THE 33RD ANNIVERSARY OF St. Luke's Church Observed on Sunday—Rev. A. O. Cooke Officiated.

The congregation of St. Luke's church celebrated the thirty-third anniversary of the opening of the church for divine worship on Sunday, and Rev. A. O. Cooke, a son of the late Rev. A. W. Cooke, who founded the church, officiated. He gave a brief sketch of the labors of his father, who was universally beloved and whose memory is revered by all who knew him.

The corner stone of St. Luke's church was laid on June 17th, 1890, by the Right Reverend, John Travers Lewis, Lord Bishop of Ontario, and late metropolitan of Ontario. The church was opened for divine service on Oct. 1st, 1890. The following clergymen were present: Rev. C. E. Cartwright, chaplain of the penitentiary; Rev. A. Spencer, clerical secretary; Archdeacon Daykin, All Saints' church, Kingston; Rev. W. B. Carey, St. Paul's church, Kingston; Rev. Arthur W. Cooke, St. Luke's church, Kingston; Very Rev. Dean B. B. Smith, rector of St. George's cathedral; Rev. J. K. McMorine, St. James' church, Kingston; Rev. E. H. M. Baker, Bath; Rev. T. M. Harding, curate of St. George's cathedral, who is now Bishop of Qu'Appelle, and Rev. J. Couper Robinson, missionary of Japan, and Rev. Canon Loucks, Picton.

In the list of those who took part in the opening service, only two are alive at the present time, Right Rev. T. M. Harding, Bishop of Qu'Appelle, and Rev. J. Couper Robinson, missionary of Japan. Rev. Canon Loucks, Picton, preached the sermon, which was on the duty of public worship.

The church was built chiefly by subscriptions from the congregation, friends of the city, and Major Charles B. Mayne, of the Royal Military College staff, collected a good sum for it from many of his own friends. The building committee consisted of Messrs. John Green, Francis Berry, Thomas Carter and Thomas England.

The following have been ministers of the church since it was built: Rev. Arthur W. Cooke, 1889-1903; Archbishop C. L. Worrell, 1904-1905; Rev. Canon R. S. Forner, 1905-1916; Rev. J. dePender Wright, 1917.

Special music was rendered by the choir under the direction of Bert Cooper, organist. Mrs. Hinks, soprano, sang, "My Task" beautifully, and the morning anthem "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" was rendered very effectively. Rev. Herbert S. Pringle, Adolphustown, officiated at the evening service, and the choir sang the anthem, "I Will Magnify Thee, O God."

St. Mark's Thanksgiving. Special harvest thanksgiving services were held in St. Mark's church, Barrfield, on Sunday, the church being tastefully decorated with fruit, flowers and grain. In the morning, the Rev. Herbert Pringle Adolphustown, conducted the service, while the pastor, Rev. A. O. Cooke, occupied the pulpit for the evening service. A special thanksgiving offertory realized the sum of $130. Special music was rendered by the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Sibbitt, organist, a special anthem being "For God is Loving unto Every Man." Solos were rendered by William Knight and Mrs. N. Stanton.

St. John's, Portsmouth. Combined re-opening and thanksgiving services were held in St. John's church, Portsmouth, on Sunday. There were large congregations and the thank-offering was a very liberal one. The church, recently closed for renovation and decoration, was beautifully decorated with flowers, fruit and grain, and the music under the direction of Mrs. A. R. B. Williamson, was well rendered by the choir.

Rev. Dr. Hilyard Smith, the rector, preached in the morning from the sixty-eighth Psalm, verse 26, "Bless ye God in the congregations, even the Lord, from the fountain of Israel." Archdeacon Dobbs, was the preacher in the evening. His text was taken from Philippians, IV. 4 "Rejoice in the Lord always; and again I say, rejoice."

Rally Day at First Baptist. Rally Day, as observed by the Bible School of the First Baptist church yesterday afternoon, was another red letter day in the history of the school. When the superintendent, Capt. W. J. Finney, announced the opening hymn, a sea of happy faces met his gaze, and a melodious chorus of beautiful voices responded to his call for hearty singing. Little Miss Hope Finney, in a voice much bigger than herself, gave a cordial welcome to all, and her associates in the Primary Class sang very sweetly a children's chorus.

The adult Bible class also added to the inspiration of the occasion, through their representative. Mr. Osborne, and by their singing. Two well sung and appropriate choruses by the whole school evidences the thorough training given the children by the choir leader, S. A. Salisbury. The chief item on the programme was an address by Dr. Boyce. Two prizes were awarded to the youngest and oldest persons present. The books were presented to Miss Margaret Jessie Cee, and Mrs. William Pickering, Sr. During the early part of the proceedings, there was a very pretty and pleasing event, when a dozen children from the cradle roll, of which Mrs. Norman Pickering is the superintendent, received promotion certificates. The morning and evening services also were marked by the spirit of Rally day, the pastor's messages being in each case appropriate to the occasion. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with flowers, fruits, foliage and vegetables.

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE BY GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

Tuesday, October 9. A lively and eventful day is forecast from this day's lunar transits. The nature may be bold and aggressive, with the disposition to embark on important new projects. Although the astral auspices are encouraging, yet there may be a certain amount of hazard in the expenditure of money, since Jupiter holds an unfriendly place. Trifling annoyances should be banished. Those whose birthday it is may look for an active year, but they should be careful in the use of money, particularly avoiding all in the nature of speculation. They should not indulge in small worries or anxieties. A child born on this day will be quick-witted and versatile, but should be trained to thrift and the proper value of money.

French Dressing. A little prepared mustard added to the French dressing gives it a distinctive flavor. So does a little Worcestershire sauce.

NEGLECTED HUSBAND'S LAMENT.

By Mrs. J. E. Leslie. There is time for the beds and the dishes, Time for the soup and the tea, Time for the pies and the biscuits, But never a minute for me.

Spend an hour of the Sunday morning Under the shade of the tree? The kitchen requires her attention— There is not time for me.

A long afternoon on the porches? There's dinner to oversee; There's time for the meat and the puddings, But alas! No time for me.

A few minutes' stroll in the twilight, Indulged in un-early— Hurry back to plan for the breakfast— There's no more time for me.

Days for washing and ironing, Given ungrudgingly, Days for everything under the sun, Except a day for me.

Time for friends and the children, Wherever they may be; Time for reading and writing, But never a minute for me.

I hate the kitchen and pantry, Friends I ne'er went to see Don't care if laundry never is done; I've only pity for me.

I wonder, in that heavenly home Where we spend eternity Playing on harps and singing— If there'll be a time for me.

HER CASTLE By Juanita Hamel

There's a spot in the brain that seems to be touched with magic when love is alight in the heart—it's the place of plans where dreams are mixed with determination to make them come true. Different indeed are the visions that different girls behold when they dream, but there's one that all girls see. It's a wondrous castle in the air—a dream of ideal love!
