S-T-R-A-N-D NOW SHOWING VIOLA DANA IN "HER FATAL MILLIONS"

AMUSEMENTS What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

"FLAMING PASSION." A photoplay which the Capitol Theatre presented yesterday to a capacity audience is out of the beaten track, dealing as it does with youthful faiths and fancies diverted by the grim touch of fate, is offered motion picture fans in "Flaming Passion," the screen adaptation of Kathleen Norris' best seller, Lucretia Lombard, which captivated millions of readers by its unique treatment of the triangle.

until after the record runs in Toronto and Montreal. The critics shattered all precedent by using up more adjectives of praise than even the most intrepid press-agent would dare employ. Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, realized the great risk he took in making changes in the masterpiece of Victor Hugo, changes which he defended, however, on the ground that as a drama must entertain all classes, anything offensive to any religious denomination must be deleted. And, strange to say, all of the changes were heartily endorsed by the critics.

NEW PHOTOPLAY IS VIOLA DANA'S BEST. In her newest starring vehicle, "Her Fatal Millions," at the Strand Theatre today Viola Dana plays the role of a girl who posed as a millionaire to prove to an old sweetheart that fortune had smiled on her, too. But she went a bit too far, when she told him she was the wife of the wealthiest man in town, because when her "borrowed" limousine was wrecked and her "borrowed" money lost, Fred took her to her "husband's" home. And then there were complications galore. Here is a role that fits the versatile, vivacious little Miss Dana like a glove.

WHY SHOULD CANADA BE FIVE DIVISIONS

Instead of United Nation? - Alfred Henderson to Deal With Question.

What's wrong with Canada? Is there anything wrong? If so, how has it come about. What is the solution? Alfred E. Henderson, traveller, lecturer, journalist and student of people, will answer these questions and will do it as only he can in Convocation Hall on Thursday night at eight o'clock. It will be a wise move to get there early as the audience will be large and the none too roomy hall will only allow a limited number of seats.

This is not going to be a lecture to the highly educated, so-called "cultured" people of the community. It will be a message to every man who calls himself a Canadian and who takes any pride at all in doing so. Mr. Henderson was in the Whig office this morning. He impressed those who had the good fortune to meet him. He is not a "lecturer" of the accepted type. He is an enthusiastic worker for better things and a man who can talk to any audience and can give his opinions and suggestions in simple yet emphatic and forcible language.

The Whig asked him what experience he had which qualified him to speak on the subject. His reply was certainly convincing. His work as a special correspondent and speaker all over the world gives him a unique basis for observation through eyes which are not prejudiced and eleven months of travelling in Canada from coast to coast, studying the people, their ideas and fancies, their opinions and prejudices, has given him an insight into things Canadians which natives could not hope to acquire. Canada is a wonderful country, in his opinion. But it is terribly handicapped by economic, political and racial divisions which have no excuse for existence. Beautiful, cultured, old-world Quebec, with its prosperous farming communities, is cut off from conservative, well-to-do manufacturing and dairying Ontario. The Great West, from Winnipeg to the Rockies, is bubbling over with enthusiasm and the get-together-and-get-along spirit. Over the Rockies one finds another conservative almost English community, holding itself aloof. Down in the maritimes they are also cut off. The whole thing needs intermingling and welding. It is like a bicycle chain broken in five pieces, the natural momentum of vast resources and unlimited wealth carrying it on while its people are satisfied to accept the situation without making any effort themselves.

Mr. Henderson's lecture will be in aid of the Kingston Tuberculosis Association with which he is in great sympathy. It will be a lecture for all—working men, professional men, business men—all are welcome and all should hear it. The nature of the cause should bring them there on Thursday night. We can guarantee that Mr. Henderson's lecture and vivid illustrative word pictures will send them away satisfied and inspired.

SIR ARCHIBALD'S ADDRESS.

On Northwest Mounted Police in First Baptist Hall. The making of conquests, both in war and in peace, has always been characteristic of the career of Maj. Gen. Sir Archibald Macdonell, Commandant of the Royal Military College, and he added another victory to his peace record Monday evening, when he completely captured the fine audience that gathered in the school room of the First Baptist church to hear his illustrated lecture on the North West Mounted Police. J. F. Twiss, president of the Baptist Young Peoples' Union, under whose auspices the lecture was given, occupied the chair. Music by the Y. M. C. A. quartette, and the Baptist Bible School orchestra added much to the enjoyment of the occasion. On motion of Rev. J. S. LaFlair, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the lecturer, and the others who had assisted in the evening's programme.

SPORT STRIBLING PREPARING TO BATTLE McTIQUE

Young Stribling has started work for his meeting with Mike McTigue. The Georgia Peach, supplanter of Ty Cobb in the matter of athletic fame, has entered on this siege with the avowed intention of taking Mike's title when the two meet at the Armory at Newark on March 31st, writes Igoe in the New York World. The youngster will find a conditioned champion, however. Mike McTigue, first of all, is a sound business man in his own way and one of his don'ts is not to enter the ring in any but the best of condition. Any champion knows that, but it is an obsession with Mike. He is a lean clean living fellow, not given to hitting the high spots and what he has accumulated and tucked away for a rainy day he worked hard for. He is not going to surrender to this high school boy without a terrific struggle if it comes to that and the world doesn't know to this day just how good Mike really is. He has always been a cagey matchmaker and a cagier boxer.
