

The British Whig Pictorial Page

The Prince of Wales presents the King's shield to the Australian team, the winners of the imperial relay race.

There are still plenty of fish in Georgian Bay, as evidenced by the above photograph. Part of a ten days' catch is shown.

Capt. Bruce Bairnsfather, caricaturist and playwright, who wrote "The Better 'Ole," arrives with his wife to fill a vaudeville contract on this continent.

This motor, belonging to a Toronto party, has finished her last trip of 3,150 miles. Her owner, Frank Wall, says she has earned a pension for life. A quiet garage will let her dream of a glorious past.

Miss Hessie Farewell of Toronto is playing the role of Cleopatra in the grand spectacle at the Canadian National Exhibition.

They have to pull the wool over the eyes of an ostrich so that his plumage may be clipped. Only when he is hooded does the bird submit to the operation.

Miss Ivy Duke, popular English actress, believes in a generous amount of play to offset her hard work on the stage. She is seen enjoying a row with her pet, "Sam."

Looks like the horns of an elk, but it is not. It is the kelp plant that grows in the bottom of the Pacific and from which iodine is made.

Sir Alfred Cope has arrived in America to make arrangements for Lloyd George's forthcoming trip to this continent.

Miss Marjorie Leeming is British Columbia's leading tennis player. She has won three championships in the United States and Canada this year.

"Mitzi" is an expert batswoman and is playing a wonderful game this season. She is the "Babe" Ruth of a Y.W.C.A. team.

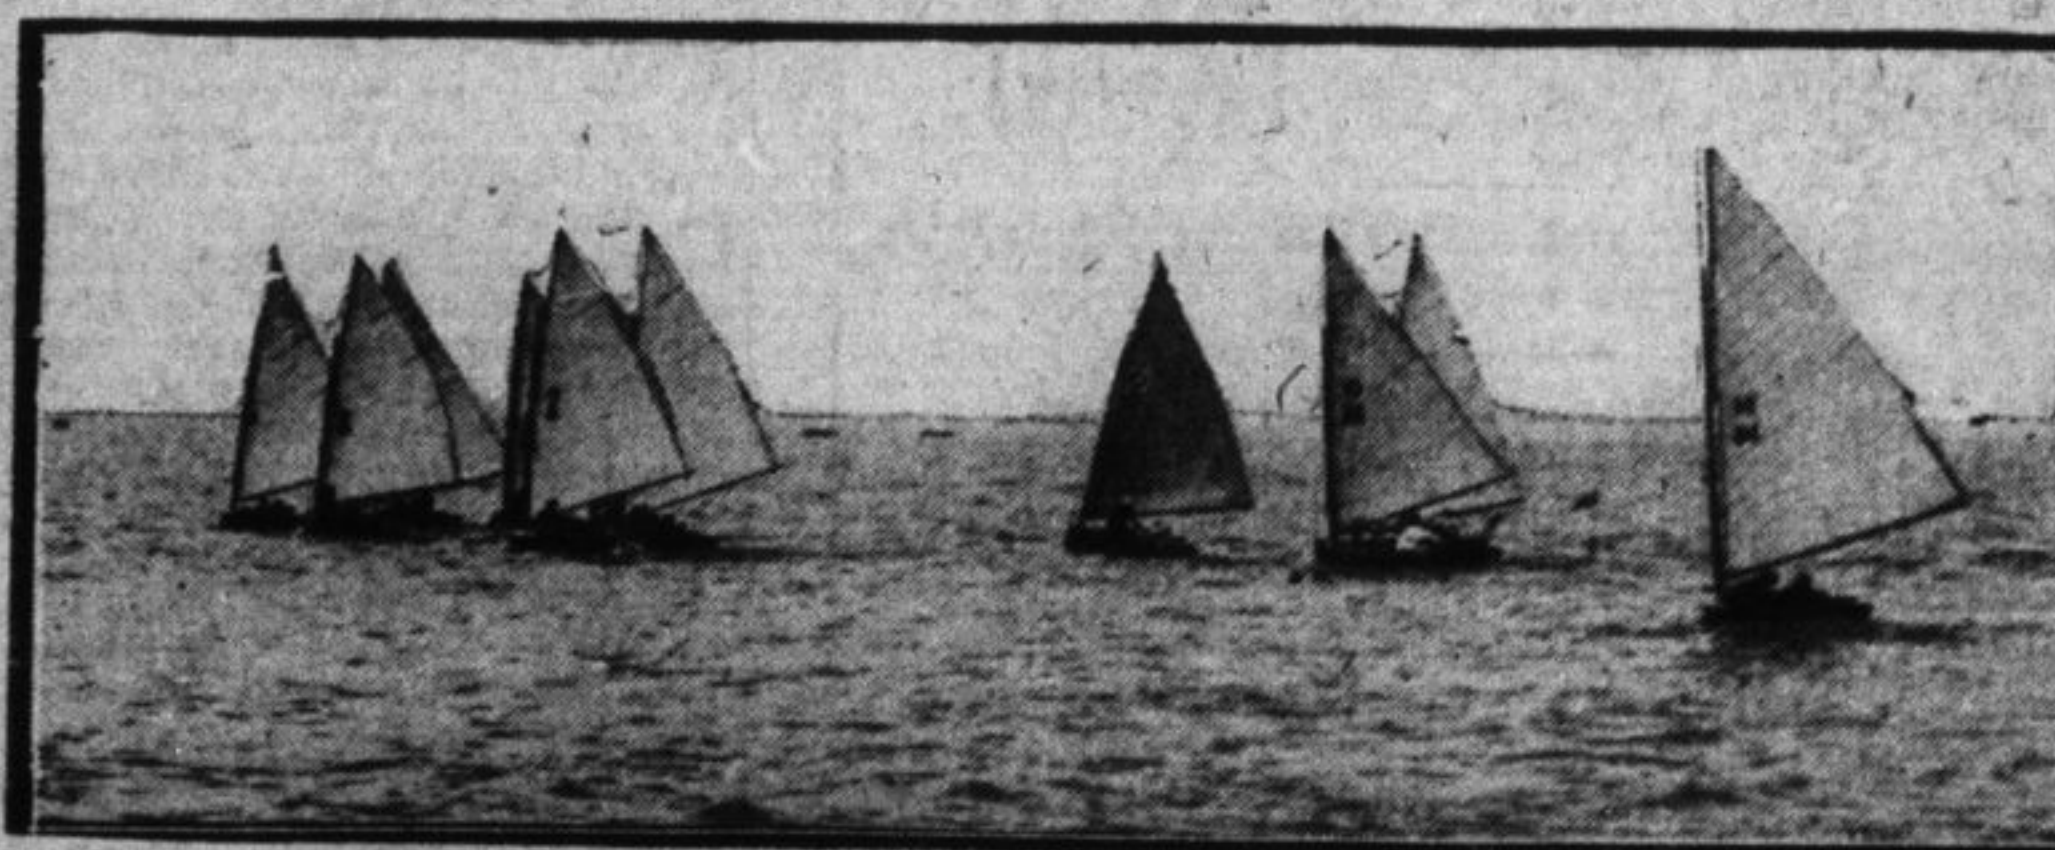

Lina Paglinghi, sixteen-year-old Italian girl of San Francisco, has been selected by Mme. Tetrzini to be educated under her supervision in Rome.

Thomas Bruin, boatswain of the Canadian Pacific S.S. Marburn, has been recognized for a heroic rescue at sea. Bruin jumped into the sea and saved a man who had fallen overboard.

G. F. Egge is the superintendent of the air mail division of the U. S. postoffice department. A trans-continental air service has recently been inaugurated.

Dinghy races were on the program for the opening day of the C.N.E.