Brief Items of Interest Picked Up by the Whig Reporters.

There was no session of the police court on Saturday morning. Get one of our Simmons' special outfits at $2.75. James Reid's. Principal Dyde is to preach anniversary services in Lansdowne Presbyterian church on Sunday. Mr. Swain, piano tuner. Orders received at 100 Clergy street west, Caleb Nash, Kingston, has been visiting his mother and other friends in Wellington. D. W. Way has returned to Kingston, after spending some time with relatives in Wilson Settlement, N.Y. Mrs. W. F. Clark, Cape Vincent, N.Y., was called to Sydenham by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Fattie Brooks. See our $8.50 Simmons' Mattresses in all sizes at James Reid's. Hollyhocks in flower were noticed in a downtown garden on Saturday, having escaped the severe frost of this week. November 10th is very late for those big plants to bloom. Call and see the display of fancy stamped goods, baby's knitted goods and woollens for Christmas gifts at Ethel E. McCullagh's, 351 Princess street. At Y.W.C.A., World's Week of Fellowship and Prayer to be held next week at the building. Mrs. Jonathan Dorfth, Honan, China, will be the speaker. Further notice will be given. Special reductions on all Simmons' beds, springs and mattresses at James Reid's. The firemen were called to the home of John Hingey, Erkin avenue, about 11 o'clock on Friday night, for a fire which had started back of a sideboard. The sideboard and wall were severely scorched.

CATTLE POISONED

Richard Arthur, Latimer, Loses Five Valuable Animals. A cattle poisoner is at work at Latimer and Richard Arthur, a prominent breeder of thoroughbred registered Durhams, lost five of his valuable animals this week. They were all heifers, two two-year-olds and three yearlings. The cattle were pastured on the Taylor farm and word reached Mr. Arthur on Monday that two of his cattle were dead. He took the animals out of the pasture and three more that showed symptoms of illness died. Dr. G. W. Bell, Kingston veterinary surgeon, was called and diagnosed the cases as poisoning, and laboratory tests made at Queen's University confirmed this. How was the poison administered and by whom? This is the question that has aroused feelings among the farmers of Latimer. Mr. Arthur is of the opinion that it was probably used in salt that cattle always lick up greedily without leaving any trace. His suspicions are not directed against any particular individual and there is no clue at the present time.

To-Day's Blunder Corrected

(See Illustration on Page 18.) A bowler should never walk in front of another bowler who is getting ready to send his ball down the alley. Such an action helps to destroy the accuracy of a shot and is highly discourteous and unparliamentary.

Poultry Show Results.

W. J. Arnel won first pullet in the barred rock instead of H. L. Hicks, who won third pullet. S. Campbell won second hen in Bantams (Rose Combs), not first, as previously listed. The Kingston Industrial coop has not yet been awarded.

Beginning At The Wrong End Is The Wrong Beginning

Jones was given a good cigar—and he lit the wrong end. He puffed and sputtered—and then he fumed some because the cigar didn't. Of course the laugh was on Jones. He decided then and there that it pays to look at the right end of things. The time might come when getting hold of the wrong end would mean something more dolorful than missing the enjoyment of a cool Havana. People who begin things right turn daily to the Whig's A-B-C Classified Section. They find offers to buy at economy prices linked with opportunities to sell at profitable figures. They are burning with a desire to succeed—and they make good use of the only place where Opportunity is classified and indexed for quick reference. You, too, may "smoke" out Opportunity by regularly reading—and regularly heading—the advantageous offers which the people of Kingston and vicinity place before you in the A-B-C Classified Section.
