CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Uncle Ray.

Some Italian Cities Win Freedom. The Emperor of Germany and Italy had a hard time during the Middle Ages. Almost all the time there was a revolt going on somewhere in his empire.

In Italy, he often came to blows with the pope, who claimed a good deal of the land. Besides the pope in Italy, there were hard to manage Milan, Pisa, Genoa, Florence and Venice were five cities which broke away from the emperor. They said they would rule themselves. Quite a few smaller towns did the same thing.

As you would expect, the German emperor fought to get them back; but they were tough fighters and beat him off.

A man who lived in Milan wrote down some "facts about the city." He said there were 200,000 people there. If so, Milan was bigger than the American city of New Haven, and twice as big as Duluth.

That same writer said there were 13,000 houses in Milan. That would make about 15 persons to a house. There were supposed to be 200 doctors and 80 schoolmasters.

Italian cities boasted of a number of good-looking houses, in which lived the richer citizens. Heavy walls of stone, with towers here and there, kept away enemy armies.

As a rule, each town was governed by "consuls." They got the name from the men who used to govern Rome. Some towns, like Rome, had two consuls. Others had from four to twelve.

People in the free cities often grew excited over law cases. If the judge said a man should be punished, the man's family and friends were likely to shout:

"No! He must not be punished! The judge is not fair!"

Then there would be a battle to set the prisoner free.

In an effort to make law cases go smoothly, men from out of town were often chosen for judges. They were not supposed to have any relatives or close friends inside the city walls. They were not even allowed to eat or drink in the house of a citizen.

This system helped to calm things, but it did not cure all trouble. Prisoners were torn from the hands of their keepers. The judge sent officers of the law to catch them at their homes. Sometimes the house was burned. This caused still more ill-feeling.

In spite of such events, the cities of northern Italy kept their freedom for hundreds of years. They became stronger and stronger.

TO-DAY'S FASHION

By Vera Winston.

Todays fashions—diawuaP Soft Apricot Satin is the Chief Charm of This Simple Evening Gown.

So many women complain of the difficulty of finding unusual shades for evening. They feel that after the conventional pinks and blue and whites are used there are few shades left. Have you ever considered apricot? There's a peculiar quality about this tone that makes it flattering to a number of complexions. This model of soft apricot satin is simply made, adding a touch of self material and ornaments of gold and their finishing touches.

Fire broke out on Wednesday evening at Bannockburn, when the building, belonging to the late Stanley Smelling Co., was burned to the ground. In the building there were also two cows both being destroyed.

A little daughter of Mrs. M. Grooms, Deseronto, fell from a train, and went between the car and the station platform. The conductor held her from going under the train. She had a close call.

ULSTER AND THE SOUTH. Stephen Gwynne in London Observer. Ulster is not demonstrative but it was novel and pleasant to see in the Belfast Telegraph a leading article in praise of the Lord Mayor of Dublin, who with perhaps doubtful legality but undoubted courage has declared that he will rule out of order from the start any proposal to increase salaries while people are starving; and consequently he allowed no discussion on the Report of a Committee on Electrical Supply. Also in a debate in the Belfast Y.M.C.A. one of the Labor members in the Northern Parliament advocated the view that an opposition in that body would be very useful, and said plainly that Mr. Devlin if he came in might play "a very beneficial part." This also has been said very often in private conversation; it is an advance to get public frankness in the North as well as in the South. I note also that Belfast is congratulating itself because once more Lord Pirrie's yard has the leading output of all shipbuilding firms, and because the Harbor Board is going to spend £100,000 in further improvements. Over and above this, there have been long-continued festivities to celebrate Lord Castlereagh's coming-of-age. The North is very anxious to keep its big houses open and the old families in them. I think there is a great deal more of the same spirit in the South than is commonly believed.

Miss Lizzie Riseley, daughter of Alfred Riseley, South Mountain, and M. I. Lameront, son of Mrs. Sophia Lameront, Brockville, were married on Tuesday.

A Health Secret

It is frequently claimed by physicians that nine-tenths of all human ills may be traced to neglect to keep the bowels regular and the liver and kidneys active. The result is an accumulation of poisons in the system which cause pains and aches and give rise to such dreaded diseases as appendicitis, Bright's disease, diabetes, high blood pressure, etc. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the ideal regulators of these vital organs because they act directly on the liver, kidneys and bowels, and ensure a thorough cleansing of the system. You will notice that while the price of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has been increased to 35 cents, the box now contains 35 pills instead of 25 as formerly. Likewise Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is 50 cents a box of 60 pills, instead of 50 cents a box of 50 pills. Edmanson, Bates & Co. Ltd., Tor. Ont.
