The annual Christmas sale of the Church Woman's Aid of St. George's cathedral is always an important event in the cathedral parish and on Thursday St. George's Hall was crowded during the afternoon with buyers, not only the members of the parish, but with representatives from every other congregation in the city.

Elliott were in charge of the piles of aprons and Miss Frances Cartwright presided over the "Touch-and-Take" table. Near her was Mrs. A. N. Lee, who sold the lovely rose, pink and yellow butterflies that were really lamp shades and disappeared early in the afternoon.

Dame Clara Butt and her party, including her husband, Kennerly Rumford, arrived in Kingston today in their private car, "The Supurb," the car used by the late President Harding when he travelled on the Canadian Pacific Railway.

That already the little folks are gazing with longing eyes at the wonderful collection of toys in the shop windows. Everything from a ball to a Ma-Ma doll and a real or almost real train can be found in Kingston's toy shops, never so well stocked as they are this year.

That a peep of the sun was vouchsafed to us on Thursday for the first time in several days. Never mind, we will have cold weather and sunshine too before December is over.

That the fashion of wearing the hair very close to the head is not becoming to many women. When will people learn to wear their hair in the way that suits their face and the hair dressers aim at beauty of line instead of fashion?

That the Woman's Institutes throughout the country are thinking of those who cannot do much towards making a merry Christmas for themselves and many a home will be the happier for their seasonable aid.

That Father likes a Christmas present as well as any one, but he doesn't like to get the bill as a New Year's gift.

That the children in the Orphans' Home will have several tea treats at Christmas as well as the usual dinner which is a feature of the day itself.

Cornered.

The bazaar was in full swing when a young man strolled round the stalls. He had no intention of buying anything. As he passed a tastefully decorated stall, the pretty saleswoman detained him.

"Won't you buy a cigarette-holder?" she asked.

"No, thank you, I don't smoke," was the curt reply.

"Or a pen-wiper worked by my own hands?"

"I don't write."

"Then do have this nice box of chocolates."

"I don't eat sweets."

The young woman's patience was exhausted.

"Sir," she said grimly, "will you buy this box of soap?"

The young man paid up.

MAY GET ORDER OF MERIT There is an agitation in Great Britain to admit Eileen Perry, the famous actress, to the Order of Merit, the most exclusive order in the Empire, in recognition of her unique career. The death of Christopher Morley leaves a vacancy. No woman has ever received the Order of Merit so far.

RECEPTION TO FRONTENAC MEMBER AND HIS BRIDE

United Farmers Welcomed W. S. Reed, M.P., and Mrs. Reed at Harrowsmith.

The United Farmers' Association of Frontenac gave a reception for W. S. Reed, M.P., and his bride in the town hall at Harrowsmith on Thursday evening on the occasion of their return from their honeymoon. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags and streamers. Mr. and Mrs. Reed occupied a place on the platform and about three hundred persons were present representing every township from Clarendon and Miller in the north to Wolfe Island in the south. The ladies were beautifully gowned. A procession was formed from the rear of the hall to the platform and as the people filed past they were introduced to Mr. and Mrs. Reed, to whom they conveyed warm greetings and best wishes for long life and happiness. Mrs. Reed was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses.

The Harmony Six orchestra played throughout the evening. A splendid dinner was served in Fair's Hotel, and there toasts were drunk to "The King," "The Bride and Groom" and "Canada." Lieut.-Col. F. S. Ferguson acted as toastmaster, and John D. Shibley was master of ceremonies.

Nothing could deter the enthusiastic greeting to Mr. and Mrs. Reed, who occupy a warm place in the affections of the people of Frontenac county. Rain fell during the afternoon and evening, but it did not keep the people away. They came to Harrowsmith by train and motor cars, all being bent on showing their attachment to the member in giving a fitting welcome to his wife. No public man in Frontenac ever received such an ovation. Mrs. Reed was formerly Miss Moir, Bell Rock.

What one of us blames in another, each will find in his own breast.

GOOD home-made bread has always been the chief food of the earth's sturdiest races. None of the breakfast foods or health foods can equal bread in nourishment. Good bread is the most digestible food as well as the cheapest.

A Visit to the General Hospital

A visit to the Empire wing of the Kingston General Hospital is quite worth while for those who have not seen the improvements made in the last few months. A bright young nurse took us into the new rooms, with their cheerful chintz hangings, shining bathrooms and pretty furniture, and then to the sun parlor where some patients were enjoying a view of the lake and a change from the room, that attractive as it is, grows monotonous as the days of its occupation grow into weeks. Then we were taken down a passage to the new service building where things are up-to-date and the kitchen an attractive place with big copper boilers, a potato paring machine, and a dish washer, the flagged floor and shining enamelled tables making the presence of a germ of any kind impossible. The diet kitchen, where some of the nurses were preparing trays for the patients, was also the pink of neatness, and the trays and their contents just what should be sent to a sick room. A peep into the various dining rooms was of interest. The house surgeons' and matrons' room is small but bright, the room for the special nurses about the same size as the dining room of the nurses-in-training—comfortable but large. The maids and orderlies have also a pleasant place in which to eat their meals. Every thing is spotless, and it will be a comfort to know that if we have to go to an hospital there is one in our own city where at least we are sure of absolute cleanliness.

USES ICE AS BEAUTIFIER.

Lady Diana Manners Gives Secret to Reporter.

New York, Dec. 7.—How she discovered the secret of beauty, Mrs. Duff Cooper—formerly Lady Diana Manners—refused to say, but as she stood yesterday in a huge stadium, waiting to rehearse her lead in the stage spectacle, "The Miracle," she pointed a peach bloom cheek with a round, smooth crystal lump and confessed her recipe to a breathless girl reporter.

"Ice," she whispered, "the magic formula. That's it, ice. Whenever I

PRACTISING

At the piano seated down, His brows contracted in a frown, With shoulders bent and eyes that look First at his fingers, then the book, A youth is striving, might and main, His music lesson to attain, With audible monotony, He's droning out, "It's one, two three, It's one, two, three," but there he sticks; He cannot get the "four, five six." He writhes and twists, then starts once more, But comes out worse than e'er before; Sharps, flats and naturals, conspire His fingers, and his brain, to tire, While discords come so thick and fast, That, sore perplexed, he sits aghast. His friend, meanwhile, the music (?) hears, And tries to close his tortured ears, But all in vain, John won't give o'er. "It's one, two, three; it's two, three, four." His mother sighs, Oh! woe's the day On which John said, "I'll learn to play." Alas! alas! his sister wails, "He's going to try the minor scales! We can't stand that! Their dismal tones, Will quite distract us, with their moans." So, off she quickly runs, to say: "You've practiced well—now go and play." Well pleased, the youth turns with And says, "I'll have them soon, by heart. My fingers ache just now, but soon I'll play for you another tune."
