CITY LEAGUE HAS STRONG EXECUTIVE

General Meeting on Saturday Night a Big Success-Next Gathering on 28th.

It was a very successful meeting that the Kingston Amateur Baseball League enjoyed on Saturday night. One of the principal matters on the docket was the election of officers and the following men will guide the destinies of Kingston's largest sporting body this season:

Honorary President-Ald. Harry Sargent.

President-James Kane. First vice-president-Patrick Mor-Second Vice-president-Jack Der- Indicator and score book . Third Vice-president-Jack Day.

One of the important moves of the meeting was again to co-ordinate the offices of secretary and treasurer. Banquet 73.00 gues cannot be arranged as they are M. V. Two new men appear on the list of officers, Messrs. Derry, of the firm of Walsh & Derry, tailors; Jack Day, of the Sun Life Insurance Company, former winner of the 158-pound intercollegiate boxing title of Queen's University. The executive is a strong one and should guide the K.A.B.L. through another successful year.

A Fine Report. The report of the treasurer, M. V. Buffam, was presented and is a fine one. It showed that, after buying individual trophies for the winners of the Mercantile League championship, and providing a banquet for the championship teams, the association finished last season with a balance of $24.10, largely due to the surplus accumulated by the old Mercantile League in previous years. The tabulated report is as follows:

The report of the treasurer of the K.A.B.L., in a colemn adjoining, will be read by baseball fans with great interest and probably with some surprise. It is a tribute to the city league which fought last year in the face of overwhelming odds and lack of official support and to the handful of officers who, by their hard work, made such a good season possible.

And, though it may seem a sort of backhand slap, it might be in accepted O.B.A.A. principles and in order to wonder-when the city league, with its small crowds, voluntary spite of that has won two interme- collection system, with one in ten paying anything, and then never over twenty-five cents, could turn over something near two thousand dollarswhat was turned over by a team with large crowds, a fifty-cent admission to closed grounds and a five hundred dollar grant from the city?

The Kingston C.O.B.L. team is to be encouraged. It is a great thing for the city and puts up high class entertainment (even if some of last year's games were more entertainment than baseball) which is enjoyed struggle, open grounds and the makings of future ball players in their principal officers with authority to hands, received no encouragement or official grant, it seemed a strange kind of discrimination to give a large sum to a self-supporting team.

> Perhaps, however, other financial statements, in the same detail, will be forthcoming and then all the fans can see just why that sum was needed and just how it was expended, along with the other amounts received during the year.

> But other years had other stories and this season we all look ahead to much better things. A wise move for the senior team right now would be to jump into that third position in the senior section of the city league, and operate an intermediate team which would be a developing ground for their players and a link between the two organizations. There are a couple of budding clubs getting a line on the position, but it's first come first served and the C.O.B.L. outfit has there a golden opportunity.

> Victorias are the latest acquisition to the junior ranks of the city city league. A secretary with power to look after junior matters would be a big help this season and would somewhat lighten the load which the present secretary-treasurer has so ably carried.
