New System of Fat Reduction

Here's a new way for all fat people to laugh together at that old bugaboo—Obesity. The saying that "there is nothing new under the sun" does not now apply to fat people any more. Here is something new for them—a new sensation, a new pleasure, a new and graceful figure, easily found by anyone who is passing beyond the limits of slimness. Everyone has heard of the Marmola Prescription; that harmless combination of fat-defying elements perfected by one of the world's greatest physicians. Now, from the same high authority, there comes another idea—the idea of combining the same, pure, harmless ingredients into a pleasant little tablet. Taken after eating and at bedtime, they help the stomach to dispose of all the fatty foods, converting them into compact, solid flesh, muscle and energy, without dieting or exercise. Marmola Prescription Tablets regulate the entire system for you what bodily exertion, and self-denial cannot do, and the fat, once routed, is gone for good. You can prove all this at a trifling cost. Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists or sent postpaid by the Marmola Company, 4121 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. A box sufficient to bring results—is but one dollar.

lutions. It should seek in every practicable way, by agitation and by its influence on public sentiment and on civic legislation, to improve the conditions of the toilers. It is too late in the day for the church to declare that it "has nothing to do with men's bare backs and empty stomachs"; that its mission is purely the salvation of men's souls. If the church does not care for men's bodies, which it has seen, how can it care for men's souls, which it has not seen? But in contending for the improved conditions, it need not necessarily stand for other organizations which are seeking to secure the same conditions. The church may work with any other society, in so far as their purposes are similar, but there can be no just criticism against the church if it declines to endorse the complete programme of the organization with which it is for the time being co-operating.

BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SPRING

The Spring is a time of anxiety to mothers who have little ones in the home. Conditions make it necessary to keep the baby indoors. He is often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catches colds which rack his whole system. To guard against this a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep his stomach and bowels working regularly. This will prevent colds, constipation or colic and keep baby well. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TURKS ARE FORBIDDEN

To Attend Prayers at Christian Schools in Constantinople. Constantinople, March 18.—(By Mail)—Heads of American missionary schools in Constantinople have received the following order from the Angora ministry of public instruction: "It is absolutely forbidden to allow Turkish students to participate in Christian services either compulsorily or voluntarily. No Turkish student shall be permitted to attend prayers in connection with the religion of the directors of Christian schools.

"Foreign schools may give religious instruction in a separate chapel but they may not conduct prayers elsewhere or set up statues or suspend texts of a religious nature in class rooms or courtyards. A strict control of foreign schools is necessary in order to see that recommendations of the ministry are carried out."

This order preceded the recent decree closing all foreign schools on Friday, the Moslem Sabbath.

Worms that Dance on Waves Are Puzzle to Science

Millions of tiny worms that "dance" in the moonlight on the surface of the sea during the egg-hatching season, and transform the waves into the appearance of vermicelli soup, have been observed off Samoa, the Antilles, and the coast of France. They appear at the first and last quarters of the moon and at the months of May, September, October, and November only. They are so small that it is estimated that more than 1,000,000 occupy the space within the radius of a small lantern.

Police Learn Eyelid Talking to Balk the Criminal

Detectives in Canada are being taught a code by means of which they can communicate with one another by dropping, raising or other movements of the eyes, and also how to "walk" secretly by means of finger touches, by twisting of a cigar, fingering of a mustache and twiddling fingers behind the back. This is being done so that they can transfer their thoughts when in the presence of criminals or prisoners. It is declared that communication with the eyelids can be as rapid as the ordinary man typewrites.

OSBORNE PLACE SOLD

The Johnston Brothers of Arden are The Purchasers. Mountain Grove, April 4.—Card Bros. saw mill is running full blast. Ralph Godfrey has returned from a lengthy stay in the west. Much sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. H. Garrett in the recent loss of their infant child while residing in Uncle Sam's domain. The remains were brought here and funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Cantrell, Sharbot Lake. The burial was in the Anglican cemetery here. A. Thompson has sold the farm, commonly known as the "Osborne Place" to the Johnston Bros. Arden. R. Beverly made a flying trip to Kingston recently. The work was very busy in this community and last week left a tiny boy at C. Godfrey's and a girl at A. Godfrey's. Rev. Mr. Plindell visited Arden recently. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson are at A. Thompson's; Ross Parker is at J. Parker's; Mr. and Mrs. de Clair at W. Brown's.

Words will never be wanting if you deal with a well-considered subject.

Alarm Clock Feeds Poultry and Turns on Lights

Poultry can be supplied with grain automatically at any desired time from a feeder operated by an alarm clock. The apparatus scatters the material in proper amounts over a 20-foot space, insuring the fowls sufficient exercise in gathering it. A switch attachment can also be made to turn electric lights on and off without interfering with the feeding mechanism. The device can be hung to the ceiling of a coop or placed over a yard, and is designed to do away with much of the care required from attendants. It is claimed that it can be filled and set for work in a few minutes.

Wire Hook to Thread Needle Saves Time, Aids Eyes

To save time in threading a needle, a device has been patented in Europe recently that performs the operation quickly, even in poor light. A slight pressure of the finger pushes a hooked wire through the eye of a needle that has first been placed on top of a small spring.

Then the strand is put on the hook, which can be done by an unsteady hand, and as the grip is released the wire passes out of the needle eye, carrying the thread with it through the hole.

Removing Water from Mortar

When mixing concrete it often occurs that too much water is added, making the mixture too thin to work properly. Of course, more sand and cement can be added, but this is not always desirable, as it increases the quantity of concrete, and this may not be necessary. A good method of removing the excess of water is to place a few common bricks in the mixture for a few minutes, and it will be found that the bricks absorb so much of the water that the mixture soon becomes workable. A common brick, when thoroughly dry, will absorb about a pint of water.

Cure for Grabbing Clutch

To overcome the grabbing tendency of a clutch on a light car, a driver installed an additional pedal plate, attached to the regular pedal by means of four bolts and coil springs, the bolts fitting loosely in holes drilled for them and the springs keeping the plates separated. The bolts used are 1/4 in. in diameter and 2 1/2 in. long. They are slipped through holes drilled in the lower plate and threaded out so that the bolts can slip in and out easily when the pedal is under pressure. The auxiliary plate, being the same shape and size as the regular plate, is drilled and tapped to receive the screw ends of the bolts. Before assembling, 2-in. open coil springs, made of No. 10 brass wire, are placed over the bolts, which are then screwed into the threaded holes in the auxiliary plate until they project just a trifle; the ends are then hammered over to keep the bolt from unthreading. Pressure applied on the pedal causes the clutch to take hold gradually, and all grabbing is eliminated.

Not much larger than a watch, a phonograph which can be slipped into the pocket and has space for ten double disk records has been invented by a Hungarian. The sound produced by the machine is said to be so amplified when it is placed on a tumbler that the tiny instrument can be used to provide music for dancing.

Necessity the Mother of Invention

indicative of the presence of the sinister form or form which originally called into existence that particular invention. I well recall the impressions experienced the first time I saw an Indian guide of the French River, drink from his paddle. We had gone up the Murdoch and portaged to Crooked Lake. (A lake that only last year was opened up by the Canadian Pacific Bungalow Camp—above). No sooner had we got into the canoe and gone a few lengths than the guide ceased stroking and careened the paddle blade so that the clear, cool water dripped as from a clean fountain into his thirsty mouth and throat. No weight had changed, the canoe still ranged ahead from the last stroke, the guide did not change his posture, there was no sound, his eye still commanded the scene. The action was so swift and silent that without bidding my own eye ranged off to the wooded bank, searching for the imaginary foe whose moss-matted feet and wary intuition may have traced the invasion by the summer camper of this hitherto undeveloped haunt of trout.

Thus swiftly did this simple act recall the time when it was first practiced. That time in the history of Canada when the Red man's foes were so numerous, when the urge of hunting so keen that even when he took a drink of water he must never lose that vigilance which kept him always on guard. In itself a mere straw, it holds a psychological subtlety that in detail shows us to what necessity and to what fineness or inventiveness those who live right down to the elemental were driven by the combative elements of nature with which they warred for existence. We admire these things in ancient and distant peoples, but we are given to overlook them and set little value by them when they occur at our very doors as it were.

Canada is particularly rich in "inventions" of this nature. They are not here things of the Past but of the living Present. I saw the Indian drink from the paddle only last summer. You may see him this. Adaptation or resourcefulness in so simple acts are among these primitive, progressive after a fashion. The next time our guide took a drink of the cool lake water, he broke the deep flower of a pitcher plant from a clump that grew by the bank and made a drinking-cup of it. Not limited to one cup you see. And in the transition from the cup we can feel these things were a transition in poetic fancy. It was a drink of relaxation... a sip of nectar from the flower's heart. And had he been of the Far East we should have said "See the artistic development of this Jap" but being of the West and of the Wilds, it was a transition in poetic fancy, rather than the ever-present Danger spelled of the "ear-blade" cup—By Victoria Hayward.

Can the Church Support Organized Labor?

By the Rev. Charles Steila.

In the church's approach to labor, we must frankly face the problems of the poor. On this point there can be no evasion and no compromise. Jesus did not try to get away from the questions that were asked by the people. He did not always answer these questions to their satisfaction, because of their prejudice and their preconceived ideas, but he never failed to lay down the principles which he would apply to the case under discussion. And this must be the attitude of the church toward the social questions of the day.

What then should be the position of the church with regard to organized labor? Shall the church, and particularly the minister, accept all the principles for which the trades union is contending, in order to "make good" with labor? Must the church always stand with organized labor in its right for the union shop, the boycott, the minimum wage, the shorter workday?

We may set it down as a fundamental principle that the church cannot advocate any economic system, no matter what it may be. The church is purely a voluntary organization, and is composed of all classes, including both employers and employees. The church cannot assume to lay late for its members on matters which are clearly outside of its province, and concerning which men have a right to disagree, and in which no direct moral principle is involved.

Ecclesiastical bodies have a right to demand obedience from a minority when the question has to do with ecclesiastical affairs, but they may not assume to dictate to minorities with reference to matters which are purely economic or political. However, when the workingman is making a fight for better living conditions, a reasonable number of hours of employment, a living wage, and a square deal in every other particular, he has a right to insist that the church shall come out clearly and specifically and take its stand with him in the struggle. The church must stand with organized labor in its contention for conditions which every unprejudiced person must recognize as just and fair, but the approval of the church of the methods whereby these conditions are to be obtained should be given only when they are lawful and moral. But here the church cannot afford to stop at the point of passing reso-
