The Editor Hears

That the last social event of the season at the Yacht Club will be held on Wednesday when the bridge tournament, which has become a yearly event will take place.

That Saturday's market was a splendid one and the citizens laid in a supply of good wholesome food to make their table attractive for the holiday visitors.

That there is much rejoicing in some quarters over our return to standard time, "God's time," as one dear old lady calls it. No doubt the daylight saving time has its advantages but for travellers and people dependent on their mail, the different times are most inconvenient.

That the detachable fur collar is spoken of as one of the novelties for autumn, for the new idea is to have a suit or frock, often fur-trimmed, finished with a collar that exactly belongs to it which can nevertheless be removed when the wearer wishes.

FEATHERSTONE-MURPHY WEDDINGS

The marriage was solemnized at St. Barnaby's Church on Monday morning.

A very pretty wedding took place on Monday morning, Sept. 3rd, when Miss Evelyn Murphy, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy, of Joyceville, was united in marriage to Michael F. Featherstone. The ceremony was performed at St. Barnaby's Church, by Rev. Father Crawley. The bridesmaid was Miss Marion Joyce, cousin of the bride, and Thomas O'Hearn attended the groom.

The bride wore a very pretty gown of sand color crepe de chine, with a velvet hat to match and carried Ophelia roses. The bridesmaid wore tan crepe de chine, a black velvet hat and carried a bouquet of pink asters.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride. The guests included the relatives of both families. Mr. and Mrs. James J. Shortell, of Flushing, N.Y., uncle and aunt of the bride were present.

The groom's gift to his bride was a mink stole of beautifully matched skins; to the best man, gold cuff links; to the bridesmaid, a silver mesh bag. The bride was born at Joyceville and has resided there all her life and is very popular among the younger set. The groom is a farmer, having resided at Joyceville for a year-and-a-half.

method on a corner of some embroidered article which you do not care particularly about, before using it for cleaning a more cherished article. It is always wise to experiment in this way, before going ahead to cleanse anything one values. Old Housekeeper: "It seems as if I'd never cease to learn new things about housekeeping—though I have been a housekeeper for almost 60 years. Here is my latest discovery: a pretty good substitute for linoleum can be made by tacking an old Brussels carpet onto the floor, wrong-side-up, and then giving it two coats of good floor paint 24 hours apart. Finish with a coat or two of spar (waterproof) varnish. This idea has saved me from buying new linoleum for my kitchen floor—which I could not really afford to buy." Answer: "I am sure that a good many of our column readers will try this excellent hint. Thank you for it, and write again if you can help us further." Miss F.: "Is there anything that one can do to keep a jelly roll from cracking during the rolling process?" Answer: "Yes. Turn the thin sheet of cake out of its baking pan onto a cloth wrung out of cold water, then spread with jelly. As it is rolled, the steam from the wet cloth will prevent the shrinking, and consequent cracking, of the top crust." Tomorrow:—Dainties to Serve on the Tea Tray.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and province. —The Editor.

and has a beautiful home all furnished ready for his bride. The happy couple left on a trip which will include Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo. The bride received many handsome presents and the couple have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

Mundell-Tett Wedding

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at Newboro, on Saturday, September 1st, when Dr. David Kenneth Mundell, Niagara Falls, was united in marriage to Honor Senkler Tett, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Tett, Cliff Place, Newboro.

Owing to the recent death of the groom's father, and the serious illness of the bride's father and mother, only the immediate family of the bride and the groom's mother are present.

The bride is a graduate of Haverford Ladies' College, Toronto, and of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal.

AT DUSK

Already o'er the west the first star shines And day and dark are imperceptibly linked; The fences and pied fields grow indistinct Deep beyond deep, the living light declines. Still lingering o'er the westward mountain lines Fallid and clear; and on its silent breast A symbol of eternal quiet rest, Far and black-plumed, the imperturbable pine, A few thin threads of purple clouds still float In the serene ether, and the night wind, Wandering in puffs from off the darkening hill Breathes warm or cool; and now the whip-poor-will, Beyond the river margins glasse'd and thianed, Whaps the cool hollows with his liquid note. —Archibald Lampman.

What's What in Furs

It seems somewhat early to talk of furs but the advance models are already on display and since many shops now make it a practice to feature the sale of furs in August it is well to know the salient points of the new modes.

Each year fur costs and wraps are lovelier and each season they reveal the remarkable progress made in designing garments of fur as well as in the way the pelts are handled.

Once the fur coat was a clumsy affair, with no particular claim to beauty of line but today it is almost as supple in texture as a coat of velvet and quite as graceful.

In several new models one sees a clever adaptation of the founes to conform to the lines of a coat or cape.

On a full length cape of summer ermine the stripes are arranged to form a V in back. Around the lower edge there is a wide circular flounce. The effect is unusually smart.

Flat carcass in shades of beige, taupe and platinum is much in evidence, with platinum fox and Violetha

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

BY GENEVIEVE KEMBLE WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5. Active but perplexing conditions may be read from this day's dominant lunar transits. There may be complications or annoyances arising from letters, writings or publications and care should be exercised in the making of contracts or the signing of documents. With Jupiter holding unfriendly place, it is urged that particular attention be given to safeguarding the financial interests. All hasty and impulsive moves are advised against, although new projects may be considered.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an active year, but one not free from perplexity. This may relate mainly to writings or contracts. Sign these cautiously. Protect money and act deliberately in all affairs. A child born on this day will be endowed with industry, initiative and enterprise, but unless given strict discipline, it may be inclined to irresponsibility.

The love of justice, in some men, is nothing but the fear of suffering injustice. Often that which has come latest on the scene seems to have accomplished the whole matter. When men speak ill of you, live so that nobody will believe them.
