HORSE IN LANEWAY ONLY A ROCKING HORSE

But the Owner Was Threatened With Trouble Over Child's Plaything.

Some person pulled off a good "stunt" on a business man the other day. While it was raining the party called him up and informed him that his horse was standing in the laneway, at the side of his house, and that if he did not look after the animal, he would have the Humane Society notified and action would be taken against him.

"But I have no horse," said the business man, "you must have made a mistake. You have the wrong party."

"No mistake about it whatever," replied the man who was making the complaint. "Your horse is out in the rain, and you will have to get the animal under cover or you will have trouble."

When the business man returned to his home, he made an investigation and found that he had been made the victim of a joke, in that the horse alleged to be in his laneway was just a rocking horse owned by one of his youngsters. But just to go the joker one better he went out into the laneway and covered the rocking horse with a raincoat, and when the man who had made the complaint, and who does not live a hundred miles away from him, passed by the next time, he found the "horse" well protected, and so the matter was allowed to drop.

On Saturday James Young, aged sixty-six years, a well known resident of Lyndhurst, met with an accident which proved fatal on Monday afternoon.

On Saturday he was engaged in conveying milk to a cheese factory and in some unknown manner the rig was upturned and Mr. Young was thrown to the ground with such force that his skull was fractured. He was alone at the time of the accident and never regained consciousness.

Deceased is survived by three daughters and one son, Mrs. George Roddick, Miss Hazel Young, Lyndhurst; Mrs. R. Wright, South Lake, and Whitford Young, Moose Jaw, Sask. He was an Anglican and an active worker in the church at Lyndhurst. He represented Frost & Wood, of Smith's Falls, as agent at Lyndhurst, and was very highly respected.

Well, who will the new baby be named after now? Lloyd George or Babe Ruth?

Now that the baseball, golf, lawn tennis and lawn bowling championships have been decided, we can settle down to football, and later on, hockey and curling.

The board of railways commissioners refused cheap rates for the football fans, but this will not interfere with Queen's winning the championship.

That old song, "They Grow Potatoes Small Over There," has no reference to Cataragui, judging by the samples from that district shown in the Whig.

"Red" Ryan "squeals" on farmers who helped him and his pals, to escape from the "pen." That's "gratitude."

The motor league in Kingston should get out a few signs, "Go Slow, What's Your Hurry?"

The government has offered a reward of $2,000 for the capture of four convicts who escaped, while report has it that the sum of $20,000 was involved in their escape. Some difference in these figures.
