheaval.

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 4.—The Helicon Seismograph registered a violent earthquake beginning at 3:11 o'clock Sunday morning. Green with time. The intensity of the shock was tremendous. It was one of the greatest ever recorded in Egypt equalling that of the great Chilean convulsion.

Foreign Section Safe.

London, Sept. 4.—The foreign section of Yokohama, which is situated high on a hill, escaped destruction, according to an Osaka despatch to the Daily Express.

Tokio In Ruins.

Pekin, Sept. 4.—Fire followed swiftly after the earthquake shocks, according to other messages reaching China. Twenty square miles of Tokio have been burned. The country between Osaka and Tokio is in ruins. Yokohama, shattered by the quake, was swept by a gigantic tidal wave, taking its toll of dead.

Wrecked houses burst into conflagration that later swept districts of the seaport.

A typhoon preceded the first shock. Twenty-five minutes after the first shock the broken houses. The tidal wave followed, spreading havoc along the coast.

At Tokio the fire penetrated the great arsenal, entirely destroying its vast stocks of munitions in a gigantic explosion that resulted in thousands of casualties.

Eyewitnesses report that at least 300,000 buildings have been demolished by fire and earthquake at Tokio.

Seven thousand were killed when the resort town of Atama, on top of Mount Hakone, was entirely demolished by the shock and subsequent flames.

Japan Loses Her Position.

Osaka, Sept. 4.—Aside from the terrible toll of lives, Japan has been set back a generation by the disaster, the Osaka Mainichi says.

The financial loss from earthquakes which threw down many of the finest modern structures of the capital, destroyed bridges, tunnels, towers, manufacturing plants, banks and residences and from the fires which followed and are still raging beyond control, has been inestimable.

Japan will lose her position as fourth power of the world, according to the Mainichi, because the country has no financial reserve. The largest companies are bankrupt; insurance concerns and many of the strongest banks probably are ruined. The country's manufacturing interests are blasted.

Financially, and from the viewpoint of loss of human life, the disaster is considered the greatest in Japan's history.

Part of the royal palace was destroyed by the quakes and the prince regent of Japan fled from his house into the family shrine where he worshipped while portions of the palace crumbled about him and his house was partially destroyed. A major portion of the royal palace was saved, however.

SAFE FROM TIDAL WAVE

C.P.R. Empress of Canada Enroute to Japan With Missionaries.

BOTH LINERS SAFE.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 4.—The passenger liners Empress of Canada and President Jefferson, which came within radius of the tidal wave zone off the coast of Japan are safe, according to word received by Canadian Pacific Line agents here.

MINERS LOOKING FOR NEW JOBS

Operators Do Not Look For Short Suspension Unless Workers Yield.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 4.—Suspension of mining in the upper coal fields remained complete to-day. Many miners are looking for jobs in other industries, pending a settlement of the anthracite wage question.

Mine workers are still optimistic of an early resumption, while the operators say they do not look for a short suspension as long as the workers demand a big increase in wages, the check off and other concessions.

The Harrisburg conference, which will be renewed tomorrow, promise some results, and in union circles it is frankly admitted that a give-and-take policy would bring the strike to an end. The strikers, however, are opposed to any plan of going back to work until they have a new agreement. It is their belief that a contract will be worked out quicker if the miners are in idleness.

Boys Fail in Brave Attempt To Rescue Drowning Comrade

Eganville, Sept. 4.—The firm drowning accident here in four years took place on Friday, when Basil Simm, the eight-year-old son of Ernest Simm, Jr., was drowned at Lett's Landing, close to the town. With several companions, he was in bathing in the Bonnehore river and became exhausted while swimming. Two other boys who endeavored to rescue him had to release their hold to save themselves, but immediately returned to the spot and secured his body. In the meantime Dr. Reeves was summoned, and, although he worked over the boy for an hour or more, it was too late for resuscitation.

On behalf of the province of Ontario, Lieut.-Governor Cockshut has forwarded condolences and sympathy to the Japanese people through the Japanese consul-general at Ottawa.

Half of the 60,000 population are Armenian and Greek refugees from Turkey. Italy's precipitate action appear to be part of a plan to close the Adriatic sea, making it virtually an Italian lake. Janina, where the Italian mission was murdered, is shown on the map.

Mr. Stuart had a very close call, but luckily, both the officials escaped injury.

Charges Villa Burned

Mexico City, Sept. 4.—The shooting and burning alive of 200 prisoners by the late bandit leader Francisco Villa in Chihuahua after the battle of San Andres de la Sierra on September 6th, 1913, is related in a letter from one of the survivors published by Excelsior.

The 200 were about equally divided between wounded and unharmed, according to the story, and many of them, still alive after falling before the fire of the execution squads, were thrown screaming on the great pyre of oil-soaked timber which had been prepared and set ablaze.

Among the victims were several women camp followers, with their children, who had dared to scream curses at Villa for sacrificing their men.

Shipping is still unable to enter Yokohama harbor, owing to continued submarine upheavals.

"You Said It, Marceline!"

BY MARCELINE PALROY

ON THE PERFECT LOVER.

The perfect LOVER,	He must be ready
In a woman's eyes,	To eat out of her hand
Is a man who is, AT ONCE,	ONE minute,
A king and a SLAVE;	And the next,
A cave man AND a courtier;	With his two ARMS,
Controllable, yet	Be able to crush
Uncontrolled;	All the life
Totally blind, EXCEPT	From her sweet body.
To her own beauty.	So women DREAM,
Her tears must TORTURE him,	Marry, and WAKE UP.
He must reach
The greatest heights of ecstasy
At possessing her,
Yet swing to DEEP depths
Of depression
At his own unworthiness.

A man can only be ONE thing at a time TO ONE woman— TAKE YOUR CHOICE!
