The "Y" was especially favored on Friday evening for Santa Claus inside his first appearance at a Christmas tree in the cozy club room, where a blazing fire welcomed the merry party gathered there. It was the annual tree given by the Board for the clubs of the "Y" and the Girl's Fellowship Club, the Recreation Club and the Unity Corps were the guest. A gorgeous tree was up in one corner of the room, lighted by electricity and decked with gay tinsel and streamers. It also held a present for every one. Mrs. Grant Cadhead read a most delightful fairy story, "The Christmas Rose" and read it beautifully. Then with a jingle of bells, Santa arrived in a brand new blanket suit that will not be so fresh when the holiday season is over, for it will be kept busy in Kingston this year. He was in the best of spirits and soon shouts of laughter were heard. When everyone had received a lovely gift the contralto soloist of the Girl's Fellowship Club was presented with a big box which proved to contain a piano, not as large as it might be, but large enough for the little cottage at U-Anto Camp. With many thanks to the members of the Board the party broke after the refreshments were served.

On Friday afternoon the Bishop of Ontario and Mrs. E. J. Bidwell entertained at the hour at Bishop's Court to introduce their fourth daughter, Miss Peggy Bidwell to Kingston society. The bright young debutante received with her mother and father in the drawing-room wearing a frock of rose embroidered voile and carrying an armful of pink roses. A fire blazed cheerily in the long dining room where the tea tables centred with white narcissi in a silver basket was presided over by Mrs. Philip Du Moulin and Mrs. A. N. Lyster. In the library, Mrs. F. E. Dench and Mrs. P. G. C. Campbell cut the tea. The tea assistants were Miss Laura Kilborn, Miss Mary Ogilvie, Miss Helen Tofteld, Miss Gwendolyn and Miss Doris Folger, Miss Mary Macgillivray, Miss Louise Hill, Miss Harriet Gardiner, Miss Gwendolyn Dawson, Miss Marjorie Evans, Miss Nancy Murray, Miss Helen Steacy, Miss Elizabeth Lyster, Miss Kitty and Miss Jessie Torrance and Miss Barbara Bidwell. The reception was a large one about one hundred and fifty guests enjoying the hospitality of Bishop's Court.

Mrs. J. E. Kane received in her pretty home on Brock street on Thursday afternoon for the first time since her marriage, wearing a smart frock of gold liberty silk and a string of amber beads. She was assisted in the receiving by Mrs. Edward Ryan, who was gowned in black crepe, heavily beaded. A bright fire glowed on the hearth and ferns and fragrant narcissi were about the room. In the dining room, where Mrs. R. N. F. McFarlane and Mrs. Ambrose Shea poured tea, the color scheme was yellow and blue, blue candles in brass sticks and daffodils in vases making an effective decoration. The tea assistants were Miss Beesie and Miss Dot Kane, Miss Anita Walsh and Miss Ethel May Sutherland. Blue candles lighted the hall where little Miss Marlon Mackenzie, in a pink georgette frock, opened the door for the many visitors.

Science '27 gave the social evening of the week in Grant Hall on Friday. The patronesses were Mrs. W. C. Baker, Mrs. W. V. Bell and Mrs. Douglas Ellis. The committee was Messrs R. W. Drayton, J. H. Findley, W. Gayman and H. St. Modett. The affair was an excellently pleasant one, and the music of the Tri-color Sextette excellent and inspiring.

Mrs. I. G. Bogart is entertaining at dinner this evening for Miss Thelma Bogart at the Frontenac Club, when her guests will include some of the Queen's students of her daughter's year.

Miss Sibbald Hamilton, Earl street, is entertaining at tea this afternoon for Miss Doris Donnelly, a bride of next week.

WOMAN'S INSTITUTE.

Mountain Grove. The regular meeting of the Mountain Grove Institute was held at the Methodist parsonage on Wednesday afternoon. Quite a number were in attendance. After the usual commencement exercises plans were formulated to make Christmas brighter for several little ones in the community that Santa sometimes misses on his journey.

Considerable time was spent on debating on "What to offer as a prize for school-fair competition," no decision was reached and it was laid over until more suggestions were forthcoming.

A grant of ten dollars was given to the Methodist Sunday school in the community to help defray expenses for good literature to distribute.

One pleasant and yet sad feature of the meeting was the tendering of an address and presentation to one of the old and faithful members of the Institute in the person of Mrs. J. French, who will shortly leave for her new home at Forrest Mills, Mrs. French being also a valued member of the Ladies' Aid—the two organizations united in the presentation. Mrs. J. D. Clark, president of the W. I. read the address, which spoke very forcibly in the loss they were sustaining by the departure of such a faithful member, and co-worker of both societies. Mrs. D. J. Cronk, president of the Ladies' Aid, presented her with a beautiful linen table-cloth, with napkins to match. Mrs. French was deeply moved and made a very suitable reply, after which the members sang: "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Rev. Mr. Findell was on hand with some very fine apples as a treat and then the ladies served ample refreshments with coffee. A very sociable time was spent.

St. George's, Chalmers and St. James' Sunday schools have a gift service on one of the Sundays in Advent when the children bring gifts that are distributed among the less fortunate children of the city. Queen Street Methodist Sunday school scholars also bring gifts for distribution to the church and following a reverent and beautiful custom, lay them in a manger. Sydenham street divides the work of providing for those who need a helping hand by each class taking a family to look after, and so on through the city, every church and almost all societies help along the good work for giving everyone a happy Christmas.

Then the Christmas trees in nearly all the Sunday schools are delightful affairs. The Salvation army gives a big tree and send out baskets also. A huge tree is to be set up on the market square this year and presents for every car placed on it by the Kiwanis Club. The tree for the children of the men of the R.C.H.A., arranged by the wives of the officers, is a yearly and very delightful event and the employees of the Royal Military College also have a tree given for their little ones. The Orphan's Home is beginning early with the Christmas gaieties—the week is full of parties. The Anglican Girls Club of Queen's University gives a treat on Monday and other surprises are being arranged for the little ones. The big Christmas tree, which is a yearly event, will come later and on Christmas day the usual Christmas dinner will be served. The babies at the Home for Friendless Women and Children are too small to realize much of the meaning of the day, but the home is always gaily decorated and a Christmas dinner served and everyone gets a present. At St. Mary's-on-the-Lake a fine tree is set up and after the dinner on Christmas day, Santa Clause arrives to distribute the gifts. The Orphan's Guild gives $100 towards the Christmas festivities.

THE WRAPPING OF GIFTS

A Post Office Official Tells the People How to Avoid Trouble.

There's a right way and a wrong way to tie up Christmas parcels for sending through the mails. "The public should not rely on old pieces of twine and old brown paper which they have tucked away during the year, that is if they are really keen about the parcels they send reaching their destinations," cautioned an official. "For stuff that is not perishable, good, strong, new wrapping paper and new string is what is needed, and it is a fine idea to stay all parcels with cardboard. Please remember, also, that in case a parcel should come undone, it is a life saver for it if the address is also tucked safely inside—it gives us fellows a chance. "Post office clerks always look at the right hand side, top or bottom, for the address where the parcel is to be sent, and in the upper left hand corner for that of the sender. For other goods mailed we strongly urge the use of corrugated boxes for safety. If the parcels are going to eastern countries where it is warm and contents are perishable, it is better to have the corrugated boxes sewn up in cloth. For the Old Country, strongly corrugated paper, as I said before, stayed with cardboard, is the best way. "If people would only remember that once they have pushed their parcels into postal receptacles that that is but the beginning of the journey it would help a lot. You can well imagine how many times that selfsame bundle has to change hands, go on trains, ships too, perhaps, and be tossed about, and the sender naturally likes to picture the recipient as looking delighted when the gifts arrive—the burning question is, "do they."

Reinforced Parcels. Amongst articles enumerated were mentioned, canes and umbrellas so often carelessly mailed. These should always be reinforced with strong pieces of wood, he said. "Shoes always should always be mailed in boxes with sufficient paper tucked in the corners of the box to prevent them bumping around," he said. "So often the wrappings comes off or the heels or toes poke through the covering which eventually parts company from them—then indeed they are lost. Hats, of all things, are most precarious and every precaution should be taken in packing—not in delicate light boxes, but in strong ones well filled top with tissue paper to keep them steady. "Above all things, write out the name 'Kingston' and not put 'city.' Just supposing the letter in some way slips inside another big one, and goes out of town. What then? And avoid abbreviations. It doesn't take much longer to write out Sas-katchewan or Saskatoon. It saves confusion and much worry for us."

TRYING TO MAKE ALL HAPPY AT CHRISTMAS

What the Churches, Charitable Bodies and Others Will Soon Be Doing.

Already the children of Kingston hear in their dreams the jingle of the bells that herald the coming of Santa Claus. As one small boy said, "Oh, yes, Santa Claus is making toys all the time and will bring them in his pack at Christmas." But it is not to the good St. Nicholas that the world owes the Christmas spirit of giving, but to Him whose name the great feast bears. To Babe of Bethlehem, who two thousand years ago lay in the rude manger of the Judean village inn while the angels sang, "Glory to God in the Highest and on earth, peace good will to men." From the far east came the princes bringing gifts to God's greatest gift to men, and ever since men have kept the birthday of the Incarnate Son of God by fulfilling His law of love and remembering it was he who said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." The children are always first in our thought at the birthday of the Christ Child, and this year all the schools and Sunday schools in the city will do something to make others happy.

St. George's, Chalmers and St. James' Sunday schools have a gift service on one of the Sundays in Advent when the children bring gifts that are distributed among the less fortunate children of the city. Queen Street Methodist Sunday school scholars also bring gifts for distribution to the church and following a reverent and beautiful custom, lay them in a manger. Between the Welfare Station and the district nursing, few organizations in Kingston come as close to those in need as the Victorian Order.

Through them many kindly men and women reach those who would be indeed sad and lonely if no one came to their aid and the V. O. N. say an amazing amount of aid is received by them from the citizens. From an alderman they have, during the last three years, received $200 worth of milk tickets for the under-nourished children of the district. Several confectioners see that they get the cake and buns that are a day old, and church and charity societies give them the food left after their entertainments. But this is not confined to Christmas, as is the splendid tea to be given to the mothers at the Y.M.C.A. S. T. Lilley is a firm friend of the V.O.N., his class at the "Y.M." contributing annually to the Christmas treat, and he has a kindly welcome for them at this big party where hundreds of women enjoy a concert and a tea. Earlier in the afternoon, on Dec. 22nd, the children of the V.O.N. Sewing Class at the Welfare Station will be given their Christmas treat of candles and oranges. As well as all these festivities, the V.O.N. send baskets to the needy, distribute the toys from St. James' gift service and send little sentinels to the sick.

At the Y.W.C.A., the board gave the girls' club a fine Christmas tree on Friday evening and the Girl's Fellowship Club have made money enough to send out more than one hundred baskets to those who need them. The Rotary Club has for three years provided shoes and stockings for the poor. The other societies would have to go to school without proper covering for their feet or stay at home, and it is hoped by the V. O. N. who have had to do with the distribution of this much needed gift, that this will be the fourth year they will have the pleasure of seeing the delight of parents and children at the latter receiving a fine new pair of shoes for school.

And the Christmas spirit of love is not satisfied with responding to the words of the Christ, "I was an hungry and ye gave me meat, naked and ye clothed me," but goes on further to "I was sick and ye visited me," for in every hospital in Kingston the weary, lonely, sick folk have the love of God brought home to them by the love of man. The wards of the General hospital are decorated by the young people's societies of the various churches. Victoria circle of The King's Daughters give a fine tea for some of the ward patients, special dinners are served on Christmas Day and this year, Miss Elsie Mackenzie, of the Girls' Fellowship Club of the "Y," has taught the Sunshine Club to make cunning Santa Clauses from apples, nuts and raisins, and the children of the club will take them to the wards. St. James' Girls' Auxiliary decorates a ward and gives a treat to the patients and St. George's A.Y.P.A. decorates St. George's ward. The Lord-A-Hand Circle gives a treat of candy. At the Hotel Dieu the wards are decorated and a crib in memory of the infant Christ placed in each ward. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Hotel Dieu has voted $100 towards the Christmas dinners for the patients.

At the House of Providence Christmas trees for the old folk are to be set up in the wards and Christmas decorations are everywhere. A special Christmas dinner will be served and a happy time spent by those who otherwise would only have memories of other days to dwell upon. At the Home for the Aged much the same Christmas will be spent and a spirit of cheer will prevail. Gifts will be provided for those whose only home it is, and every effort made to make the day a happy one.

To men to whom our country owes a debt that can never be paid, who have come back from the inferno of the trenches, from the shriek of the wounded and the noise of battle and all the indescribable horrors of war, bearing still in their bodies the wounds received in the defence of the empire, will be honored guests at our Christmas board. For them plans are being made that will result, we hope, in them forgetting, for the time at least, their past and present suffering. The various chapters of the I.O.D.E. are joining forces and will give each man in Mowat hospital, including those who have just arrived, the very thing he wants at the big Christmas tree which will be the special feature of the Christmas festivities at the sanatorium. George Richardson Chapter will tie the packages up as delicately as they would one for their dearest friend, and the men may be sure just as many good wishes will go in with the gift, and as well give a present to all the soldiers in the other hospitals. The Red Cross will see that every soldier patient in the Hotel Dieu, Rockwood Hospital, or in their homes, whether they will be in town for Christmas or not, will be remembered.

And so will we keep the birthday of the Christ Child in our old grey city and those who have remembered His words "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me," will hear with joy in hush of the Christmas morn the carol that has come, all ye faithful, I ET AOIN been sung through the ages:

"O, Come all ye faithful, Joyful and triumphant O, come ye, O, come ye, To Bethlehem."

After Nights Of Coughing Sleep Comes At Last

Home Made Cough Mixture Best of All

The cough that hangs on and hangs on—the cough you've taken everything for with no result, is just the cough that your own home made cough mixture will end speedily. Make a supply yourself in a few minutes and keep it on hand this winter—a half pint doesn't cost much—it's better than any you can buy, and the kiddies love it. It's a fine remedy for chest colds and acute nasal catarrh. That some of the Christmas table decorations are splendid this year and show an originality that is most attractive.

That Mrs. Pankhurst and Miss Howson are to be congratulated on their narrow escape from being killed at Belleville. Miss Howson, who was driving, is a splendid chauffeur and evidently it was by her presence of mind that the party was saved from death.

That New York modistes are busily designing gowns for Christmas weddings. This season the bridal gown is a snow-and-icicle affair; shimmering white satin of ice-like brilliancy, overlaid by heavy snow-drift velvet in panels and decorated with frost crystals of rhinestones.

That a round of fashionable London places to-day proves that flowers—real ones—are coming into fashion again. One big blossom is pinned to the shoulder, or a few long-stemmed blossoms are carried negligently in the hand.

LADY MEMBERS OF THE Y.M.C.A. FORM BASKETBALL LEAGUE.

As an evidence of the keen interest of the ladies in the privileges afforded at the Y.M.C.A., a basketball league was formed on Friday night and five teams will compete throughout the coming season, in what promises to be a most interesting schedule. The teams are: Miss Miller, captain; Misses Doak, D. Copley, M. Horne, N. Thurston, I. Leslie, F. Conger. Miss R. Steacy, captain, Misses F. MacDonald, G. M. Clow, G. Mooney, E. Dawson, L. Coulter, I. McLean.

Five players will be played by each team in every game, giving two or three spares for each team, new members to be added as they appear on the gymnasium floor. The games will be played at the close of each class period on Wednesday nights.

New Method Of Reducing Fat

A news item from abroad informs us that the American method of producing a slim, trim figure is meeting with astonishing success. This system, which has made such a wonderful impression over there, must be the Marmola Prescription Tablet method of reducing fat. It is safe to say that we have nothing better for this purpose in this country. Anything that will reduce the excess flesh steadily and easily without injury to the stomach or the causing of wrinkles and without the help of exercising, dieting or interference with one's meals is a mighty important and useful addition to civilization's necessities. Just such a catalogue of good results follow the use of these pleasant, harmless and economical little fat reducers. We say economical because Marmola Prescription Tablets (made in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription) can be obtained any druggist the world over or from the Marmola Company, 4512 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich., for one dollar a box, which is a decidedly economical price, considering the number of tablets each box contains. They are harmless.
