Splendid weather and large crowds were features of the Kingston exhibition on Wednesday. The winners of the prizes offered for the best cheese were: Society contest, James Sprott, Cataract, first for white, and E. Sears, Keenan's factory, first for colored. Frontenac county prize: First, James Sprott; second, J. H. Lennon, Forest; third, A. M. Gardiner, Elginburg; fourth, J. Lawless; fifth, E. Sears. Provincial special prize: First, H. Stinson, Thomasburg; second, A. Moses, Appleton; third, G. H. Wood, Perth; fourth, James Steel, Tichborne; fifth, J. Kilroy, Tenyson. G. G. Publow and James Irvine, Belleville, were the judges and they stated that there was little difference between the highest and lowest, the highest scoring 98.8 and the lowest 98.

M. E. Mains, Belleville, judge of cattle and sheep, made his award in the Durham class on Wednesday. The winners were: William Pinnigan, Pittsburg, third for aged cow and second and third for three-year-old, second for heifer and second for yearling and first for calf of 1923. M. Pinnigan got second for aged cow pure bred, second for cow three years old, second for heifer, second for yearling bull, second for bull calf and heifer calf. J. Miller, Ashburn, got first for two-year-old, yearling, under one year, bull calf, 1923, aged cow, three-year-old milking and dry, two-year-old, yearling heifer, under one year and calf of 1923, second for beef cow, first for three-year-old, two-year-old, yearling and under one year. R. Patterson got first for grade Durham. John McFarland got five firsts for pure bred Shropshire sheep, five for Oxford's and two firsts for South Downs. Harold Klein was winner for Dorsets, and John Miller the Cotswolds.

Horses: John Olsen, Kingston, won first with his Armadale colt in the roadster class, C. Stokes, Glenburnie, second and M. Poik, third.

The Dog Show, which opened on Wednesday afternoon, is one of the most popular places on the exhibition grounds. This show, which is being run under the direction of the Kingston Humane Society, is well worth one's while seeing. There are all kinds of dogs from poodles to St. Bernards. Many of the dogs are on exhibition for the first time, and for this reason they are so lonesome that their hearts are nearly broken. Two local ladies, who have their pets entered in the show, were so afraid that their dogs would be lonesome that they stayed with them all Wednesday afternoon. One lady, after spending many hours with her pet, thought that she had better take the animal home, and was seen leaving the grounds with the "pup" on a chain. Batches of puppies attracted lots of attention. Mound pups were offered for sale at five dollars a piece and they found a ready market. One man was heard to ask fifty dollars for the dog that he had on exhibition. Ex-Ald. W. A. Twigg, who is in charge of the show, stated that the judging would take place on Thursday afternoon, and he expected the judges would be Melville Robinson, Thomas Carson, Alan Mooney, three local dog fanciers.

County School Exhibit. The tent which contains the county school fair exhibit is simply wonderful, and hundreds of people visited it and were delighted with the work which has been accomplished by the children of the Frontenac schools. A. W. Strrett, who is in charge of the exhibition, is certainly deserving of great credit for this excellent display. One of the exhibits which caught the eye of many was the garden plot exhibit. In the spring, seeds are furnished by the agriculture department, and the children are asked to put in plots of vegetables. During the time that the plots are growing the agriculture representative visits their home and makes his inspection. When the school fairs are held, the children are asked to bring the produce which is raised on their plots, and prizes are awarded for the best. The first prize winners in each case are eligible to enter at the Kingston fair, and the best ones are given first, second, third, fourth and fifth premiums. After careful inspection Maynard Turnham, Kingston school section No. 11, who had eleven vegetables on exhibition, was awarded the first prize; Evelyn McDonald, Older, who had nineteen vegetables, was second;

Pearl Barker, Older, with nineteen, was third; Wesley Baker, Cataract, with seventeen, was fourth; Eugene Sands, Kingston school section No. 5, was fifth. This exhibit, although not nearly as large as the others, was declared by the judges to be one of the best.

Evelyn Connors, Harrowsmith, is being congratulated upon being awarded first prize for the best sheaf of wheat, oats and barley. This is certainly a creditable showing for a girl to win three first prizes in this class. The judges stated that her grain was excellent, and the straw was clean.

Other Prize Winners. Some of the other prize winners were in fancy cake, Emma Scott, Pittsburg, first; Phoebe Wair, Wolfe Island, second; Mary Trundell, Kingston No. 7, third. Asters: Norah Fearn, Kingston township, first; Mabel Robb, Battersea, second; Margaret Joyce, Kingston township, third. Wheat, four quarts: Robb; Greenless, Storrington, first; Elsie Humber, Pittsburg, second; Willie Connors, Portland, third. Sweet corn: Elwood Morley, Kingston S.S. No. 6, first; Alfred Baker, Kingston S.S. No. 6, second. Sweet corn, single ear: Mildred Wartman, Kingston S.S. No. 2, first. Irish Cobblers: Gordon Herrin, Kingston township, first; Thelma Baker, Kingston township, second; Elmer Ranes, Loughboro, third, and James Keyes, Pittsburg, fourth. Beets: John Keyes, first and Gordon Pillar, Kingston township, second.

There were exhibited eighteen banners which had been done by the children of the different schools. A number of the banners were hand-painted and the judges stated that they were about the best that they ever saw. The prize winners were: Atkinson S.S., first; Bedford S.S. No. 1, second, and Dufferin S.S. No. 7, third. The first two winners showed banners that were hand-painted. Mr. Strrett, the district agriculture representative, was assisted in the judging by Lionel Burke, B.S.A., a graduate of Guelph college, who is going to help Mr. Strrett in Frontenac during the next three months. Mr. Burke will help in the three months course on agriculture, which is to be held in this district.

Woman's Institute Booth. The Woman's Institute booth in the main building is a popular place for many of the ladies who attend the fair. Mrs. George Ackroyd was present in Wednesday afternoon and showed the process of spinning wool from the raw state and placing it on the cards. Mrs. George Leatherland had a citron on exhibition which was grown in 1922 and had been in a dry cupboard for over a year and yet it was in fine condition. A tapestry piano stool top, which was made by Mrs. Charles Sickling, Sydenham, formed part of the exhibit. A pair of hand-knitted curtains, which were made by Mrs. Moore, mother of Mrs. (Dr.) Tovell, Sydenham, were greatly admired. Some quilts, which were made by Mrs. Burt, Westbrook, were exceptionally good.

On Wednesday afternoon the prizes were awarded, and Sydenham Institute was successful in winning all the first prizes and the Westbrook society was second.

The ladies who are in charge of the booth are to be congratulated on the wonderful display. Mrs. Strrett, who is the head of all the institutes, has the booth well organized.

School Children's Luncheon. Miss E. Hopkins was kept busy Wednesday instructing the mothers of the county school children in the correct way of making up lunches for the school children. A luncheon consisting of a piece of pie and two sandwiches, which are wrapped up in a piece of newspaper. A splendid example of a poorly-balanced lunch for a school child. Another luncheon, which is not balanced, consisted of a few fried cakes thrown in a paper bag. Miss Hopkins has a number of sample lunches which are correctly
