ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
By Olive Roberts Barton

Daddy Cracknuts and the Bumbershoot

"It's Reddy Fox," he shivered.

"Mornin'," said old Daddy Cracknuts, pushing open the tingaling door of Mister Bags' store, where the Twins were working.

"Mornin', Daddy," said Mister Bags.

"Mornin'," said Nancy and Nick, too.

"Nice day," said Mister Bags.

"Yep! Nice for ducks," said Daddy Cracknuts. "I just knew it was going to rain! I sez to Ma last night, sez I, 'Ma, the moon's tilted and that means wet weather. When it's tilted like that, I sez, it spills all the rain out.' And I wuz right. It's so squishy this morning I went sockity, sock, sock every step I took, and I'm as wet as a sponge. Achoo!"

"My, my! That's too bad," said Mister Bags. "I'm afraid you're catching cold, Daddy."

"I came to buy a bumbershoot," said Daddy presently.

"We don't sell guns," said Nick quickly. He was surprised at Daddy's remark because he knew how very much afraid of guns all the wood folk were.

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed Daddy. "A bumbershoot isn't a gun. It's an umbrella. I want an umbrella to keep me dry—and a pair of goloshes." Daddy said the "go" very hard. "I have to go clear 'tother side of Stony Creek on an errand for Ma."

"Why sure we can fit you out," said Mister Bags. "Here is a nice umbrella with a crooked handle to hang on your arm, and here are goloshes your very size."

So away started Daddy.

But scarcely had he turned the corner when Whirr! whoee! ee! A fierce wind nearly blew him off his feet.

"My, my!" cried Daddy. "I never knew bumbershoots were so hard to hold. Jimmy Christmas! I wish that wind would stop!"

To add to his troubles, he had a feeling that someone was following him.

He nearly dropped his umbrella and basket and everything, when he saw a long red nose and the tip of a bushy tail sticking out on two sides of a bush. "It's Reddy Fox," he shivered. "A pretty kettle of fish I'm in."

Suddenly Reddy made a rush and in about three seconds he'd have had old Daddy by the tail, but at that instant the wind went whirr! Whee! harder than ever, and catching in Daddy's umbrella, it lifted the squirrel gentleman right up in the air over Reddy's head.

And thump, thump! Something hit Reddy two dreadful whoaks on the nose and he ran away howling. It was Daddy's goloshes falling off at exactly the right minute.

Daddy stopped in the store on his way home. "Gun nothing!" he cried. "A bumbershoot is ten times as good. I'll bet you Reddy Fox is gunning yet."

METHODISM IN PICTON
Dates Back 132 Years—Death of T. H. Slaven, Aged Ninety-two.

Picton, May 17.—The choir concert in the Methodist church on Tuesday evening under the direction of F. W. Walden, organist and choir leader, upheld the high standard which has been attained by this company of musicians and vocalists of late years. Mr. Mellor gave an address, and proceeded to show that the Methodists of Picton have a history. It is 132 years since Darius Dunham established Methodism here. We were then part of the Cataragui circuit. On this circuit there were two ministers. One year later in 1793 the first class meeting was held with thirteen members. In 1820 the first church on the present site was erected. In 1850 a stone church was built and twenty-four years ago the present stone church was built. In 1817 we were known as the Halliwell circuit. In 1850, Picton circuit and in 1883 we became known as Picton First Methodist and in 1921 the two Picton church united and became known as Picton Methodist. Main street church existed from 1875 to 1921 and during that time had 16 ministers. Rev. Mr. Mello is the sixty-eighth Methodist minister to hold pastorate in Picton. Out of 137 ministers who attended Conference here in 1905, forty-six have passed to the great beyond. The Old Chapel in 1905 was the oldest church in use in Canada. The Picton church now ministers to over 700 families with a membership of over 1,000. There are under the care of the church at present, 2,407 people.

Miss Bull, of Bloomfield, was a guest over the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. J. M. Platt.

Mrs. Charles and Mrs. Richard Hadden were joint hostesses at a bridge at their home on Wednesday evening. Roses were used for decorating the parlors and library where ten tables were in play. Lunch was served at the quartette tables about midnight.

About forty-five ladies journeyed to Wellington on Wednesday to attend the thirty-third annual district convention which was held in the Methodist church there. Morning and afternoon sessions were held a lunch being served in the dining room of the church at noon, by the Wellington ladies to about three hundred.

Word had been received in Picton of the death in Hollister, California, of T. H. Slaven in his ninety-second year. Mr. Slaven was born in Prince Edward county and taught school here over seventy years ago. There are still a few Prince Edwarders who attended school under his instruction. He leaves three sons and two daughters. Mr. Fred Slaven, of Picton, is the only surviving brother.

George L. Hubbs, local inspector of the Children's Aid Society, is in attendance at the annual convention of provincial societies at the parliament buildings, Toronto, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

The fire brigade was called out to a small blaze in the basement of the Oddfellows' block on Monday evening. The fire was quickly extinguished however with very little damage.

Mrs. W. F. Lester, Fort William, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Skillen.

Miss Helen Talcott and Miss Marjorie Purteile attended convocation at Kingston.

Arthur E. Scott, of Winnipeg, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Scott, Queen street.

Hugh Fitzpatrick has sold Bay-Side Park Inn and farm to Harry Raynor and J. P. Williams.

Mrs. (Rev.) Weese, of Washburn street, is renewing acquaintances in Kingston.

Mrs. E. Jinks and her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Lusk, have gone to Rochester, N.Y., from Picton to reside. Mr. Kenneth Jinks and Mr. Lusk have been in Rochester for some time.
