By Trying To Do Without Glasses

When you should wear them you harm your eyes. But even that isn't all of it, nor the worst of it. Strained eyes have a bad habit of upsetting things generally. There are many conditions, outside of the eyes, that eye strain causes. And proper glasses remove them all almost at once in many cases. We find and eliminate the cause of eye strain.

'LOVING LIES' AT GRAND

Exceptional Photoplay to Be Presented To-night and on Saturday.

An exceptionally good photoplay is at the Grand Opera House for the balance of the week. It is "Loving Lies," a film story of the sea and pleased a large audience on its initial appearance on Thursday night. The screen version is adapted from Peter B. Kynes, "The Harbor Bar."

And for this reason it has attracted a great deal of attention. Evelyn Brent and Monte Blue, two popular screen artists, are featured in the picture and the supporting cast is a strong one. The theme of the story surrounds a husband, who tells lies to his wife, in order to save her from worrying.

Apart from the play itself, the scenes are wonderful. They are laid on the coast of California and a greater portion of the play is given on board a schooner in order that the production might be given the touch that is needed to make it go over big.

Everybody loves a story of the sea, and in this production one finds the most pleasant of any yet put on the screen. Monte Blue, who is always such a favorite with the movie fans, has the role of a sea captain and carries off this part with honors. Monte Blue does not play the part; he lives the part, and in this connection it is of interest to note that before going into the movies he served as a sailor, so this experience gives him the ability to put the necessary "punch" into the part.

Evelyn Brent, the leading lady, is most charming and plays a difficult role in a most pleasing manner. The story throughout holds interest and the audience on Thursday night was loud in its praise of the production.

In addition to the feature picture the ever popular Ben Turpin is on the programme in "The Shriek of Araby" and it is a scream from start to finish. It is one of Mack Sennett's best five-reel comedies.

"Loving Lies" and "The Shriek of Araby" will be the attraction at the Grand to-night, Saturday matinee and night and the programme is one that merits a capacity audience at each performance.

Belle of the Derby Hat. Lord, but they strike one as queer and crude.

The quaint old fashions of yesterday! Gone is the dandy, and gone the belle and beaux have to disappear. And short skirts—merely a souvenir!

Bobbed hair's now only found on brats; This I know, but I can't see clear— Where are the canes and the derby hats?

Gone is the ancient, virginal prude, Mark how flappers do gibe and jeer; Murderous women wage endless feud; Painted girls in low necks are freer.

Horses and carriages now seem queer, Restaurants change into automats; All this is simple, but tell me, dear, Where are the canes and the derby hats?

Every home has its own home-brewed beer; Gone, all gone is the five-cent beer; Movies are censored by unco guild, Books are banned, and the cabarets drear.

Gas has gone, and Milady's ear; There used to be forty-five dollar flats; I should worry. But just see here— Where are the canes and the derby hats?

Kids, don't think that I'd interfere, All things must change, and I'm not austere. But, speaking of sideburns, suspenders and spats, Where are the canes and the derby hats?

The Inquisitive Reporter

Our Inquisitive Reporter yesterday asked this question of three people chosen at random: "Do you regard the Hegelian em-piricism, taken in the light of Von Clausewitz's metabolism, as a priori indicative of a subconscious conflict—making due allowance, of course, for inherited predilections?"

Gustav K. Tannenbaum, Paper-hanger. "I'll depend on how much yeast you use. Some likes it more. I get the best results by skimming every three days. It depends how you like it."

Florence Weemick, Stenographer. "No, I prefer Rodolph Valentino. I didn't see Lightnin', but I hear John Barrymore was just lovely in it." Oscar Eisenberg, Plumber. "No spik English."

Winkin', Blinkin' and Nod Women remain the puzzle of our life. But this he knows who knows he never knows them: Keep your eyes open, looking for a wife. For when you've got her, you will have to close them! —The Stroller.

His Move Next He: "Don't you think this bench would be more comfortable if it had a back?" She: "I think arms would make it just as comfortable."

Fablegrams (With a Bow to Aesop) By Percy Waxman "The Ass in the Lion's Skin. An Ass once found a Lion's skin. So, putting it on, he looked in the mirror and said to himself: "Every-body laughs at me just as soon as they see I'm an ass. I wonder how they'll treat me in this disguise."

So he hurried off to his native vil-lage to try its effect on the people. Nobody recognized him, and every-body was scared to death and fled, leaving him in sole control of the Whole Place. Moral: Every politician knows the value of a make-up.

The Dog and the Shadow It happened that a Dog was one day carrying home a large piece of meat in his mouth. As he was crossing a brook he saw the Shadow of himself and his piece of meat in the water. After to himself: "That's only a shadow, I never could believe in this Conan Doyle stuff."

Then he ran along so fast to his dinner that he got into quite a sweat. Moral: And that's how the phrase "Hot Dog" originated.

Polished Ebony Cornered recently before going to court, Martin W. Littleton told this story in the corridor: "They were pulling off a William Tell stunt down where I came from and William's son fell ill. The manager got a negro boy to take the son's place."

"You stand over there," he ex-claimed, "and the champion rifle shot will shoot an apple off your head." "What's dat?" demanded the negro. "Who is gwine to shoot what off whose head?"

DRY AGENTS RAID Private Car of Railway President and Seize Liquor. New York, April 4.—The private car of George E. Bontillier, president of the Long Island railroad, was raided by two prohibition agents as it stood in the Pennsylvania station yesterday, and several cases of al-laged wines and whiskies seized. The negro steward of the car was ar-ested on a charge of illegally having liquor in his possession.

According to the agents, 56 bot-tles of imported and domestic whiskies were confiscated, in addi-tion to 10 cases of champagne and several bottles of cordials. The car had been brought from Montauk, L. I., to New York, earlier in the day.

Jeddah Pilgrims Rescued. London, April 4.—Twelve hun-dred Pilgrims bound for Jeddah on Wednesday had a narrow escape when the cotton cargo of the Bri-tish steamer Frangestan caught fire in the Red Sea as the vessel was nearing Port Sudan.

Answering radio calls for assist-ance a number of craft rushed to the Frangestan and stood by until all the Pilgrims and other passen-gers and the members of the crew were transferred to another steamer.

GANANOQUE

April 4.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sheats announce the engagement of their daughter Luella to Wilfrid Charleton, Syracuse, N.Y., the wed-ding to take place on the 19th in-stant at 6 p.m.

Mrs. William Hawke entertained at a large progressive euchre on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Pause, Mr. and Mrs. Liddell and Mrs. Frank Taughter motored from Kingston yesterday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. James Sophie, Princess street.

The death occurred yesterday at Maple Grove of one of the most es-teemed residents of the community when Charles Thomson passed away after a brief illness of pneumonia. Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, James Arthur, and two daughters, Mrs. W. E. Pierce, Maple Grove, and Mrs. M. J. Hill, Niagara Falls.

L. P. Shortall has returned after spending the past few days in To-ronto. Frank H. Lutz is home from his western trip and says there is more winter here now than he saw at any time in the west where he has been for about six weeks. He will be in Gananoque for about three weeks.

Mrs. Blair, Ogdensburg, N.Y., is the guest of her sister Mrs. Sanford Delaney. Mrs. Joseph Belfie and daughter Fordie, who have been visiting Dr. and Mrs. Belfie in Ottawa, are re-turning tomorrow and will be ac-companied by Mrs. Belfie, Sr., who will spend the summer here with friends.

Mrs. George Ryan, who has been here for the past several weeks on account of the serious illness and death of her mother, Mrs. Willis, re-turned to Watertown, N.Y., to-day. The remains of the late Charles Lattimore, who passed away in To-ronto on Monday, were laid at rest in Willow Bank cemetery yesterday upon arrival of the Toronto train.

R. D. Gordon, Toronto, is in town. J. H. Valteau left yesterday for Osh-awa. Mrs. W. Walker returned to Buf-falo, N.Y., yesterday after spend-ing the winter here with her sister, Mrs. W. B. Muelie.

Martin Hokanson, metallurgist, Duluth, Minn., is in town for a few days renewing old acquaintance. The post office lost another very popular member of its staff on Wed-nesday when Miss Freda Thompson became the bride of Harry McAlpin Woodburn.

Word was received here to-day of the death at Vancouver, B.C., of Frank Kinnimond. Frank has been in failing health for a long time, and contracted pneumonia a few days ago. He was an old Gananoque boy who was extremely popular and his mother, brothers and sisters will have the deepest sympathy of a large circle of Gananoque friends.

A Great Bargain. Men's Umbrellas; bankrupt price, 79c. The Lion Clothing Co. Go To Islands. Mr. and Mrs. John Pollock, who have conducted their farm on the Johnstown road, Gouverneur, N. Y., will spend the summer at Hart Is-land, on the St. Lawrence River, where Mr. Pollock has accepted a position on the Boldt estate.

Are Ready for the Trip. Five young men and one young lady have volunteered to ride to Washington to carry the invitation to President Coolidge to attend the U.E.L. celebration in Belleville in June next.

It is mighty hard to rob a man of the benefit of a good reputation.

A Dangerous Doctrine. To have only a little money is re-garded as evidence of failure (in the United States of America). That is why many lose their sense of stric-t financial probity. Wherever money is respected and riches looked on as proof of success, there is bound to be a low standard of public honor. Healthy opinion values most highly those who are "content with a little" and whom nothing can tempt to hange a single mode of life.—Lon-don Daily Herald.
