BELLEVILLE DEFEATED IN VERY FAST MATCH

Kingston Bay of Quinte Team 2-1 Victors in Over-time.

The very small group of fans who braved the zero weather to see the Bay of Quinte league Saturday night...

There was a splendid sheet of ice ready for the players when they came out but most of them appeared with heavy wraps on their heads...

Play had been going but a few minutes when Kingston claimed a goal but the goal judge disallowed it.

Before the period ended Watts made sure of one and the locals went off the ice one in the lead.

During the whole game only one penalty was handed out and that to Tommy Anroove, of the local team, for a little too stiff body check near the boards.

Ritchie took a bad fall in the second period when, after a headlong rush in which Scott only saved a Hard Luck, Bill!

Chamonix, France, Jan. 26.—William Hewitt, manager of Canadian Olympic hockey team and sporting editor of the Toronto Star, also the secretary of the Ontario Hockey Association, to-day lost the second vice-presidency of the International Hockey League on the toss of a coin.

The rules provide that one of the vice-presidents must be from the Western Hemisphere. William S. Haddock, manager of the United States team, said to Hewitt: "I'll toss you for it."

Windsor Jockey club, after a year's absence, will be back in the Canadian Racing association circuit this year.

The Ontario Jockey club will, as usual, open the season at the Woodbine (Toronto) track May 17th. Windsor's dates are July 12th to 19th in the spring programme and August 19th to 26th in the fall races.

MONTREAL UNIVERSITY PLANS ARE DISCLOSED

Hockey Arena and Outdoor Sports Stadium Considered for the Near Future.

That Montreal will soon have another first-class arena, and perhaps a big stadium for sport, was intimated at a delightful little informal function held in the Cercle Universitaire, on St. Hubert street, this week, at which the Athletic Association of the University of Montreal were the hosts and the sporting writers of the local press, the guests.

Edouard Montpetit, the secretary of the university, in a few words explained the idea of the gathering and thanked the guests of the occasion for the assistance they had given the university athletic work thus far.

He gave the first intimation of the new arena and from what he said, he may be counted upon as one of the first and large contributors towards the building fund.

Dr. Lanthier, one of the directors of the Athletic Association, spoke in English and added to the expression of views for a broad outlook in the matter of University of Montreal athletics in the near future.

Rugby football, in which many French-Canadians had shone in the past, would again be taken up, and they were now trying to form a golf team, of sufficiently high calibre to feel not ashamed of competing with other collegiate teams.

Dr. Dubeau emphasized the need of complete obligatory physical education in universities, a thing for which the faculty and Board of Control of the Athletic Association were now working, and which, as a natural sequence, would mean an arena, and perhaps a stadium and specially fitted up gymnasium.

He too expressed himself as prepared to be one of the first and the generous contributors to the building fund which would probably be started in earnest in a week or two.

Dr. Villeneuve followed him in English, and after telling one of his amusing anecdotes, also dwelt largely upon the continuous effort that would be made from now on by the Athletic Association and its board of control to widen the zone of athletic activity in all branches of amateur sport.

Also with the promises of generous support on the part of Drs. Masson and Dubeau in mind, the matter of the arena would be put before the Alumni when the gathering of that body took place shortly, and there was little doubt but sufficient support would be forthcoming to start work soon.

In the meantime the work of organized physical education would be carried on under competent professors.

Before breaking up, the writer-guests "whose writings," the Rev. Rector said "were widely read, but whose voices were seldom heard," expressed their pleasure at being present, and gave their promise of hearty support to the new athletic activity proposed.

Amongst those present were: Mgr. Pietta, Edouard Montpetit, Dr. R. Masson, V. Dore, Dr. E. Dubeau, Dr. J. H. Villeneuve, Dr. J. P. Lanthier, P. E. Lafamme, Viger Plamondon, A. Cherrier, H. Loranger, E. LaBerge, C. Taschereau, G. Calise, V. Farley, Marius Peladeau, Albert LaBerge, Elmer W. Ferguson, J. McCormick, L. A. Larivee and Peter Spanzlard.

OTTAWA VALLEY HOCKEY. Ottawa Munitions lengthened their lead in the Rideau group at Carleton Place when they downed the Perth Sixtette by 5 goals to 1.

Pembroke defeated Almonte at Almonte by 4 to 3 in a game replete with action and combination hockey.

Renfrew won the first half of the Upper Ottawa Valley Hockey league at Renfrew when H. Moore scored the only goal against Arnprior after sixty minutes of close, hard checking hockey.

FROM THE OUTSIDE—LOOKING IN.

Queen's seniors are going merrily on their way with two wins and one loss and second place in the standing. The dearest hope in the hearts of most of them is to slip over a win on Varsity on Kingston ice.

Jack Williams, the south-paw pitcher of Belleville Grand Trunks, was one of the players with the Belleville Bay of Quinte team here. Jack carries a wicked shot but is a little shy on the handling of the stick.

The victory of the local team over Belleville Saturday night makes up for the defeat of Queen's by the Belleville intermediates the night before. It is also no exaggeration to say that it looked like much better hockey.

How snappy is the fapper As round the ice she goes; How snappy is her language When she finds she's frizz her toes. —I. LUVVUN.

Yep, it's been pretty cold, but it's nothing like it used to be. Why back in '64 there was a fellow playing hockey and just as he went to shoot on the nets the goalie breathed on him and the frozen breath hit him between the eyes and knocked him cold.

ORIGIN OF STRANGE NAME FOR "DEAD-HEAD" TICKETS

The expression "Annie Oakley" is used to designate a complimentary ticket to places of amusement, yet few persons know where and how the expression originated.

Old timers will recall Annie Oakley who used to tour with "Buffalo Bill's" wild west show. For years she was the greatest woman rifle shot in America. One of her favorite tricks was to shoot a piece of cardboard full of holes.

One day, Johnson, president of the American League, was standing with Charles Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, near the pass gate of the Chicago ball park. In those days complimentary tickets bore the number of games played on the home lot and, as the holder of the ticket passed through the gate the ticket-taker punched a hole in the aforesaid document.

While Johnson and Comiskey were chinning, a man presented a complimentary ticket that was full of holes. In fact, the ticket had so many punch marks in it that Johnson, out of curiosity, asked to have a look at it. Turning to Comiskey he said, "That ticket looks as though Annie Oakley had used it as a target."

Comiskey later told the story to a baseball writer and within a short time, every pass became known as an "Annie Oakley."

JOE RAY WILL RACE AGAIN IN FEBRUARY Joe Ray, Illinois A. C. middle distance running star, will seek revenge for his recent defeat at the hands of Lloyd Hahn, Boston A. A. runner, at the annual indoor athletic meet of the Samsaer A. A., to be held in the 102d Engineers' Regiment armory in New York, February 13th.

Ray has requested that a special race at 1,500 meters be added to the regular programme, for the purpose of producing a return test between himself and Hahn. The Hub had beat Ray at this distance in a handicap race at the recent S.H.K. A. games in New York.

President Frank A. Ready of the Samsaer A. A. granted Ray's request and has issued invitations to compete to several other capable middle distance runners.

Tennis Leads. Figures issued for Harvard university show that tennis is the favorite sport among students of that institution.

Squash racquets comes second, followed in turn by track, rowing and basketball. Though football is the favorite sport of the spectator, it yields prominence to the foregoing list, so far as the students engaged are concerned.

Known Far and Wide. Edward F. "Pop" Peers, known far and wide as "The Grand Old Man" of the turf, enters upon his seventy-fourth year this month. It is now more than half a century since he won his first race.

A new grandstand will be erected on the Canadian Henley course at St. Catharines at an approximate cost of $150,000. The growing popularity of the annual regatta held there has brought bigger crowds each year and a new stand is badly needed. An effort will be made to have the government bear part of the cost.

By extending himself in the last two rounds, Pancho Villa, flyweight boxing champion, won the judges decision over Mike Moran of Pittsburgh, in a ten-round bout at Pittsburgh, Monday night. Villa's title was not involved, the fight being at catchweights.

MANAGER OF PIRATES HAS RISEN RAPIDLY

Bill McKechnie's Career Stands Out in Major League Circles.

Bill McKechnie's showing with Pittsburgh during the past two seasons has made him one of the most talked of managers in the major leagues. He assembled the team largely through his own efforts and with little financial assistance from President Barney Dreyfuss.

Players with whom McKechnie made such a brilliant showing were obtained from minor league clubs without paying much money. To begin with the developed Wallie Schmidt and John-Gooch into two of the best catchers in the National League. Schmidt was not a novice when McKechnie took him in tow but he did not show signs of being a first-class backstop until Bill took hold of him. Gooch owes his ability solely to McKechnie.

Clyde Barnhart, who replaced Reb Russell in the outfield, was developed by McKechnie. Third Baseman Trainor, purchased and trained by the Pittsburgh manager, has become one of the best infielders in John Heydler's circuit. Charley Grimm is one of the leading first basemen in the big show. He got his early training in the southern association and then took a post-graduate course under McKechnie.

The Pittsburgh manager will uncover another star next season when he presents Shortstop Glenn Wright to the National league fans. McKechnie obtained this flashy young infielder from the Kansas City Blues. Wright is expected to become a sensation in the big leagues.

True enough, McKechnie had Wilbur Cooper and Max Carey when he brought the veteran, Reb Russell, from Minneapolis. However, to McKechnie goes credit with building up a team that was a sensation in the major leagues in 1922 and 1923.

WOMAN FIGHTER SEEKING MATCH IN THIS COUNTRY

San Francisco, Jan. 27.—Perhaps in Germany, where there are women pugilists, Senorita Carmen Lucia de la Rosa may find a match, but probably never in this country, though she appeared recently in this city, presented credentials to show she was a regular fighter in Mexico, and told promoters that instead of a suitable female opponent she was perfectly willing to tackle a man of her weight.

Senorita Carmen said she also was a promoter, and staged the recent Sam Langford-Kid Savage fight in Mexico City.

The fair boxer is 21 years old, weighs 147 and stands 5 feet 7 inches. Her nose has been bruised a bit to one side; otherwise she shows now marks of her profession.

"I'm considered pretty speedy in the ring," she said. But local promoters could give her no encouragement, inasmuch as women are not even admitted as spectators at San Francisco bouts.

Scale Them Early. Frank Isbell, owner of the Wichita, Kas. ball club, is telling one on Micky O'Brien, promising backstop of the Philadelphia Nationals.

It happened a few seasons back when Mickey, a "green" kid from Santa Barbara, was trying to bust his way into the Western league.

One day when O'Brien went into his dressing room just before the game to put on his uniform, he found that someone had stolen his shoes. He finally borrowed a pair and hustled out for practice.

While behind the plate Isbell saw O'Brien's lack of experience and started showing him how to cover up his signals to the pitcher.

"Cover up those signs," said Isbell to O'Brien. "Otherwise the base runners will know what you're going to do and they'll steal your shoes off you."

"Steal my shoes!" piped up Micky. "Somebody's taken 'em already."

BOSTON MANAGER SPILLS ANNUAL LINE OF OPTIMISM With the acquisition of second baseman Wambaugans and catcher Steve O'Neill from Cleveland, Manager Leo Fohl declared that he expects his Red Sox to finish high in the pennant race this season.

Wamby and O'Neill went to Boston with Pitcher Dan Boone and Outfielder Joe Connolly in a trade for First Baseman George Burns, Catcher Al Walters and Infielder Chick Fawcett.

The Red Sox infield more than likely will line up with Joe Harris on first base; Wamby, second; Dudley Lee, formerly with the St. Louis Browns, at shortstop, and Norman McMillan on third base. Fohl's Infielder.

O'Neill and Pielnich will form the catching staff with Ehmske, Quinn, Ferguson and Pierce forming the nucleus of his pitching staff.
