ODD TWISTS IN NEW PHOTOPLAY

Perfect Acting by Irene Rich and Monte Blue in "Flaming Passion."

We don't know who Kathleen Norris had in mind when she described the characters of Lucretia Lombard and Stephen Winship in her recent best seller, "Flaming Passion" who they were that inspired her to write that wonderful story, but it seems to us that the story was woven around and especially for Irene Rich as Lucretia and Monte Blue as Stephen.

The picture opens at the Capitol thea tre Monday for three days and takes the remarkable word pictures of the author and infuses them with life and animation, with its vivid scenes of the outdoors, the story with its unusual twist, and the inimitable characteriza- der of Nurses of Canada. tion of the players. A beautiful young girl marries a man much older than she, whom she could never love, but it pleases the mother and satisfies her ambitions for her daughter to marry a title.

A young man, the serious, ambitious, and conscientious district attorney marries a girl he does not love, but he satisfies the dying wish of his father.

After seven years of bondage the first woman, Lucretia Lombard, is freed by the death of her husband from an overdose of an opiate. Then she meets the young district attorney, Stephen Winship, and they immediately know that they love each other. But Stephen is married to Mimi.

The county council on Saturday morning decided that in future the cost of the poor of the county, who at the present time are confined to the Home for the Aged and House of Providence, will be paid by the townships of which the people were former residents.
