DR. WILSON FAREWELLS AT CHALMERS ON SUNDAY

His Ministry in Kingston Was an Active One—An Eloquent Preacher.

On Sunday, Rev. Dr. R. J. Wilson concludes his ministry in Chalmers Presbyterian church, of which he became pastor in June, 1918. Dr. Wilson came to Kingston from Vancouver, B.C., where for twelve years he was minister of St. Andrew's church, the largest Presbyterian congregation in the Pacific coast city. During his ministry in Chalmers he has greatly strengthened that congregation as an active force. Its various bodies have been re-organized under his direction and it boasts of one of the finest and most modern Sunday school buildings in the province. Dr.

REV. DR. R. J. WILSON

Wilson was instrumental in effecting the union between Chalmers and the First Congregational people, the latter joining with the Presbyterian congregation three years ago. To Dr. Wilson's various appeals for money for church purposes, Chalmers responded beyond his expectations, and one of the last contributions it made as the result of his appeal for $1,000 towards wiping out the Canadian church's missionary deficit was the placing of $1,450 on the plates.

As a preacher, Dr. Wilson is one of the most eloquent and forceful who ever occupied a Kingston pulpit. A prominent Methodist minister of Vancouver said that the devotional portion of the service conducted by Dr. Wilson was the most beautiful he had ever heard. Dr. Wilson re-introduced into Chalmers the governing of the sexton and made the bringing of "the books" to the pulpit a real part of the service. His organizing ability has caused his transfer to a bigger post, as the leading men of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches in Canada felt that he was needed to further the church union cause by becoming secretary of the department of publicity.

Tomorrow morning Dr. Wilson celebrates his last communion service in Chalmers and preaches his farewell sermon in the evening.

WHEN KIDNEYS HURT DRINK MORE WATER

If Your Back Aches or Bladder Bothers, Take a Little Salts.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

THE CHARIVARI IS NOT A LAWFUL ASSEMBLY

The Episode at Sydenham Drew Big Gathering To The Trial.

Only the eloquent plea of W. S. Herrington, K.C., on behalf of the eighteen defendants in the Sydenham case saved them from being found guilty on Friday. Mr. Herrington ridiculed the prosecution's witnesses, but T. J. Rigney, K.C., showed the seriousness of any decision that might be regarded as an endorsement of demonstrations such as the one that gave rise to the case. Police Magistrate Bradshaw was disposed to recognize the practice of holding innocent charivaris, but felt that he could dismiss the cases without giving the impression that charivaris were lawful, whereas such was not the case.

Evidence was given for the prosecution by Percy Trousdale, George Redmond and Thomas Trousdale, while Clifton Knapp, E. W. Horning and C. R. Wartman, the last named a justice of the peace, gave evidence for the defence.

About 200 residents gathered before the residence of Percy Trousdale on the night of Oct. 8th for the purpose of celebrating his supposed marriage. There was a noisy demonstration, cow bells, guns and tin pans being used. Mr. Trousdale said he was asked for $25 but refused to comply. One of the demonstrators jumped on his back. The noise was kept up till midnight. He protested against the disturbance and lodged a complaint against eighteen young men of the village.

The defence claimed that there was no violence, no disturbance of the peace or anything to indicate that it was not just an ordinary innocent charivari.

All of the defendants were bound over to keep the peace.

DR. A. P. KNIGHT SPEAKS ON LOBSTER INDUSTRY

Addressed the Members of the Rotary Club at Friday's Luncheon.

Interesting and instructive was the address delivered before the members of the Kingston Rotary Club, at the British-American hotel, on Friday noon, by Dr. A. P. Knight on "The Lobster Industry of Canada." The address was illustrated with lantern slides. The president, Leman A. Guild, was in the chair, and introduced the speaker, who was given a most enthusiastic welcome. Dr. Knight had to catch an early train out of the city, and as a result was compelled to make his address very brief, but the members of the club hope to have another address from him at some future date.

The pictures presented showed some of the factories and storehouses used in the business of canning the lobsters. Dr. Knight is engaged in research work for the fisheries department, at Ottawa, and explained that his services were given free of charge, the government paying his railway fare to and from the seaboard, and also providing for his board and lodging. The speaker said he was glad of the opportunity to engage in research work of this kind.

Speaking of the canning factories generally, the speaker declared that they were not all in a bad condition. The best of the canning factories showed tremendous improvement during the past year, but the poorer class of canneries had made little or no improvement.

The speaker declared that three-quarters of the canneries should be closed by the government and not be allowed to operate.

"We have better buildings in Ontario used for pig pens," added the speaker, referring to the buildings used in the lobster industry.

Rotarian A. N. Lyster moved the vote of thanks tendered to Dr. Knight for his address.

Rev. Dr. J. J. Brokenshire, of the SS. Mercy, of the United States Navy, who has been visiting relatives in the city, was a guest at the luncheon, and spoke briefly. He is commander of the Chaplains corps of the United States Navy. He stated that he was glad of the opportunity to pay a visit to the club, especially in view of the fact that some of the members were old friends.

Secretary Roy Ward read a letter from Rotarian "Al" Davis, who is holidaying in western Ontario, and who extended greetings. "Al" was the guest of the Hamilton Rotary Club.

Rotarian J. Thomp Blyth, of Ottawa, was a guest at the luncheon, also B. A. Edwards, of Montreal.

As usual, the singing at Friday's luncheon was a special feature. With Rotarian Harold Singleton at the piano and Rotarian "Jack" Elder on a chair leading, everything went over big. The "gang" sang Governor Weeks' song, with all the trimmings, in grand style.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

May Obtain Relief by Enriching the Blood Supply.

In the days of our fathers and grandfathers, rheumatism was thought to be the unavoidable penalty of middle life and old age. Almost every elderly person had rheumatism, as well as many young people. It was thought that rheumatism was the mere effect of exposure to cold and damp, and it was treated with liniments and hot applications, which sometimes gave temporary relief, but did not remove the trouble. In those days there were many cripples. Now, medical science understands that rheumatism is a disease of the blood, and that with good, rich red blood any man or woman of any age can defy rheumatism. There are many elderly people who have never felt a twinge of rheumatism, and many who have conquered it by simply keeping their blood rich and pure. The blood enriching qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is becoming every year more widely known, and the more general use of these pills has robbed rheumatism of its terrors. At the first sign of poor blood, which is shown by loss of appetite, dull skin and dim eyes, protect yourself against further ravages of disease by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have helped thousands—if you give them a fair trial they will not disappoint you.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

At Queen's University

According to the allotment of tickets for the Queen's-Varsity game in Toronto, Queen's will receive the generous number of fifteen hundred pasteboards, a thousand more than ever received before. If a lower railway rate is received from the railway board, a goodly crowd of rooters will follow the team to Toronto.

The Queen's band, which usually numbers about twenty-five, has been working under difficulties, for years due to the lack of good instruments. Many of the "musicians" only turn out to practice before a rugby game, and that, coupled with poor instruments, makes the position of the leader very difficult and thankless. Something should be done towards providing suitable instruments for the hard-working members of the band.

An amusing incident occurred recently at the office of the faculty of arts' office. Several students were gathered in line waiting for a chance to get into the dean's office when a young man, supposedly an undergraduate, pushed his way through the line to the door, where he was stopped by a student with an angry remark. When the student arrived at his lecture next morning, he was surprised to see his intrusive friend walk into the room, in the person of the professor. Beyond a light smile, the professor said nothing to suggest that he was wise.

The university holiday on Monday will take the form of athletic sports at the Stadium.

GANANOQUE

Oct. 13.—At a meeting of the Badminton Club held a couple of days ago the following officers were elected for the coming season: President, Miss Jane Cowan; vice-president, Mrs. S. E. Byers; secretary-treasurer, Miss Marjorie Davis.

The armours will be used for the games, the same as last year, and all indications point to the same interest and enthusiasm which prevailed for this season.

Mrs. Constantine Delaney, who has been visiting friends in Prescott for the past week, returned home on Wednesday.

The high school field day was favored with most unusual weather and every item on the programme of sports brought forth the best efforts of the competitors. The parade of the cadets in the morning was one of the important features, and they certainly are to be congratulated on their creditable showing both as regards soldierly appearance and training. There was a most exciting basket-ball game also in the morning with a close score of 12-11, which was a tie up to 30 seconds before the whistle blew. The afternoon sports brought out a very large crowd of citizens, and throughout this was probably the best field day the high school has had for many years.

Among those who attended the Queen's-Bankers Collegiate dance in Kingston last evening from here were Misses Margaret Chapman, Nellie Kidd, Edith Haynes, Lorraine Peelow, Ella Phillips, Marion Watson, Mildred Delaney, Gretta Beresford, Mary LaQue, Margaret Fenton, and W. Squire, Joseph Meggs, Ian Beresford, Howard Parker, Joseph Conlin, John Shine, Michael McDonald, Donald Lalonde, and Merrill Cummings.
