FOR 15 YEARS WAS TROUBLED WITH ECZEMA

There is no other remedy like Burdock Blood Bitters that can possibly give such relief to all sufferers from eczema, salt rheum and all other diseases of the blood for the reason that this old and well tried remedy goes right to the seat of the trouble and completely and permanently drives these diseases out of the system by cleansing the blood and making it pure and rich.

Mr. F. W. H. Schultz, Pembroke, Ont., writes: "Having been troubled with eczema for fifteen years, during which time I tried everything I could think of, including doctors, but without getting anything to do me much good I finally decided to take Burdock Blood Bitters, and I was certainly surprised to find that two weeks after I had started to take it I was relieved of my trouble. That was nine months ago, and I have not had a sign of it since. I surely wish to thank you for this wonderful medicine and strongly recommend it to anyone suffering from the same trouble as I had."

B.B.B. is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

LOOKING AT LIFE IN THE LARGE

The International Sunday School Lesson for March 30th is a Quarterly Review, "From Abraham to Solomon."—Psalm 138.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

He was a perturbed newspaper editor; and he talked for an hour about moral conditions of his city; which he thinks are a mirror of the state of affairs throughout the land. In this, I believe him to be mistaken. The burden of his thought — and he is frankly scared — is that even the "best people" are out of hand, lawless, self-indulgent and living only for the moment's gratification. Over and over again he repeated, "I don't know what is going to become of the country." His Jeremiah was thickly embellished with instances and names, as he showed how the law, especially with respect to intoxicants, is openly flouted by the very folk who are under obligation to be its first defenders. "Leading citizens" are one with the jazz-crazed, flask-toting "speed maniacs" of the younger set. My editor friend seemed to take a melancholy pleasure in rehearsing the most depressing local illustrations of his thesis that something is terribly wrong with the times.

Viewing a Vast Landscape. Nobody is fit to govern himself or his own affairs who has not learned to look beyond himself and his immediate interests. Something of the stimulus of life on a hilltop (and mountain folk have always been the surviving and victorious people of history) comes to one who studies at a single sitting such an absorbing narrative of God's dealings with man as we have in this review of Israel's history, from Abraham to Solomon. Causes and consequences are visible at one glance. To see the end from the beginning is to understand the real meaning of a life. There is no other exhortation quite equal to a complete example.

Who Fears the Policeman? Of late, there have been many American men, high in national politics and in national business, who have listened, with quickened beats of the heart, every time there was a ring on the telephone or a knock at the door, lest it be the dreaded exposure. They have scanned each edition of the newspapers in fear of mention of their name in connection with the paramount scandals. Conscience of wrongdoing, or wrong associations, has driven the blade of fear into their souls. What a tragic crashing of high reputations there has been! And all because, as our Sunday School Lessons have reiterated, "line upon line, precept upon precept," men have departed from the clear commandments of God. In the light of recent events, who would exchange an easy conscience and a good life for the wealth or fame of these men who have, in the outcome, paid a terrible price for mortal transgressions?

These are great days to be Sunday School teachers. The newspapers are clamorously confirming and illustrating the teachings of the Bible, that sin is a present handicap and a source of final failure. When we "see life clear and see it whole" we know that "the way of the transgressor is hard; but wisdom's ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace." There is no fear of Policeman Law for those who have not done wrong. A straight look ahead over life, or a review of any segment of human history, reveals that there is no other substantial success than godliness.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.—2— The Partnership that Prevails. My editor friend would be less gloomy, I think, were he ready to follow the suggestion that his duty in the case of his back-slidden city is to make his paper an aggressive champion of law-enforcement, of civic and social righteousness, and of personal virtue. He thinks the people would not stand for this. The truth is, though, as our late Lessons have made clear, that the man who goes up against overwhelming odds in the name of right and of God, not only is sure of ultimate triumph, but also of honor beyond his imagination.

TO ERECT A STORE For H. Loyst & Son at Mountain Grove. Mountain Grove, March 25.—Sugar-making is the order of the day. The concert and dance in the hall on the 17th, under the auspices of the Anglican church, was a decided success and about $28 was realized. S.
