The Institute met at the home of the secretary, Mrs. D. MacDonald on Wednesday, March 5th. The branch was well represented as almost the total number of members were present. The president considering the sewing and knitting which was to be the work of the afternoon opened the meeting with "Work for the Night is Coming." The Lord's prayer was repeated, led by the Rev. O. Findell, the members joining. The secretary was then called upon to read the minutes of last meeting and to give the roll call. The members then busied themselves finishing the sewing and knitting previously started. It was decided at this meeting not to meet again till the regular business meeting in May. The meeting closed with the National Anthem. Preceding the adjournment of the meeting a four o'clock tea was served by the hostess.

If you have a flock of poultry, save the droppings, but keep them dry. Store them in barrels, a layer of sifted ashes over each six inches of manure. Otherwise it is likely to form a solid mass and be difficult to handle.

Look around for a stable to secure fresh horse manure for the hot bed and make an agreement with the stable owner for it. Horse manure is getting scarcer each year and hotbeds cannot be operated without this fermenting manure except by artificial heat and it is a little late to put in a system now.

Poppy seed may be sown now if you neglected to sprinkle it last fall. It gives a good follow crop for the early spring bulbs.

Send in your seed order early. The catalogues are now issued and early orders assure getting the varieties you desire before any of the stock is sold out.

Get flats or seed boxes ready. Do not make flats for indoor use too large, especially the wide way. The plants at the back will be drawn from lack of light. Boxes 7 by 4 for the window are a convenient size. Cigar boxes are excellent seed boxes. See that seed boxes have holes in their bottoms for drainage.

The Crow of Croup A Warning To All Mothers

Croup starts with a dry cough and rattling in the throat; after which the croupy crow gives warning of the disease. The child, after tossing restlessly about, will start up with a flushed face, protruding eyeballs, and a distressing look of terror and anxiety. There is a struggle for breath, and the expectoration of the mucous matter is so difficult to get rid of that the effort appears to threaten strangulation.

On the first sign of the "croupy crow" mothers should administer Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and thus give the child prompt and permanent relief, and perhaps the life saved by taking this precaution.

Mrs. H. A. Langhorn, Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"My little boy was very bad with the croup and I could not get anything to relieve him until I tried Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I cannot praise it too highly for the relief it gave him."
