BABY ROASTED IN OVEN.

Crawled To His Death While Mother Was Upstairs.
 Quebec, April 21.—The eight-months-old baby of Mrs. A. Drouin, St. Joseph de Beauce, was roasted to death in the oven of the large farmhouse type stove at her home.

Mrs. A. Drouin had placed her baby boy near the stove to allow his clothing to dry. She had taken the boy out in the yard, and as it was raining his clothes became very wet. Believing that the baby would not move from the chair, which was near the open oven, the mother went to the second story of the house to change her own clothes. She had been there only a few minutes when she realized that there was something wrong, and, running down to the stove, she found her baby roasting in the open oven.

An inquest was held by Coroner Auger of Beauce and a verdict of accidental death was returned.
