CLOSE OF THE CONVENTION STUDENTS MUST ANSWER

Of the Seventh Day Adventists —The Addresses Given on Thursday Evening.

The closing session of the Seventh Day Adventist convention was held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. At the close of this session the delegates by rising voted their thanks to Kingston in the following resolutions:

"Whereas during the time we have been in Kingston in conference session we have been the recipients of the hospitality of the people of the city and desiring to express our appreciation we unanimously extend a vote of thanks to the Queen's cafeteria for the excellent and courteous service extended us; to the Kingston Press for generous and unbiased publicity; and to the residents of the city who so kindly opened their homes to us."

"Whereas we have enjoyed an excellent and convenient place of meeting for our conference session and appreciating the assistance of the Kingston church in making this session a success, we unanimously express our appreciation by a vote of thanks for the use of the Kingston church building, and the co-operation of the pastor and the members of the Kingston church in many helpful ways."

A few changes were found to be necessary in the constitution governing the actions of the body and a new constitution was drafted entire, and adopted by the body.

The Maritime conference president, F. W. Stray, who was unavoidably detained rendered his report at this time. He told the delegates that there was considerable financial depression in his field. That a man who is in a position to know stated publicly that 40,000 had left Nova Scotia and had settled in the city of Boston. His report indicated that the conditions of his conference were as good as could be expected under the circumstances.

The committee on distribution of labor rendered its report which was very brief. Pastor J. L. Wilson formerly carrying the duties of the layman's movement is made Union evangelist.

President of the World's Conference, W. A. Spicer of Washington, D.C., gave the closing address Thursday evening, basing his remarks on Romans 1, 15, 16.

His address was not a lecture, he himself said it would not be a sermon, he announced that he would tell some stories that would illustrate the text, and carried his listeners from country to country around the world, beginning with Atchin in the South Seas.

Missionary Parker was in charge of the work on the island of Atchin and when he was obliged to leave for Australia on furlough the old cannibal chief wept and said, "You stay here. We take good care of you. We are in the dark and we want to know the light." "Thus," the speaker declared, "the gospel is experiencing manifestations of power the world around."

Mr. Spicer related tale after tale of the miracles of missions. Marvelous providences which missionaries in various lands had passed through he told with great simplicity but with telling effect.

From Korea, Mr. Spicer had received a sheet of paper covered with Chinese characters which he had received from an old devil worshipper. These were his last prayers to Satan; shortly after he placed these in the shrine he went to the "worship" as the natives call it there. Other stories were told of equal interest from Fiji; the ridge-pole of the world, the Titiaca region of South America; different parts of Europe; from Abyssinia in Africa, from Smyrna in the Holy Land, and from Turkey.

Farwell speeches were made by B. E. Manuel, superintendent of the Newfoundland mission, F. C. Lane, president of the Quebec conference, D. J. C. Barrett, president of the Ontario Conference, and from F. W. Stray, president of the Maritime Conference.

"THE HILL BILLY."

Presented at Grand Again, Last Night.

A play written by a player is not so much of an attraction but when it comes from the pen of Mary Pickford, her brother Jack and Marion Jackson, with Jack Pickford taking the leading part, it is certainly of unusual interest. "The Hill Billy," now showing at the Grand Opera House, deserves all the attention it has already drawn and is drawing. It is a sweet story of the Kentucky mountains—a story that appeals to all—and has the additional virtue of being presented by an all-star cast and in a manner that is worthy of the best.

Along with the feature picture a really fine comedy is being offered with Will Rogers in "The Cowboy Sheik."

The same bill will be presented tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night.

Prof. Macnaughton's Address. Prof. John Macnaughton, Toronto, addressed the Guelph Canadian Club on Wednesday night, on "Rocks Ahead," an interesting discourse on the Labor party of Great Britain. The Mercury says Prof. Macnaughton is a speaker of outstanding ability, and he lived up to his reputation, as there was not a dull moment throughout his address.

Sunkist, Sweet, Seedless. Oranges, 15c, 17c, 20c and 25c per dozen at Carnovsky's.

In Police Court to Charge of Assault Upon a Newspaper Man.

Several students of Queen's University are to be summoned before the police magistrate to answer to charges of assaulting F. B. Pense, a member of the Whig reportorial staff, forcibly taking him from the vicinity of his home to the university gymnasium, where they submitted him to a student-court trial, and also for wearing masks during the episode, which occurred on Tuesday evening. The students were annoyed at several articles about dancing, which recently appeared in the Whig, and in which Queen's had been mentioned. They placed the blame upon the shoulders of Mr. Pense, and decided to bring him before a mock court. In the tussle, the clothing of Mr. Pense suffered damage, and the students will be called upon to make this good. Mr. Pense was put through "stunts" that may be accepted on the part of culprit students from their comrades, but to which a civilian would certainly object. He recognized several of his attackers, and although threats were made that if he divulged what had taken place he would receive further attention, Mr. Pense promised the ringleaders they would assuredly receive their deserts. He speaks in the highest terms of John C. Macgillivray, son of Prof. Macgillivray, who on hearing of the actions of his fellow-students, left a dance he was attending, went before the mob court assembly and spoke on Mr. Pense's behalf.

Next morning offers came from the university for an amiable settlement of the matter, the suggestion being made that Mr. Pense accept the episode as a student's lark, under what they thought was provocation. Such a settlement might have been made, but Mr. Pense insisted that, besides being paid personal damages, he receive a written apology from the ringleaders. At first this was refused, and before the matter could be arranged, word of the affair reached the ear of Attorney-General Nickle in Toronto, although no press mention was made of it in despatches. Over the long-distance telephone Mr. Nickle intimated that if the local authorities did not prosecute the culprits, he would, as he was determined that no lawless episode like this should take place and the offenders go unpunished while he occupied the position of attorney-general of the province. This put a stop to a settlement, and as Hon. Mr. Nickle is chairman of the Board of Trustees of Queen's university, it was realized that he was dead in earnest. The chief of police had his men follow up the matter, but owing to the absence from the city of Crown-Attorney Rigney there was a delay in issuing the summonses. It is expected, however, that the case will come before the police magistrate on Monday. It is a Crown case.

President of the World's Conference, W. A. Spicer of Washington, D.C., gave the closing address Thursday evening, basing his remarks on Romans 1, 15, 16. His address was not a lecture, he himself said it would not be a sermon, he announced that he would tell some stories that would illustrate the text, and carried his listeners from country to country around the world, beginning with Atchin in the South Seas. AIDING FARMERS TO GET LABOR HELP

Canadian National Railways Offer Assistance to Farmers and Settlers.

Montreal, Feb. 22.—A free employment service, whereby farmers in need of labor will be brought into touch with newly-arrived immigrants who are looking for farm work, has been organized by the Canadian National Railways in preparation for the opening of the coming immigration season. By means of this service immigrants, arriving in Canada, will be advised of places awaiting them, and farmers who require help during the next few months, will be able to secure such help from the newcomers without cost to themselves.

When the immigration policy of the Canadian National Railways was drawn up it was considered that an important feature in the success of
