SAVES TOWN MONEY.

Converts Old Sawmill Boiler into Road Roller.

Campbellford, May 21.—To supply a long felt want, Councillor Redden has converted an old boiler which he used when he operated a sawmill some years ago, into a roller to be used on the streets of the town. The boiler was cut down to a section six feet in length, filled with cement, both ends plugged, and supplied with a shaft three inches in diameter. The frame is of heavy oak scantling, and the entire weight of the contrivance is six and a half tons. The cost is estimated at $150, and Councillor Redden will allow the town the use of the roller free of charge, if his colleagues in the council care to use it for the improvement of the streets.
