HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Ham, tongue, corned beef and meats that are not to be served hot are improved by partially cooling in the water in which they were boiled.

If you live in cramped quarters and have no place to put an ironing board you will find this plan helpful: remove the upper drawer of your bureau, and put it back upside down, with a Turkish towel or pad over it. You will have a good surface upon which to press.

A white oilcloth glued smoothly to one side of the molding board makes a nice clean surface for molding sandwiches or pastries.

It is possible to buy very neat bibs of absorbent paper which may be destroyed after using and save much extra trouble when traveling with a young baby. They save laundry, too. Any smooth tin box can be painted with enamel paint to make a neat container for small articles.

Instead of using the whole wash-room for soap, you can use the skins and stems only and have the rest for a meat sauce.

There are times, I believe, when to sidetrack the truth is an act of humanity and justice.

In opinion, good or bad, most of us are overstocked. In the army of the Lord there are no draft soldiers.

The Youthful Fur Jaquette

By ELEANOR GUNN

Interest in furs for immediate wear, curiously enough, centres not on neckpieces to offset the tailleur, but on short jaquettes of various forms among which may be mentioned those that are embroidered or braided. Embroidering a fur coat seems on a par with gilding the lily or painting the rose, yet designers do not hesitate to use fur as a basis for all sorts of decorative effects.

Among the curiously combined fur and fabric coats worn, are little jaquettes with revers and pocket bindings of Ottoman silk. These are absurdly like men's smoking jackets and are being chosen by young girls who are enthusiastic followers of the boyish mode, for nothing, not even the fur coat is exempt from the tailored touch.

One might infer that a fox scarf or some sort of fur choker would be regarded as the proper companion to the tailleur, but until the novelty of a bright silk scarf has diminished, women seem to find no interest in any other type of neckwear. Furriers, zealous to a degree, are launching

Beautiful Floors—and easy to choose

TIME was, when the choice of a floor covering required that every inch of the room be covered. This meant a big expenditure and a long, laborious task in laying.

Today is different. Floors must be simple, clean, easily-cared-for. The domestic help problem is a real one and every item of work must be cut down to reasonable proportions.

You may settle these floor covering anxieties at once and for all by choosing

Dominion Linoleum Rugs

for all your floors. Dominion Linoleum Rugs are obtainable in convenient sizes to meet all room requirements. They are easy to handle and easy to lay and cling to the floor without fastening. Where the whole room is to be covered, Dominion Linoleum by the yard is the solution.

In either case, you are assured of long wear, comfort and economy and release from hours and hours of tedious beating and sweeping.

A Wonderful Array of Patterns

Beautiful designs have always been a feature of Dominion Linoleums. This year we offer a wider range of choice than ever. Patterns, worked out by skilled designers and developed in many delicate and distinctive shades and tones of coloring, give unusual scope to your ingenuity in room decoration. Choosing is really a pleasure.

Dominion Linoleum will not split, crack or tear. Its exceptional durability makes the already low price seem lower still.

This label is on the face of all genuine Dominion Linoleum and Dominion Linoleum Rugs. Look for it and also for the strong, long-fibre burling back that means strength and long wear.

jaunty little jaquettes so that we may have summer furs in one form or another.

White leopard and wild cat are exceedingly popular, there are several combinations of burunduki and mole which are engaging, and all manner of ermine effects both undyed and dyed.

A smart jaquette of summer ermine which is almost identical with the beige shades had the skins arranged in overlapping bands which produced a tucked effect around the edge of the jaquette. The Lanvin green crepe lining harmonized exquisitely with the soft tone of the fur and matched the simple little pleated crepe dress with which it was worn.

Lanvin green is a color the younger set seem particularly responsive to just now in felt hats and dull finished crepe. Another curious decorative effect is achieved by applying a thin skinned fur, for as burunduki or ermine on a longer fur. In the case of a short seal coat, burunduki in a wall of Troy design was applied around the edge of the jaquette. Jaquettes of the sports type frequently have appliques of bright leather as a decoration. The fur jaquette is quite as frequently worn over a suit as a one-piece dress these days, which cannot be said to call for fur.

The Bob-haired Bandit.

Here is a young woman of twenty who is credited with at least ten hold-ups, the appropriation of some $1,601 in goods and money, and the shooting of one man. She is young in years and without apparent experience in crime. Her husband is almost as young—his age is 35—and almost as inexperienced. Yet the two appeared and re-appeared under the noses of the largest police force in the United States. . . In France and Great Britain crime detection is more carefully prepared for than here. And in France and England there are fewer crimes committed and fewer criminals unpunished than in the United States. Partly this is because the problem in Europe is an easier one. But, when several inexperienced children can operate in New York City for months, sowing the streets with clues but defying apprehension, it will occur to many Americans that the size of crime problems in different countries may have a definite relation to the training and efficiency of police forces. —New York Sun.

Making A Fruit Cake With Pork. The following Reader Friends have kindly written in to tell us how they make fruit cake with salt pork:

Mrs. B.: "Pork Fruit Cake: Put three-quarters of a pound of fat salt pork through your food chopper, then pour one cup of boiling water over the chopped pork; add one cup of granulated sugar, two cups of molasses, one-half cup of sweet milk one cup each of seedless raisins and dried currants, then stir in the following dry mixture: five cups of flour, two teaspoons of baking soda and one-half teaspoon of all kinds of ground spices (cinnamon, nut-meg, clove, allspice, etcetera). Bake in two loaf-cake pans for two hours in a slow oven. This kind of cake will keep for a long time—in fact, it is better in a week or two than when first made."

Mrs. H.: "Pork Cake with Eggs: Put one pound of fat salt pork through a food chopper, add to it one cup of boiling water, and let the mixture boil for two minutes. Then remove from fire, add one cup of molasses, two cups of sugar, three beaten eggs, two teaspoons of baking soda, one pound of raisins chopped fine, and one half teaspoon each of your favorite spices such as cinnamon, ginger, nut-meg, cloves. Last add enough flour to make a stiff batter. Bake in three greased loaf-cake pans for about two hours in a slow oven."

M.H.: "My Eggless Pork Cake: Chop one pound of fat salt pork fine and pour over it one pint of boiling water, then stir in three cups of brown sugar, one pound of seeded raisins, eight cups of flour, two teaspoons of baking soda dissolved in a very little water, one teaspoon of ground cinnamon and one-half teaspoon each of ground cloves and nutmeg. Bake in two loaf-cake pans in a slow oven for about two hours. This makes a rich, dark fruity cake which tastes as if several eggs had been used."

Mrs. A. J.: "Two-Egg Pork Cake. Over one cup of finely-chopped fat salt pork, pour one cup of boiling water; add at once one cup of raisins, one cup of molasses, one cup of sugar, one cup of sweet milk, two eggs, four cups of flour, one-half teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of
