AN ORDINATION SERVICE HARVEST SERVICES HELD

Held by the Standard Church in St. George's Cathedral on Sunday—Bishop of Keewatin Preached.
—Four Probation Students Are Ordained.

Four probation students of the Standard Church of America were duly ordained into the ministry of that church at the special services held in the Garden Hall on Sunday morning. The ceremony, which concluded the several sessions of the annual Kingston conference of the church, was conducted by Rev. G. J. Monohan, conference president, and there was a good attendance of the local congregation.

The four ordained ministers were as follows: Rev. R. C. Crozier, Arundel, Que.; Rev. William Wager, Brookville; Rev. George Rhodes, Onslow Corners, Que.; and Rev. John Johnson, Brookville. These students have been preaching during the past two years on their probationary terms, and they have now received the call to the higher service of their church.

Rev. Mr. Monohan outlined the privileges of service to the Standard Church and remarked that he was confident that the four candidates would live up to the best traditions of their calling. He sketched the growth of the church and promised the congregation that it would continue to grow and prosper during the years to come.

The Sunday evening services were conducted by Evangelist Eva James, Montreal, and her plea for religious demonstrations was received with real feeling by her audience. Evangelist James, a noted woman speaker, came to the city for the ordination services and her address was supported by several local speakers.

BON FIRE STARTED AFTER QUEEN'S VICTORY

Firermen Given a Call to Extinguish Blaze on Princess Street.

Some enthusiastic football fans started a bon fire on Princess street between Montreal and Bagot streets, late Saturday afternoon, in honor of Queen's victory over 'Varsity.

During the excitement a call was sent into the fire department as it was feared that damage might result from the fire, but the firemen soon had it extinguished.

A chimney fire at the home of Miss Whitehead, 114 Lower Bagot street, gave the firemen a run at noon on Saturday.

At 11:50 o'clock Saturday night, the firemen were given another run to the foot of Brock street, when an auto owned by Leo Gallagher suffered slight damage.

TALKED ON MISSIONS.

Laymen Filled Methodist Pulpits on Sunday.

Irwin Hilliard, Morrisburg, gave very practical addresses on the missionary work of the Methodist church in Sydenham and Queen Street Methodist churches on Sunday. He spoke with knowledge of the work in the foreign and home fields. In Canada the churches were seeking to convey the gospel to the outskirts of civilization and to assimilate the great foreign populations in the north-west. The cause was worthy of the support of every lover of Canada.

Mr. Hilliard is a lawyer, a loyal church worker and has a son and daughter in the foreign fields. He was heard with interest as he had a pointed, inspiring message to deliver.

In Princess street church Elmer Davis disclosed the missionary accomplishments and the need for earnest support.

Low Meat Prices.
Meat prices are low in Minneapolis, judging by the advertisements in newspapers published in that city, received by Jeff Lovett. The advertisement quotes round, sirloin port-house and club steak at 19 cents per pound; bacon by the strip, 25 cents; pot roast seven cents; milk yeast roast 9 cents; picnic ham, 11 cents; pork shoulder roast 11 cents; rolled rib roast 17 cents. "The quality is absolutely guaranteed," says the advertisement.

Harvest Thanksgiving services were held in St. George's cathedral on Sunday, the Dean of Ontario being the celebrant at the eight o'clock Eucharist and the Bishop of Ontario at eleven o'clock when Redhead's devotional office for the Holy Communion was beautifully sung. The soloists were C. E. S. Harvey, Eytton Warburton and Arnold Fair. The anthem "Ye shall Go Forth with Joy" (Barnaby) was very fine.

The preacher was the Bishop of Keewatin, who reminded his hearers that they met in the house of God to give thanks for the bountiful harvest as they met there at Bogontide to pray for His blessing on the seed then being sown. The prayer "Give us, this day our daily bread" was on the lips of many people and in the hearts of others who expressed it by honest effort and in the faith, in the promise that "seed-time and harvest shall not cease." But we need food for more than the body. We have a three-fold nature. Body, soul and spirit. How does God provide for the needs of our complex nature? He uses men to supply men's needs. Very beautifully the bishop described the multitude on the shores of Galilee being fed by the Christ who answered the disciples' request that they be sent home, by the order to bid them sit on the grass and to find food for them. When the disciples had done their best he multiplied the loaves and fishes to meet the need and said, "Give Ye Them to Eat." That has always been the Lord's plan. He sends men from many lands to cultivate the great wheat fields of the west, men to carry the food to feed the world. He sends teachers in schools and colleges to feed men's minds and others he commissions to carry the Bread of Life to those hungering and thirsting for the ministrations of their church in the far places of the world.

The bishop spoke of the tiny churches in his northern diocese, to which men came miles for the services, the church crowded and hundreds waiting outside. "We don't fear anything about long services there," said the bishop, "the services last nearly all day when I go—confirmation, holy communion and a sermon—and no one wants to go home. My problem is to provide food for the men who minister to the settlers and bring them the food they crave for their souls."

Rev. T. W. Savary, rector of St. James' church, was the preacher at evensong, and his sermon showed Christ as the heavenly sower who waits with patience for the natural growth of the seed till the harvest of the world is ripe when He sends His angels with sickles to gather the wheat into the barns.

The cathedral was suitably decorated with grain, grapes and flowers.
