 What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

TONIGHT "BRINGING UP FATHER"
 The kind of fun that is sure to find acclaim with the most exacting patron of the theatre is promised in the new "Bringing Up Father" play which is to be at the Grand to-night. The play, which is based on the popular comics of George McManus is entitled "Bringing Up Father On Broadway." It is the work of John P. Mulgrew, a well-known writer for the stage. All the beloved characters of the famous cartoons will appear—Jiggs Mahoney, Maggie, Kitty and Dinty Moore.

The plot, which is novel and brimful of surprises, shows the social aspirations of Maggie and the many adventures of those concerned. The action takes in various localities including New York, Hawaiian Islands, Egypt, Paris and Italy. Plenty of opportunity for scenic embellishment has been provided, a replica of one of the most noted Broadway roof gardens being shown. New and catchy music, along with a beauty chorus of twenty sprightly and beautiful young women are a few of the features.

PUBLIC WANTS REAL ACTING ON SCREEN
 Theatre-goers Not Satisfied With Good Looks and Clothes, Says Mary Alden.

There was a time when the motion picture screen was but a beauty market, but in the language of the cartoonist, "Them days is gone forever," says Mary Alden, celebrated film star noted for her pictorialization of the mother type of character.

"Motion picture producers, most of them, have awakened to the fact that the public to-day demands genuine dramatic ability as well as good looks and the result is that nowadays even the most beautiful screen aspirant must learn to act if she hopes to reach a really high place in the favor of theatre-goers and to retain that place once attained.

"There have been many instances where girls possessing beautiful features have become stars, but a discriminating public, through the box office, just naturally refused to remain attracted because they could not act. The public built the tobbogan for these synthetic stars, placed them upon it and then gave them a shove as it were. The natural laws of gravitation did the rest. And to-day that weeding out process is writing out beauty on the screen unless it possesses dramatic ability as well."

Miss Alden, who is one of the prime film favorites of this city, will be seen here at the Grand tomorrow, Friday and Saturday in the leading role of "A Woman's Woman," a Charles Giblyn production for Allied Producers and Distributors Corporation. In "A Woman's Woman" she again plays the mother role and gives one of the very best of her surpassing characterizations. The picture itself is a big production in all senses of the word, and presents an intensely human domestic drama. An added attraction, the International comedy favorite, Max Linder in his supreme burlesque "The Three Must-Get-Thems."

"THY NAME IS WOMAN"
 A Glamorous Drama of Love and Intrigue—Ramon Novarro Heads Cast.

"Thy Name is Woman" is the dramatic comet of the year. This new production opens a three day engagement at the Capitol, theatre to-morrow. The acting and atmosphere were so vivid that every spectator must have felt as if he were being brushed by the comet's blazing trail.

The credit for this accomplishment appears to rest surely on the shoulders of such favorites as Ramon Novarro, Barbara La Marr, William V. Mong, Edith Roberts and Claire MacDowell. That cast is one of the strongest of the season. Certain it is that no other combination of players has succeeded in getting over any better the illusion of reality.

The story, of course, has a lot to do with it. It concerns the eternal conflict of men over a beautiful woman. An old smuggler in the Spanish Pyrenees has a young wife who is sought by several other men. A young soldier is sent from the garrison to make love to her and thus learn enough about the smuggler to effect his capture. The soldier and wife fall in love and the struggle is on. With this as a starting point, the picture works up to great dramatic climaxes, with the final solution coming only after a tragedy.

The unusual chance for rich, warm atmosphere with the back ground of life in the Pyrenees has been fully taken advantage of, the interior sets, especially that of the smuggler's cabin, are vivid and filled with interesting detail.

An extra added attraction for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be offered in The O'Brien Sisters and Co. This clever team have been playing some of the largest houses in the country and the management personally recommends this vaudeville attraction.

OBITUARY

Late Mrs. M. P. Reid.
 After a lengthy illness, Minnie Adella Jones, wife of Marshall P. Reid, died on Tuesday. Mrs. Reid was born in Gloversville, N.Y., and was an only surviving child. Her parents resided in Kingston for about thirty-four years. Her mother, Mrs. Jones, is still living. Her father passed away about three years ago. She leaves to mourn, her husband, her mother and one son, Howard. The late Mrs. Reid was one of the senior members of Louise Lodge No. 10, Daughters of Rebekah. She was a member of Cooke's Presbyterian church and had a host of friends in Kingston. The funeral will be held from her late residence, 30 Union street, corner of Arch street, on Friday afternoon.

CRIMINALLY RESPONSIBLE

For Deaths of Bank Chauffeur and Bank Bandit.
 Montreal, April 9.—Giuseppe Soraphina and Core Neigre were held criminally responsible for the deaths of Henri Cleroux, chauffeur of the Bank of Hochelaga, and "Big Paul" Stone, drug-peddler and bandit, by a coroner's jury which to-day investigated their deaths from wounds received during a battle in connection with the $142,000 robbery of the collection car of the Bank of Hochelaga on April 1st.

Lawyers Throttles Witness.
 Oshawa, April 9.—While acting for Constantine Glecoff, charged with a second offense under the O.T.A., and who was convicted and fined $400 or six months in jail and three months because of his previous conviction, D. A. J. Swanson asked a witness why he had not worked in the past five years. In answering the question witness stated he had not worked because of disabilities for the likes of you." Mr. Swanson, who served from 1915, grabbed witness by the throat and choked him until court officers dragged him away. Witness, a little later, was seized with a fainting spell and permitted to leave the room.

Attends Golden Wedding.
 Brockville, April 9.—Rev. Dr. J. B. Saunders, retired Methodist clergyman of the Montreal Conference, attended the golden wedding of Iniquity to-day of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Reichardt, whom he married 50 years ago. The minister of the church which they now attend, who was also present, was ordained by Dr. Saunders twenty-five years ago.

THE PINE SHOWING

Of War Veterans on Former Alberta Indian Reserve.
 Out of thirty settlers on the Bob-tail Indian Reserve near Ponoka, Alberta, but one is classified by the soldier settlement district supervisor as likely to fail.

This reserve was taken over by the Soldier Settlement Board in 1919 and divided into farm units of an average size of 214 acres. In the season of 1923 all the settlers had from one-third to one-half of their acreage under cultivation—in one case 140 acres—although none of the land was broken when the district was opened. Buildings have been erected, farms fenced and other improvements completed. The district has a school house and roadwork has been done. There is a Dominion Government Stock Association in the district and the supervisor reports a marked tendency towards mixed farming. The settlers are well equipped with producing stock and machinery.
