MAKES HIS HENS LAY.

Kingston Fancier Has Success With Electric Lights.

"If you don't believe that electric lights will make the hens lay during the winter months, then try it," was the statement of a poultry fancier to a representative of the Whig on

The man stated that when he built his hen-house a few years ago he was advised to install electric lights and he was certain the egg production was increased. On Monday evening about eight o'clock he found two eggs in the nest and the next evening he was surprised to find another egg which had been laid beween six and eight o'clock.

In most cases the hens are allowed to go to roost when the sun goes down, and the lights are turned on about six o'clock and the hens are given their evening meal. It is very advisable to have lots of straw in the hen house and make the hens work for all the grain they get. If they are allowed to get fat, the egg production soon drops off.

HEARTLESSLY DUPED.

Finds Supposed Father-in-Law Had

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Nov. 29 .-Calling upon a physician in a neighboring village whom she believed to be her father-in-law, a young woman who, with a two-year-old child, arrived here a few days ago from the west, discovered that the man she had travelled across the continent to visit had no married son, and had never heard of her. In her story to the local authorities, the woman said that she was the wife of a school teacher in the west, who had lost his position, and had, with the help of the school trustees, sent his wife to the home of his father in Prince Edward Island, for shelter, while he sought employment in the United States. She had left the west with her ticket and $15 in cash. As far as can be ascertained the woman has been heartlessly duped. and the situation is rendered more pathetic by the fact that immediate admissioon to a maternity hospital was necessary. She has been taken care of in a local hospital, and her child sent to an orphanage.

May Lose Both His Feet

Brandon, Man., Nov. 29 .- Without friends or money, "Willie" Jones, 19-year-old British harvester, grew tired of life two weeks ago and decided to die. He crawled into a straw stack on a farm near Rapid City, Man., and was found Monday with both feet so bad;y frozen that they will probably have to be amputated. Jones is now in the hospital at Brandon. The boy maintains he was in the stack for two weeks.

care is taken to make these frame or "ground" contacts as perfect as possible and they usually remain O. K. until they are disturbed. When, for any reason they have been broken by removing the device through which they are made, there is always a possibility that they may not be properly re-established. Ground connections for the lamps are made through their brackets and unless they are tight and the metal surfaces clean, the lamps will burn dim. Upon the battery ground connection depends the working of the entire electrical systems, and this and all other ground contacts must be kept clean and tight.
