Over the top! That's where the big Kingston Kiwanian Carnival is going. All records will be smashed when the count is registered on next Saturday night. On Wednesday afternoon and evening the armories were crowded with merry-makers, and on all sides were found enthusiastic comment and expressions of surprise at the excellence of the displays and the pep and ginger of the Kiwanians running the big show.

It is about the biggest and best thing of the kind ever put over in Kingston, and the longer it goes the better it gets. The staid and stately business men of the club have become so many children and are throwing themselves into the work and fun with a will. R. Easton Burns, as a ballyhoo ticket seller; R. H. Fair, the quiet-mannered superintendent of country roads, all topped out in whiskers and wide hat, selling chances for goods at the Country Store; Dougal McKnight, bawling out to all and sundry the excellence of his ice-cream and soft drinks; Columbus Hanley, of Canadian National Telegraphs, telling the world that he gives them more chances for their money than they give him, and encouraging the timid ones to try for a cigar; Matt. Hanson, with cigar bobbing around in his mouth, frantically waving concession tickets and imploring the revellers to buy—these are but a few of the unadvertised features and are worth double the price of admission in themselves.

Some Babies.
They used to say that Kingston could pride itself on its pretty girls, its hockey players and its football players. But no person has ever mentioned the babies, sixty of them paraded in mass formation to the platform on Wednesday afternoon and Mrs. John Austin and Bruce Hopkins had the merry job of sorting them out and picking the winners. There were thin babies and fat babies, bow-legged babies and knock-kneed babies, curly-haired babies and bald babies, noisy ones and quiet ones, babies walking, babies sleeping, babies playing and most of them showing lots of energy. It was a great advertisement for Kingston, had it been photographed. Finally, from the Irish, English, Scotch, French and Canadian babies there was selected a fair Irish maid, Lorna Doolan, thirteen months old, daughter (first and only) of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Doolan, 17 Upper Charles street, winner of the first prize by about four lengths, who came under the wire far ahead of the rest of the field. Then, partly out of his own good nature and partly for the protection of the judges, Dr. G. W. Bell presented each of the sixty babies with a valuable package of powders and toilet preparations. The first prize of the event was twelve dollars worth of photographs, presented by H. F. Thompson, Arch street, Kiwanian and photographer.

A Splendid Orchestra.
If there is a city in Canada of equal size with Kingston that can produce, on a very short notice, a splendidly organized symphony orchestra of sixty pieces, we should like to hear it. The Kingston Symphony Orchestra, directed by O. F. Teigmann, rendered splendid numbers at the Kiwanian Carnival on Wednesday evening. The opening selection was a medley of classic and operatic arias, handled with a pleasing skill and touch. "Humoresque" (Dvorak), and other beautiful compositions were given at intervals during the course of the evening, the pulsing notes of over thirty violins, with the more deep and sombre tones of cello and wind instruments, rising above the hum of the Carnival and halting all proceedings while the revellers paused to listen. The local musical situation is hard to understand when such an orchestra can remain in obscurity without being brought out almost constantly by popular demand.

Boys' Choir.
Sharing the evening programme with the Symphony Orchestra was the Victoria School Boys' Choir, thirty of them, with voices sweet as larks and light as down. The armories, with the bustle of Carnival activity, does not allow the boys' numbers being rendered to best advantage but they drew round after round of applause from the crowds in front of the platform. "O Canada," "The Merry Life," and several solos by individual members were sung by the little fellows, and a repeat performance during Carnival week would be welcomed. Musical instructor Harry Hill was in charge.

On With the Dance.
Kiwanians Dr. Jack Broome and Stanley Driver had their hands full in the assembly room of the armories, collecting the tickets of the dancers who flocked to the floor as soon as the music started. Art Christmas had his orchestra swinging in rare shape and the dimes for sweet charity rolled in fast indeed. It was a little warm, and there was a freak dancer on the floor—so it was a successful evening, as both those conditions are almost necessary.

A Quiet Corner.
Kiwanian Harry Wilder takes justifiable pride in presenting to Carnival visitors the Art Gallery, made up of the finest collection of oil paintings, water colors and tapestries ever shown outside Toronto or Montreal. Just how and where Kiwanian Wilder found out that such fine paintings were in Kingston is not known but they are on exhibition at the Carnival, two large rooms of them, and even the untutored observer can appreciate their beauty and value at a glance. Outstanding in the exhibit are two small Toner water colors, owned by Elmer David. Those who visit the Art exhibit would do well to ask especially after these little gems. Other pictures, picked at random from the collection, are:

"You Said It, Marceline!"

By MARCELINE DALROY
On "Keeping Time with Time."

PEOPLE seem like CLOCKS,
Endlessly doing the same things
Over and over again.
There are MANY KINDS of clocks,
And there are many kinds of People, but they ALL need
Looking after.
Equilibrated, decorative, FRENCH
CLOCKS are like LOVELY CO-
QUETTES.
SOMETIMES they don't go right,
BUT WHO CARES—as long as I are BEAUTIFUL?
Even TIME will STOP, tentatively,
For a LOVELY LADY.
Though the "OLD GENTLEMAN" will NOT Wait for ANY MAN.

ENGLISH water-clocks are like
LIFE'S GENTLEMEN—
They are DIGNIFIED and decorous,
And they never STRIKE
HARSHLY.
The CUCKOO CLOCKS are
The people who never THINK—
They just pop out of their case
When the show passes.
And cry: "Hooray! Hooray! Hooray!"
And pop BACK AGAIN.
But the little TRAVELING CLOCK
Is the MODERN WOMAN—
She can be set down ANYWHERE,
And yet she is ALWAYS Going, going, GOING. . . .

The committee on church union met last night and adjourned this morning and it was stated that there was nothing at present to submit to the assembly. The matter is slated to come up to-morrow afternoon, but it is believed that nothing will be done then unless there are expected developments at Ottawa. The committee will likely be in session Saturday, and its decisions prepared for presentation to the assembly on Monday. It is generally conceded that no debate on union will be permitted.

Supplied by the Dominion of Canada Act—The Irish Boundary Question.

London, June 5.—Premier MacDonald's decision to invite distinguished judges from the Dominions to act on a committee to solve constitutional and legal issues involved in the Irish boundary commission is regarded by the Daily Chronicle as founded on a precedent supplied by the Dominion of Canada act. The Chronicle expresses the belief that this will be the first time such power of consultation has been invoked.

REJECTED BY 99 MAJORITY

Doucet Amendment Defeated in House of Commons.

A PROTECTIVE POLICY

Consistently Maintained in Canada Not Considered Necessary By the Members.

Ottawa, June 5.—Conservatives moved their amendment to the budget in the House yesterday afternoon. It was proposed by A. J. Doucet, of Kent, N.B., and provided that the welfare of Canada "requires a consistently maintained protective policy." The amendment was the same as Mr. Doucet intended to move during the main budget debate, but was forestalled by the Labor amendment of J. S. Woodsworth. Mr. Doucet, without any preliminary speech, moved his amendment when the bill to give effect to the tariff changes proposed in the budget came before the House for second reading.

On dividing the House voted the Conservative amendment down by 135 to 36. Majority against, 99.

Two Liberals, H. M. Marler, of St. Lawrence, St. George, Montreal, and F. N. McCrea, of Sherbrooke, voted with the Conservatives for the amendment. Liberals, with these exceptions, and all Progressives, voted against. William Elliott, of South Waterloo, who was the only Progressive to vote against the main budget motion, today voted with the government against the Conservative amendment.

Urges Repeal of Preference.

Ottawa, June 5.—Hon. Mr. David, in the Senate yesterday, urged the adoption of his resolution repealing the preferential duty on imports from Great Britain until such time as the British Government granted a reciprocal tariff on goods imported from Canada, or suspend our preferential duty until some other agreement had been reached. He said the government was doing what it could to make the budget more acceptable and less harmful to our industries without displeasing too many the Progressives. The tariff alone was not responsible for financial conditions, but these were due to some extent to increase of industrial production during the war, and a decrease of purchasing power in our population, but there was no doubt the situation of our manufacturers was menaced by the advantages given to foreign products under the Imperial preference and the general conditions of our tariff.

URGE COUNTY TO PAY BILL

Minister And Deputy Minister of Highways Confer

WITH COUNTY COUNCIL

Hon. G. S. Henry Makes a Promise to the Northern Township Reeves.

As a result of a visit of the Hon. George S. Henry, minister of public highways, and the deputy minister, Mr. Squires, to the county council on Wednesday afternoon, it is fully expected that some arrangement will be made by which the conflict between the Reeves of the north and the south over the question of the payment of the provincial highway bills will be settled.

The minister of highways arrived in the city on the fast train, and went immediately to the court house where the highway question was carefully considered.

HON. GEORGE S. HENRY

When the council opened Councilor Spankie moved that the committee appointed at the March session for the purpose of meeting the highway commissioners who were to visit Kingston, should go and meet the minister and his deputy. When a vote was taken, Warden Gemmill said that the motion carried by a vote of nine to eight. The councillors from the south townships contended that this committee which had been nominated was only to act in case this commission arrived between the sessions of council. But their objection was over-ruled and the six Reeves went down to the county clerk's room to meet the minister and his deputy. To their surprise all the other members of council followed, and the conference took place with all members present. As it was in the form of a committee meeting and of a private nature, the press did not attend. After the matter had been threshed out in committee, the council resumed its session.

Hon. Mr. Henry and his deputy made it clear that the bills for the construction of the provincial highway which are now outstanding against the county must be paid. He gave the council, the assurance that if they would recommend that this bill be paid in the near future, he would take the matter up with the government and see if more equitable grants could be obtained for the northern townships. He also said that he thought Wolfe Island should be taken into the good roads system, and a portion of the cost of the maintenance of the ferry should be paid as a county good road, as to his mind it was a thoroughfare. A good county road could be established on the island, and with the ferry in operation, tourist trade could be encouraged to come by way of Wolfe Island.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the minister and his deputy. One of the councillors stated that in his municipal experience it was the first occasion on which a minister of the Crown ever exerted himself to adjust a difference.

FRONTENAC OWES $120,000.

Mr. Squires, the deputy minister of highways, at the request of Hon. George Henry, addressed the council first. He stated that for a period of five years he had been a member of a county council and knew the problems which confronted the councillors. He said he appreciated the fact that all the Frontenac councillors wanted to do what was fair and he was certain that if the north and south had been divided as they appeared to be at the present time, the court house building would not have been constructed.

He said that the county of Frontenac owed the province the sum of $120,000 for work on the provincial highway built in the county. Whether or not it is a just debt he was not in a position to say, but he reminded the councillors that the law said the debt must be paid. He stated that there were forty-
