"PAH JUG" HERE

GREAT GAME TOO.
Kingston Fook Baha Invent New Wrinkle Waffle Repairing Tires
Our song and our book were so well received that we've let loose again and invented a new game—"PAH JUG." The Mongolians had seen to it that Ma was represented in "Mah Jong" so we had to take up the oudgela-on behalf of Pa. The game is very simple. Invite in all the people who have borrowed umbrellas from you in the past ten years; ask them to name an animal that has six legs, no ears and which refuses to pay his income tax. The dark gentlemen sitting on the chair next to the piano, which the baller's are coming for to-morrow, then offers to blindfold himself and tell the difference between a plate of Chop Suey and Flamingoes pin feathers on toast. At this stage the oil stock salesman gets gushy, says those who follow him will have barrels of fun and averts his head no other than the guy who took the "lean" out of gasoline. "Oh Boy," the refreshments come in. Just when ye hostess commences apportioning the hot rolls of honor, Pa steps in and says: "Boys and Gals the honour of having you here is all my own. The empty plates and heads is convincing evidence you have left no stones of four untuned. I don't know who won the game, but I am sure you have all benefitted by the sprits of goodwill, which is the big idea half-back of the game."
The rules and regulations of Pah Jug are just coming from the printers. A copy of same goes with every Dunlop Tire we sell. Likewise the man or woman who purchases gas or oil from "Old Reliables," 217 Bagot Street (or calls on the A. & D. boys to repair that cover or tube, instantly or sooner), is entitled to, and certainly will get a set of these instructions. The printing is in Chinese.

KINGSTON BOY SPEAKS AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

F. K. Upton's Address on the Tuxis Programme and Boys' Parliament

The members of the Kingston Rotary Club, at their weekly luncheon in the British-American hotel on Friday noon listened to a splendid address delivered by F. K. Upton, a Kingston boy, who represents this city in the older boys' provincial parliament. He spoke on the Tuxis programme and the boys' parliament. The president, Leman A. Guild, presided, and the attendance of members was good.

In opening his address the speaker remarked that much had been said and read about the great men of the past, but that his address would have to do with the great men of the future—the boys of to-day, the men of the future who would make Canadian history. He spoke of a movement put on foot about twenty years ago, to form an organization for the benefit of the boys. At this time there were many organizations doing good work, but only along one line. One society probably looked after athletics, another debating and so on. These organizations were but one-sided. It was hoped to have an organization which would cover the intellectual, physical, religious and social side of the boy—that would be four-fold. This was brought about by the formation of the Tuxis movement. This organization stood for a training for service, with Christ as the centre, as the only perfect man. These organizations were formed in churches, Sunday schools, Y.M.C.A., or any place where the boys would congregate, the boys ranging in age from 10 to 21.

The speaker then went on to tell how the organization was governed, the various work undertaken and the badges given to the boys for good work. As a result of these organizations boys were well developed in every way. Junior city and county councils were among the products of the organization and reference was made to several of the councils formed and the work being carried on. In the Toronto councils, the boys got a good training in political procedure as boys of all nationalities and creeds were gathered together into friendship and unity. Another product of the organization was the formation of an older boys' parliament, at which various problems were discussed, particularly those which have to do with the boys.

At this stage the speaker took occasion to pay a warm tribute to the Rotarians in Toronto at a recent meeting of the boys' parliament in that city. The Rotarians gave the boys a great reception and helped them in every way possible.

Continuing, the speaker pointed out that the programme of the Tuxis movement was of a national character and with boys of the teen age this formed a unique assemblage. The organization was turning out boys who would develop into the type of men Canada wanted—men who would make good citizens. Canada would have no need to worry over these boys.

In closing his address, which held the intense interest of all present, the young speaker stated that several of the members of the Rotary club had been helping along the movement and he appealed for united support from the club. He also expressed his thanks for the opportunity of addressing the club. "The invitation came to me as a surprise," he stated, "but it came as a good surprise."

Rotarian C. C. Nash moved the vote of thanks to the speaker and in doing so stated that he was very proud of the young speaker, especially in view of the fact that he was a member of his Sunday school class.

Rotarian Nash stated that the movement was a good one and he thought the club should get behind it and establish an older boys' city council in the city.

The president praised the movement and referred the matter to the incoming board of directors.

Rotarian Wightman reported that ten members of the club will go to Syracuse, N.Y., to attend the district convention on April 25th.

The members were given a reminder of the big convention to be held in Toronto, June 18th to 20th. Announcement was also made of the London Concert Six to appear at the Grand Opera House on Monday, April 21st. It is of interest to note that the opening chorus for this production, "Hail Glorious Canada," has been dedicated to the Rotary club.

On motion of Rotarian Harry Breathwaite and Howard Kelly, the sum of $10 was voted to help defray the expenses of the boys' choir of Victoria school going to Toronto the latter part of this month, to take part in the big musical festival there.

The president read a few extracts from a breezy letter received from Rotarian "Al" Davis, now in New York, and who was recently presented with a flag by the New York club for the Kingston club. The presentation took place before six hundred members of the New York Rotary Club. "Al" sent word for the local members to brush up on their singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," so as they would be able to sing it well on the occasion of his return home when he would present the flag to the club.

Owing to the fact that next Friday is Good Friday, the club will hold its luncheon on Thursday, at noon.

Guests introduced at Friday's luncheon included G. E. Wightman, Rev. Dr. W. S. Lennan and Kiwanian Ernest Sparks.

THE TOWN WATCHMAN

Are you taking your spring tonic of sulphur yet?

The persistence of those three foreigners, who could not speak English when they arrived in Kingston lately and yet have secured work, should make some other people around here ashamed of themselves.

The plumber usually comes out on top, but one of the fraternality saw his finish when he tried conclusions with a Kingston woman in court.

The result of automobile actions heard in court here this week showed that people should think twice before suing for damages. The blame in the majority of collisions is of the fifty-fifty variety.

Every encouragement should be given to singing by school children. About thirty or more years ago there was good singing in the schools here and big choruses appeared in the old opera house. Now there is a revival. A singing people will become a happy people.

You can laugh at the Ladies' Aid if you wish, but where would the churches and the hospitals be to-day without that time-honored body of women?

Now that the taxes are being reduced and the price of coal is down too, will rents alone continue to go up?

Thaw, the murderer of Sanford White of New York, has been adjudged sane. He was never anything else. His ailment was merely being a fool.

It took a "classic" like "Bringing Up Father" to draw the biggest theatre crowds of the season here.

Dr. Banting advocates afternoon tea to offset the swift pace of to-day; but some people might gulp down the cup of tea as fast as they used to swallow their glass of beer or biters prior to the year '15.

As far as the Watchman can see, all the delegations which have waited upon the Government this year had self-interest as their object. None went there for the other fellow. That Kingston petition of W. H. Compton asking for the commuting of the death sentence of two London murderers was the exception.

The village of Athens finds it difficult to get an editor to continue its newspaper. It is a costly job nowadays to handle a small paper and make ends meet.

The recent law passed by the New York state legislature requiring foreign doctors to have five years' residence in the United States before being allowed to qualify to practise in that state, is resulting in more Canadian rural districts receiving medical attention. Newly-graduated doctors are looking for places at home instead of abroad.

Objection has been taken to the location of a Chinese laundry at the corner of Brook and Division street. The matter has caused much controversy and a petition against the proposed location of the laundry is now before the civic authorities.

THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE

there was," said a citizen, in speaking of the matter to a Whig representative. Yes, we may need it even in Kingston. Who knows but to-morrow the mayor or some of the alderman may wake up to find a laundry sign on the house next door to him. There are good reasons why the mayor should be annoyed if he found a Chinese laundry or glue factory open next door to his residence. First, not being familiar with their tongue, he would find it somewhat difficult to hang over the back fence and gossip as good neighbors should; second, experience teaches that surrounding property depreciates in value; third, neighboring property cannot command as desirable tenants as previously.

"But the argument that I would especially emphasize," continued the citizen, "is that the site of the proposed Chinese settlement is within a stone's throw of Louise public school, which is attended by over one hundred children, some of them quite young. This fact makes the aforesaid petition of much wider interest and importance. Some children are known to have a terror of Chinamen.

"The public school board has sufficient influence, if it cares to exercise it, to demand a desirable atmosphere about their schools. Let the duly elected representative or representatives of the petitioners and others interested act with the school authorities and there should be no trouble in disposing of this particular case forthwith. In conclusion I would ask if it is unreasonable that families who have been Canadians and Kingstonians for a generation or generations should request that their interests should be protected in a matter such as this."

A Vanishing Species?

(News Heading.—Says Flapper Type Will Vanish Soon)
Alas, little flapper, must we bid you adieu? Is it possible that in the inexorable process of evolution you must vanish, with the caveman and dinosaur, into the shades of history? No, no, we can not be so pessimistic as to believe it! Can you conceive a spring unheralded by delightful feminine creatures, adorned, for the confounding of mankind, in fair raiment and fairer millinery creations? What would summer be without the summer girl in her glory, captivating all hearts as she walks, a mean racket, equals her brother at high diving and drives her own car? Nor would winter be the same without those fur-coated, gay toqued figures amid the throngs upon the rinks, or hiking manfully abroad upon snowshoes and skis. There is no season of the year to which the flapper does not add pizziquancy, grace and the needed charm. As long as there is any spring, there will be flappers to welcome its coming, add brilliancy to its loveliness, and synopate its rhythm. Criticize the flapper, you may if you wish, (she'll never care) adore her you must, but do without her,—never.
