MAKING OF A SOLDIER

Col. H. J. Dawson Tells Kiwanians It Takes at Least Seven Months.

The Kiwanis club held a business-like meeting Sunday and had a very business-like address from Col. H. J. Dawson, director of studies at R.M.C., a former commander of the 14th Regiment, and of the 59th Battalion, C.E.F. Col. Dawson outlined the process of changing an average citizen into a citizen-soldier, and set as the time necessary for that process, seven months, with several additional months on active service at the front before being wholly dependable. He showed the need for a certain percentage of trained officers and non-commissioned officers throughout the country in order that there might be at all times men ready to take over the raising and training of battalions for service. Without such men about the feat would be next to impossible. The address was crisp, brief and to the point and was lightened here and there by personal experiences of Col. Dawson in such work as he outlined. The vote of thanks was moved and seconded by Kiwanians Lieut. E. B. Sparks and Lieut.-Col. T. A. Kidd. Considerable amusement was caused when President Mills asked Kiwanian Alfred H. Fair, Hemlock Park Stock Farm, to stand; and found that half the members did not know his name. There were many fines, and sweet charity collected well. Mr. Fair has been wintering in the south of England and may be prevailed upon to relate some of his travelling experiences to the club in the near future.

Sixty-one tickets were purchased by the club for the Boys' Choir concert on Friday night and tickets also purchased for all the children at the Orphan's Home. On behalf of the debate judges in last week's contest, Ambrose Shea announced that the affirmative side, Columbus Hanley as leader, and George Vanhorne as "silent partner," had won the debate. The opposing team consisted of Wendling Anglin and Jack Newlands. The support of the club was asked for the commemoration of the seventh anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge, which is being held in the G.W.V.A. quarters, Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the 21st Battalion Club. Major-General Macdonell is to preside and Dr. R. Bruce Taylor will be one of the speakers. The guests of the day were Col. Dawson and "Jack" Day of the Sun Life Insurance Company.

GANANOQUE

April 8.—On Saturday last when returning from Kingston H. S. Campbell with Mrs. Campbell, Miss Benoit and Harry had quite an exciting experience which they will not soon forget. When just about six miles from town, Mr. Campbell noticed a run-away team of horses hitched to a spring wagon coming at a mad pace towards him and acting very quickly he got to the side of the road and opening the door of his Sedan pushed the occupants out and just in time too because the team struck his car. Mrs. Campbell suffered a great deal from shock, but beyond this the occupants of the car had a miraculous escape from serious injury due to Mr. Campbell's great presence of mind. The occupants of the vehicle, Mr. and Mrs. McMaster, did not escape so luckily. Mrs. McMaster was thrown into the ditch and sustained some minor injuries, while Mr. McMaster was very badly cut on the leg, though last reports from all parties are very good and Mr. McMaster who suffered most is expected to be around again as usual in a few days. On Sunday last, Roy Button, Joseph Conlin and Pat Shine left by motor to spend the day in Nanapanee and Belleville with friends. Mr. McFarlane met with a painful accident Saturday night when he had his hand crushed while adjusting an elevator in the warehouses of H. Wilson and Son on the north side of King street. Charles Wylie left yesterday to accept a position in Toronto. Miss Gretha Beresford spent the week-end with friends in Kingston. The chief of police is among the latest purchasers of new car. Edward Delaney, Queen's, spent the week-end here with his parents. Miss Mabel Carpenter and Mrs. George Whaley will attend the Ontario Library Association convention in Toronto on Easter Monday.

AN AWFUL ATTACK OF PIMPLES ALL OVER HIS FACE

Pimples breaking out on the face and other parts of the body is a sure sign that the blood is not in proper shape. While the skin is the object of the attack the real seat of the disease is in the blood on account of the entire circulation being poisoned. Burdock Blood Bitters quickly and effectually banishes pimples and all other skin diseases as it goes right to the root of the trouble by cleansing and enriching the blood. Mr. Conrad Anderson, Kelfield, Sask., writes:—"A year ago I had an awful attack of pimples. They broke out all over my face and I could not get rid of them in any way. One day a friend told me about your Burdock Blood Bitters and let me have a bottle he had to spare. After using it I noticed a change, so I bought three more bottles, and now I don't know there is such a thing as pimples." B.B.B. is manufactured only by The T. Millbra Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

and Tuesday as delegates from the Gananoque public library. Miss Minnie Hanley, Kingston, is in town. Father Hanley is expected to arrive about Wednesday. Hugh Wallis, C.A., of McDonald, Currie and Company, Montreal, arrived in town to-day in connection with the quarterly audit of the Ontario Steel Products Company. Mr. Wallis spent the week-end as the guest of Sir Archibald Macdonell at the Royal Military College, Kingston. Mrs. W. H. Pennock, Ottawa, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sampson.

MAXSON FOXHALL JUMPEL
THE CORNER OF A HEART.
By Roy Farrell Greene.
One corner of her girlish heart she yielded first to me,
And halted there, because the rest was occupied, you see,
By tenants who were kin to her, and who, as you'll divine,
Through having dwelt there many years had stronger claims than mine.
I quite forgot which one it was my spread of love displaced—
If Cousin John's or Uncle Will's heart-lodgings were effaced.
Yet soon I found the quarters cramped, and with a wooer's art
I coaxed an added portion to that corner of her heart.

The transfer was arranged, and oh, the ripple of her laugh,
When she avowed: "Your corner's grown till new much more than half
My heart you're occupying, dear. You will know what that means—
That all the other tenants now are crowded like sardines!"
"Well, more of them will have to move!" with candor, I avowed.
"While those whom you select to stay must still more closely crowd."
And move they did (clear out at last) which shows the greedy part
A man will play if he's allowed one corner in a heart!

Stories That Aren't Printed.
"If you refuse me," he swore, "I shall die."
She refused him.
And sixty years later he died.
—Jean Benedict.

THE COMPLETE GOLFER

Tales from Bunkerland
By Newman Levy
In the manner of—
Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.
I shot a ball into the air,
It fell to earth, I know not where.
I said some things that weren't nice.
The ball was new—I'd used it twice.

Long long, afterwards, in the rain,
I lost another ball again,
And as I cursed, there at the tee
My caddy said them back to me.

Lieutenant Gitz Rice,
Keep your head down, Fritzy boy;
Keep your head down, Fritzy boy,
To-day at three, on the thirteenth tee,
I saw you, I saw you,
Oh, you spoil every shot
By that one fault you've got.
If you want to be a golfer take a tip from me,
Keep your head down, Fritzy boy.

Stupid people are always refreshing. They are so delightfully ignorant about what they don't know.

FABLEGRAM

(With a Bow to Aesop)
By Arthur N. Kober.
A Crow flew to a Cellar and was ready to Pass away from want of a Drink when he spied, behind a Group of Aspiring Cobwebs, a Pitcher.

He perched on it hoping to find Water therein. There was a Liquid on the bottom, and since his was a Beak that had no turning, he could not reach it.

There were no pebbles on hand to lower so as to raise the Liquid to the Surface, and the poor Crow heaved a heavy Sigh into the Pitcher. This struck the Liquid which splashed into the Crow's mouth. The bird immediately aged and passed away. Where he formerly stood there was now a bottle of Old Crow.

Moral:
What's Wrong With this Pitcher?

The Third Alarm.
Kris: "Johnson's business is all run down."
Kross: "Yes, he's going to wind it up."
—William Gross.

If All Else Fail—

A robin appears and people say, "Oh, it is spring." Ice leaves the harbor, snow disappears, the Wolfe Islander awakens from her dreams; "We are sure, now," they say. Alas, we have known that spring was here for many weeks before belated nature awoke to the ever increasing warmth of the sun. Be winter ever so late a staying guest, there are signs and portents which prophesy the oncoming new season, which may be read easily by those with observing eyes landladies, movie hall proprietors, dance hall supervisors, and best of all by the meter readers from the electric light department.

No longer do the bright lights of Grand hall tempt the unwary. Many bright lights are shining, but in secluded top floor rooms, where, unaccompanied by any music save the chimes of St. Andrew's, the solitary student invokes the wrath of the Diety upon an education the writing of legible notes from its curriculum. In vain (?) do the movie houses tempt us with "Black Oxen." Black economics and blacker French are on the programme for the month. Statistics from the power plant prove that more electric power is consumed during the month of April than at any other time of the year. Landladies will testify that more ashes are dropped upon floors during this month than during any other. Who says the robin is a sign of spring? The seasons may lag. Snow storms have occurred in May. But examination time is as immutable as Gibraltar. Heartlessly the Juggernaut creeps on us. Days of haste and nights of toil—the undergraduate knows that spring is here.

A stubborn will may be broken by some little act of kindness so easy for you and me to perform. The boy is fit to become a man simply by the teachings of a painstaking and faithful mother.
