EASTER SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES.

The Easter day services in St. George's cathedral were marked by unusually large congregations and splendid musical services.

The church was fittingly decorated for the Feast of the Resurrection with quantities of flowers. Lilies clustered around the altar cross, bloomed in brass vases on the high altar, and lifted their snowy heads amongst the palms and ferns on the chancel steps. The pulpit and side altar were decked with tulips and daffodils in profusion, and a cross of roses, given in memory of a member of the congregation who has passed away, hung in the sanctuary. The cathedral organist played "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," (Handel) as the worshippers gathered for the 6.30 celebration of the Holy Communion at which Rev. W. E. Kidd was celebrant and again at 8 o'clock, when the Dean of Ontario celebrated the choral Eucharist at eleven o'clock when Readhead's office was sung. The choir and organist did full justice to the exquisitely devotional music which has seldom been as well rendered in the cathedral. Arnold Fair and E. Warburton took the solos in splendid voice. In the anthem "O Death! Where Is Thy Sting?" Arnold Fair sang the solo most sweetly. The Kingston Naval Cadet Corps paraded at the eleven o'clock service and occupied the R.M.C. gallery. The Dean of Ontario was the morning preacher. At evensong Arnold Fair sang the treble solo in the anthem "The Day of Resurrection" in his rich well-trained voice. The Bishop of Ontario was the preacher.

At St. James Church. An exceptionally fine programme of Easter music was rendered at the services held in St. James' church, under the direction of the organist, H. Hill. At the morning service the programme consisted of the following numbers: Te Deum (Brewer) anthem by the choir, "Crown Him With Many Crowns" (Brackett) in which the contralto solo was taken by Mrs. Horton, baritone solo, Mr. Scott; soprano and tenor duet by Mrs. Foster and Mr. Baldry; also a communion service composed by Mr. Hill with Gloria in Excelsis (Tours) in which the solo parts were taken by Mrs. Foster and Mr. Baldry.

In the evening the choir rendered the "Magnificat" and the "Nunc Dimittis" (Simpson) with Mrs. Horton taking the solo parts; the anthem, "Kings of Kings" (Simpson) with the soprano solos taken by Mrs. Tanner. The choir also rendered a portion of the communion service composed by Mr. Hill. Rev. T. W. Savary preached in the morning and Archdeacon Dobbs in the evening, both discourses being appropriate to the occasion.

At St. Paul's. All the services at St. Paul's were well attended. At the two celebrations of Holy Communion, at 8 a.m. and 11 a.m., here were over 350 communicants. The singing and music were excellent, under the able leadership of Miss Walker, (organist), and J. E. Harle, choir leader. Canon Fitzgerald preached on "The Power of Resurrection." The church was beautifully decorated with Easter lilies and other flowers.

At St. Luke's Church. At St. Luke's church on Sunday, the music was of a very high order, the programme being under the direction of Bert. F. Couper, choir leader and organist. Rev. J. De P. Wright, the rector, conducted the services. At both the services the choir was assisted by Mr. Le France, violinist, of Gananoque. The various anthems and solos were given with splendid effect, the entire programme as published in the Whig on Saturday, being carried out.

First Baptist Church. There was special music at both services in the First Baptist church on Sunday. At the morning service, Miss La Flair took the solo part in the anthem and James Saunders sang a solo. The evening music consisted of an anthem, in which James Saunders took the solo part, and James Marshall sang a tenor solo. Rev. La Flair presided at both services.

Bethel Church. It was a large and appreciative congregation that listened on Sunday evening in Bethel church to the beautiful Easter cantata "The Lord is Risen" sung by the members of the choir. The cantata took the piece of the evening sermon and for one hour the choir delighted the people with their rendition of this sacred music.

The anthems, Christ is Risen, Gethsemane, Angela Descending, For God So Loved the World, Very Early in the Morning, Now is Christ Risen, The Trumpet Shall Sound, and Oh Come Let Us Sing Unto the Lord were rendered in splendid style.

The ladies' chorus "Morn's Rosate Hues" was a beautiful number, while the contralto solo, "O Sacred Head" sung by Miss Elsie Duncan, was an outstanding number of the cantata. Mrs. J. Lomax sang the soprano solo, "If Ye Be Risen With Christ," and the male quartette composed of F. A. Hafner, James Lomax, Fred. Wilson and William Thompson sang "When Thou Hast Overcome." Solo parts in the anthems were taken by Miss Lucille Wilson, F. A. Hafner and Aubrey Williams.

This is the first effort of this choir with a cantata and they certainly deserve great credit for their work, which is under the direction of James Lomax, as choirleader, and Mrs. A. Williams as organist.

Chalmers Church. There were large Easter day congregations in Chalmers church. Rev. George A. Brown officiated morning and evening. At the morning service, holy communion was celebrated. The anthem, "Behold I Show You a Mystery" was most effectively rendered by the choir, Mr. Morris taking the solo. At the evening service, Miss Telgmann rendered a violin solo and the choir sang the anthem "I Am He That Liveth," the solo part being taken by Mr. Morris. Chalmers choir, under Mrs. Dobbe's direction, is a most balanced organization, the basses and tenors being very pronounced. The Easter sermons by Rev. Mr. Brown were splendid messages. At the evening service, Rev. Dr. Alfred Gandler, Toronto, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, worshipped with the congregation.

Cooke's Presbyterian. There was special music at both services in Cooke's church on Sunday. At the morning service there was an anthem by the choir; solo, Allen Lemmon and duet by the Misses Eason. At the evening service there was an anthem; solo, by Miss Diack and duet by Wellington Simmons and Allen Lemmon. Rev. T. J. S. Ferguson preached at both services. Miss Beattie Rogers, organist and choir leader, had charge of the musical service.

St. Andrew's Church. The Rev. J. W. Stephen conducted the services in St. Andrew's church on Easter Sunday, and they were appropriate to the occasion. Beautiful music was offered by the choir under the leadership of Mrs. A. R. B. Williamson at the organ. At the morning service the choir rendered King Hall's "The Deum" in B flat. "The Trumpet Shall Sound," a solo from "The Messiah," was taken by Mr. Ernest Hoss. At the evening service the anthem was "As It Began to Dawn," Martin. The solo part was taken by Mr. Harold Singleton. Miss Deloraine Craig sang, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," from "The Messiah."

Zion Presbyterian. At Zion church, communion service was held at 11 a.m. on Easter Sunday and in the evening only a short service was held in order to allow the members to attend the Union services at Chalmers church, and the Rev. Mr. Burgess urged his congregation to attend. Easter music was rendered.

Sydenham Street Methodist. Special Easter services were held in Sydenham street Methodist church on Sunday. At the morning service the quarterly communion service was held and also a reception for new members. In the afternoon an open session was held in the Sunday school hall and a number of the children rendered the programme. Philip Toy, a member of the Chinese department of the school, sang a solo. At the evening service the choir, under the leadership of Miss M. Shaw, gave a special musical service.

The pulpit platform was beautifully decorated with flowers by a committee from the Woman's Association of the church. At the close of the evening service the flowers were taken to the Mowat hospital.

Queen Street Methodist. A large audience assembled in Queen street Methodist church yesterday for the Easter morning service. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Lennon, preached an appropriate Easter message of "Spiritual Redirection." The choir rendered beautifully Barnaby's "Awake Up My Glory," and Mrs.

stationary Society. Mrs. F. W. Balls, the president, presided with marked ability and was splendidly assisted by ushers and stewards from the society. Miss Emma Wilder took the opening prayer and Mrs. (Dr.) Murphy and Miss Simpson, the scriptural lessons. Mrs. (Rev.) Mavety gave the offertory prayer. The pastor's wife, Mrs. Curtis, gave the Easter message. Special reference was made to the commission given the women that Easter morning, and how they had, through the W.M.S. today, tried to fulfil that commission. Over five million dollars had been raised by their organization since its inception forty-two years ago. The anthems were inspiring and a duet by Mesdames Ward and Rutherford was beautifully rendered. The surprised junior choir added to the very enjoyable service.

In the evening the pastor preached on "Life Through Death." Besides a beautiful anthem by a large choir, the triumphant Easter message, "Christ Arose," was sung by a quartette consisting of Mesdames Archibald and Sheppard, Messrs. Loney and Wiskin. The pastor held a reception service morning and evening, when over forty persons joined the church.

St. Mary's Cathedral.

There were four masses in St. Mary's cathedral on Easter Sunday. The solemn pontifical high mass at 10.30 was sung by His Grace Archbishop Spratt; deacon, Rev. Father James; sub-deacon, Rev. Father Coyne; high priest, Rev. Father Hyland; master of ceremonies, Rev. Father Leacy. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Father McCann, Redemptorist, Toronto, on "Easter." The choir, with Prof. Galley directing, rendered the Second Tone mass. The solo part to the "Gloria" was sung by M. Lapointe. At the "Sanctus," John Norris took the solo part and by Roy Marchand, at the "Angus Dei." At the opening of the mass, Prof. Nourry, at the organ, played the "Coronation March." The "Hoc Dies" and "Alleluia" chorus, composed by Prof. Nourry, was given by the choir at the offertory. Several thousands received holy
