ANGORA GOATS SHIPMENT PICTON SOCIAL EVENTS

Added by Claude W. Cole to His Duck Island Wild Animal Farm.

Claude W. Cole, of Cape Vincent, owner of an extensive animal farm on Duck Island in Lake Ontario, has just received a shipment of Montana long mohair Angora goats.

From this type of goats are developed sensationally productive specimens that grow extra long mohair that brings from $2 to $3 a pound. The breeder from whom Mr. Cole received his shipment has sold from $7 to $150 each to his dealers in New York city.

The hair is used as a substitute for human hair in the manufacture of gray wigs, false beards and similar products.

The animals are said to be very handsome with their silvery fleeces of lustrous hair, their attractive faces, bright eyes and their alert and appealing manner. It is contended they require no more care than sheep and can be readily pastured with other farm livestock.

Conditions throughout this section of the country are considered very favorable for these long mohair Angoras.

Ability to hold and carry its fleece for two years is the distinctive feature of the long mohair Angora. It is characteristic of the Angora goat to shed its fleece every spring in the northern states and in the south it sheds both in the fall and spring with resulting clips of short mohair that finds its way into feltings and similar products, while year's growth hair goes into upholstery cushions for Pullman and railway car seats, furniture, etc. Into dress goods, linings, braids and to a considerable extent into material for automobile tops. The consumption in this country far exceeds the domestic production and large quantities are imported annually from South Africa and Turkey.

DRAWN OUT THE PREMIER

Liberal Leader Sinclair Succeeds in Getting a Statement About the O.T.A.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—Although overshadowed perhaps in immediate interest by the Doherty-Ferguson squabble as to recognition in the legislature of the Progressive group, the calculated effort of the Liberal leader, W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., to draw out the government as to just what it has in mind for the people in the way of an Ontario Temperance Act referendum was one of the most important items of last week's sitting of the house.

Mr. Sinclair's moderately toned and reasoning argument as to the rights of the electors to have some light shed on a matter which the prohibition element in the legislature blame Premier Ferguson for maintaining a shrouded mystery met with some success. For replying directly to the Liberal leader's questioning on the subject the premier, in his reply made a first partial announcement as to the meaning of the reference in the speech from the throne—that it heralded the bringing down of a bill to enable the government to take a referendum when in its conception public opinion demanded it. The Liberal remained interested spectators of the major row over Progressive recognition. Although the issue is regarded as one involving the Progressives and the government, Mr. Sinclair has the opportunity of commenting upon the situation, afforded by amendment and amendment to the amendment subsequent to his address in the debate on the address. He may, during this week, have something to say about it, although he has already publicly stated at Oshawa that Liberal recognition as an official opposition is not the result of any advances made by him or his followers to the prime minister of Ontario.

The Liberal leader in his address to the house gave no intimation of maintaining opposition to the treasury benches. Instead, he declared the attitude of his group throughout the session would be one of helpfulness where it was deemed the issue merited help, of constructive criticism where such was deemed in the best interests of the province, but of strong opposition to the government's advisory council on highways move if it involved payment of handsome salaries to members of the house for services in connection with that council's work.

Most of Mr. Sinclair's criticism was directed at the absence of reference in the speech from the throne to legislation heralding policies of financial retrenchment, of a comprehensive scheme of reforestation, and of social legislation—all matters which he believed of vital importance to the well being of the province. He took the ground also that the government was ill-advised in its creation of a $8,000 job for one of its followers to be special under secretary for Northern Ontario, and held that the elected members could best represent their various constituencies.

Cannot Speak Too Highly of Your Medicine

So Says Mr. and Mrs. T. Armstrong After Using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Ontario lady who suffered from neuralgia, backache and headache, tells of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Sprucedale, Ont., Feb. 18. (Special).—"I thought I would write and tell you how much your Dodd's Kidney Pills have helped both my husband and myself. We have used several boxes and they have helped us wonderfully. I cannot speak too highly of your medicine."

This testimonial comes from Mrs. T. Armstrong, of this place—well known and highly respected resident.

The reason Dodd's Kidney Pills have come to occupy such a prominent place in the family medicine chest is that so many of the ordinary everyday ills come from sick kidneys. Rheumatism, Lumbago, Backache, Urinary troubles, Diabetes and Heart Disease can all be traced directly or indirectly to sick kidneys. Insist on having Dodd's, the Kidney Pill your neighbors use.

EXECUTORS GET DEPOSIT.

A Case Heard at Special Session at Brockville.

At Brockville on Friday a special sitting of the county court took place before Judge Reynolds. The action was brought by the executors of the estate of David Polk, of the township of Bastard, namely, R. N. Polk, Andrew Lyons and C. W. Polk, as plaintiffs, and Roy Lyons, defendant. The trial was for a declaration that a sum of money over $700 was deposited to the joint credit of David Polk and the defendant. Roy Lyons. The money in question had been deposited by David Polk and the deposit had not been dealt with by cheque of either party. The defendant is a nephew of David Polk, deceased. Judgment was given in favor of the executors for the amount of the deposit interest and costs, the judge finding that the relationship was too remote to entitle the defendant to the fund. Cunningham and Smith, Kingston, for the plaintiffs, and Wilson McCue, Smith's Falls, for the defendant.
