CHRIST'S APPEARANCE AT CALVARY CHURCH

After His Resurrection Explained by Rev. Montague Cyril Bickersteth, London.

Re-opening Took Place on Sunday—Rev. T. W. Jones, Montreal, Preacher.

The Sunday preacher in St. George's cathedral was Rev. Montague Cyril Bickersteth of the Community of the Resurrection, London, Eng. In the morning he chose as his text the verse, "To whom also he showed himself alive after his passion by many infallible proofs, being seen of them forty days, and speaking of the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God."

To the question "Why did Christ remain on earth forty days after his glorious resurrection before his triumphant ascension?" the answer seems to be found in this verse. He did it for the sake of his disciples and for our sakes; to make them quite sure he had been restored to them and in what manner; to open to them the scriptures as he did on the road to Emmaus and to "Teach them of the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God."

Great crowds saw Christ die on Calvary, his sacred side had been pierced by the spear of a Roman soldier to make his death certain. Among the crowd were friends and enemies, but his resurrection was not seen by mortal eye and only to his friends was he revealed. And why? Why did He not appear to Pilate, to the chief priests? Because it would have been useless and impossible. Because only those with spiritual insight could see in him the Christ as only those who wish to believe, accept the resurrection now. He rose in a glorified body and wished his disciples to realize that he had passed through the gate of death, "Touch Me not," he said to Mary Magdalene; not that he shrank from the touch of her who had been a sinner, but that he had not returned to life to die again like Lazarus. Death was conquered, as St. Paul said, "Christ being dead, dieth no more, death hath no more dominion over Him." He taught them of the church, "coming down from heaven as a bride adorned for her husband." A church all-embracing and world wide, a church equipped with the sacraments and with the Holy Spirit; a church with gifts which can only be had through spiritual insight.

Today there is a cry for the material, but we believe it is only through the eye of faith the risen Christ can be seen. In the sacrament of His body and blood, it is not the material body we receive but the spiritual food that can only be received through love and faith. Such is the provision the risen and ascended Lord has made for his people, a church which will be here to meet Him when He comes.

With Rev. T. W. Jones, M.A., of Calvary Church, Montreal, as special preacher, the remodelled Calvary Congregational Church was re-opened on Sunday at dedication services which were well-attended, despite weather conditions. On Monday night reception will be held in honor of the new minister of the church, Rev. Frank Sanders.

It was interesting to see a large number of children grouped in the Sunday school hall at the morning service and to these Rev. Mr. Jones addressed his first remarks. His main theme dealt with the subject, "The Challenge of the Present Hour to the Church, Pastor and People." In a sermon which made a deep impression on his hearers he outlined the rules which should guide the pastor and members of the new Calvary church in their continued spiritual progress.

This was a new age, he said and there were many aspects which the church must try to correct. It should work to improve the slackened observance of the Sabbath to give the children religious education and keep them interested in church work, for they formed the future church officers and congregation. There was less home life today than in the past and the church should be made a centre which would help to supply this deficiency, or commercialized pleasure would. He praised the motto of the Calvary church, "The Friendly Church." Thus a church should be, so that people in sorrow and sin would come to it for comfort.

Regarding the minister, Mr. Jones said he should first be an ambassador of Christ, winning men for Him. He must live his ministry and certainly not be a logy. He should be a teacher as well as a preacher.

But not all the work should be on the minister's shoulders. Every Christian should join a church, attend every Sunday and be ready to co-operate willingly in every department.

In bringing greetings from Dr. Gunn and his own congregation, Mr. Jones said the latter had as its efficient Sunday school secretary, Mr. Harry Sloan, a former member of the local church, while on its Board was Mr. Brown, a son of the late minister of the local church, Rev. Mr. Brown.

In asking for an offering of $500 Rev. Mr. Sanders expressed the thanks of the congregation to Mr. and Mrs. C. Drever, who have presented the church with a valuable altar bible. Mr. Drever was architect for the alterations in the church building.

At the evening service Rev. Mr. Jones spoke especially to the young people, his subject being "Consecration."

The choir had prepared an excellent musical programme for the day, including in the morning an anthem in which the solos were taken by Mrs. Howard King and Miss Margaret Lesage, and in the evening a solo by Miss Lottie Sanders. Miss Pearl Bickham presided at the organ.

Alterations costing about $12,000 and practically completed have made almost a new church out of the old building. Thirty feet extension to the east has trebled the capacity of the Sunday school hall, now possessing a library and stage, while an adjacent addition contains, vestry, choir rooms, a kitchenette and toilet rooms and another street entrance. The cellar has been much enlarged and another furnace added. It contains also an automatic drainage pump, as it was found to be below the level of the street drain. The church proper has also been redecorated within, while the exterior of the whole structure has been given a becoming coat of stucco.

W. C. T. U. ESSAY CONTESTS

Winners of Medals and Prizes in the Local Schools.

During the past winter, Miss H. L. Chown, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. of Leeds and Frontenac Counties, conducted two "Temperance Essays" contests in the schools of the city. Upwards of 150 boys and girls of the schools took part. The subject given those in the public schools was "The Effect of Alcohol on the Body," while to those in the Collegiate Institute the given subjects were (1) "The Danger of Beer and Wine," and (2) "The Cost of the Cigarette."

In the public school contest, many of each won first prize, a silver medal, while to Harry Tweddell won the second, a silver pin. The medal in the Collegiate contest was carried off by Helen Ferguson, while Thelma Reid came second, receiving the pin.

Heartily congratulations are extended to these successful essayists and also to their less fortunate competitors. Parents are hoping these contests will be continued in the schools and that increased interest in them on the part of all parents as well as teachers may make them a prominent feature of the school work.

GREAT WORLD CRISIS.

Is at Hand According to Evangelist Frappy.

A fair sized audience gave close attention to the lecture at Memorial Hall on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Frappy brought out with startling clearness the fact that the world's statesmen and thinkers are a great conflict near, and are powerless to stay its coming. A great epidemic of political graft has lately been exposed throughout the world, indicating that the great invisible King is present; His Kingdom is being set up and as a result, the hidden things of darkness are being brought to light as never before even as he foretold would be the case.

The great events since 1914 onward were foretold, the speaker said, in Matt. 24.7, where nation rose against nation and kingdom against kingdom, and famines, pestilences and earthquakes have had a marvellous fulfillment in the great famines of Russia and China, the flu epidemic and the many earthquakes, numbering over seventy since 1920, of which the great earthquake of Japan was the most notable. Jesus said that these things were to be but the beginning of sorrow because, as had been prophesied by the prophet Haggai (2:7) all nations would be shaken before the desire of all nations would come.

The speaker quoted from the Bible to prove two very important points, viz., that the earth was to have an everlasting existence, and also that it would be brought to Edenic beauty, made to blossom as the rose.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN IN KINGSTON THIS WEEK

An Appeal is Made to the People to Help the Society.

A membership campaign is being conducted this week, from the 19th to the 24th, by the Kingston branch of the Red Cross Society. The patronage of all citizens is solicited to carry on the work of the society.

The Red Cross is not only a war time organization but has a peace time programme to carry relief and succor to suffering humanity the world over. In emergencies and disasters, the Red Cross is ever ready with prompt action to render aid and tend the sick and the dying. During the past year the cost of the local activities of the Kingston branch amounted to over $1,200. The membership last year was 809. The society requires the backing of the citizens and all the enthusiasm that can be put into the campaign in order to obtain more members and raise a larger amount than was donated last year. In all disasters the first call is always upon the Red Cross, which must be prepared to face all emergencies. To do this it much have funds, and the Kingston society appeals to the people to become members.

Another dog poisoning case is reported today. A valuable cocker spaniel, owned by a Johnson street resident, took sick during the week-end and a veterinary who examined him declared it to be arsenic poisoning. Fortunately the animal had not received enough to kill it. The dog must have eaten the poison in the neighborhood of Johnson street between Alfred and Collingwood.

$40,000 So Far Raised.

The $100,000 Regiopolls College drive has to date netted subscriptions totalling $40,000. This is considered an excellent week's work and it is raised nearly every day and the canvassers could not make their rounds. For that reason the time for the canvass has been extended a week.
