WOMAN'S INSTITUTE.

The executive of the Woman's Institute of the district of Frontenac met in the ladies' rest room on Market street on Friday morning and transacted some important business.

That we are already getting descriptions of dresses for the June ball at the Royal Military College. Send them along as soon as possible; also the names of visitors you expect to have with you.

Long, long ago, it seems, this summer morn That pale-browed April passed with pensive tread

Through the frozen woods, and from its frost-bound bed

Woke the arbutus with her silver horn; And now May too, is fled,

The flower-crowned month, the merry laughing May, With rosy feet and fingers dewy wet,

Leaving the woods and all cool gardens gay, With tulips and the scented violet.

Gone are the wind-flower and the adder-tongue And the sad drooping bellwort and no more

The snows trilliums crowd the forest floor; The purpling grasses are no longer young,

And summer's wide-set door O'er the thronged hills and the broad panting earth

Lets in the torrent of the later bloom, Haytime and harvest, and the after mirth,

The slow, soft rain and rushing thunder plume. —Archibald Lampman.

Hints for June Brides. A smart wedding gown was of ivory white moire, made very simply and devoid of trimming.

The court train of moire fell from the shoulders, while the full tulle veil was draped from a shirring which encircled the head just at the line of the ears, leaving the top of the head uncovered—a very charming arrangement which showed the bride's beautiful dark hair to advantage.

Two small clusters of natural orange blossoms were used at each side of the head. A touch of delicate color characterized

The Editor hears

That the loan exhibition of paintings at the Kiwanis Carnival was a revelation to many of the visitors who had no idea so many fine pictures were owned in Kingston.

The subjects are varied. Among the landscapes is a fine painting by Fidler, "Harroving," owned by Mr. H. Wilder, who has also loaned "Bridge on the Genii" a bit of old Spain by Toweraker. Mr. Charles Livingston has contributed several fine pictures, a barnyard scene by Bahieu and some Venetian fishing boats by Brown. Mr. H. E. Richardson's picture "The Signing the Marriage Contract" is a beautiful bit of coloring with a minute attention to detail which takes some time to enjoy as much as it warrants.

Mr. Harold Davis has two good pictures, a "Madonna" by Sassoformate and "A Spanish Artist" by Eanda. Dr. W. G. Jordan has several of his fine pictures on exhibition, and Mr. A. H. Fair has also been most generous. "The Fishermen" by Zenaro from the gallery at Genoa, "Dancing on the Beach" instinct with the life of the grape pickers of Southern Europe are among his contributions. "Sa Madeleine" Bell-Smith, is one of Mr. Sanford Calvin's most admired pictures. Dr. D. A. Volume has loaned a quaint Dutch piece and Mrs. I. G. Bogart has an excellent picture copied by her self, which is much admired. A cartoon drawn by Bainsfather for Dr. L. J. Austin has an interest all its own.

That we are glad to see so many reports from Woman's Institutes coming in. Send them to "Editor of Woman's Page, British Whig, Kingston." And send them at once after the meeting.

That a Quebec "Daughter" told her sisters at the meeting of the National Chapter of the I.O.D.E. that German immigrants were arriving at the port of Quebec clad in old German uniforms. One is afraid they will get a rather cool welcome from the men who saw that uniform first in France or Flanders.

Another bride wore a gown of ivory chiton in straight, close-fitting lines and almost solidly embroidered in seed pearls and crystals, the train of tulle edged at the sides with wide satin ribbon and trimmed at the fish-tail hem with orange flowers.

The bodice of perled embroidery was low with tiny sleeves of tulle and pearls. Her veil was of tulle, picoté with silver thread and had a deep ruffle all around, falling wide at the sides and following the train at the back. Her bouquet was small and of valley lilies, with shower effect, and valley lilies and a few orange flowers held the veil about the face.

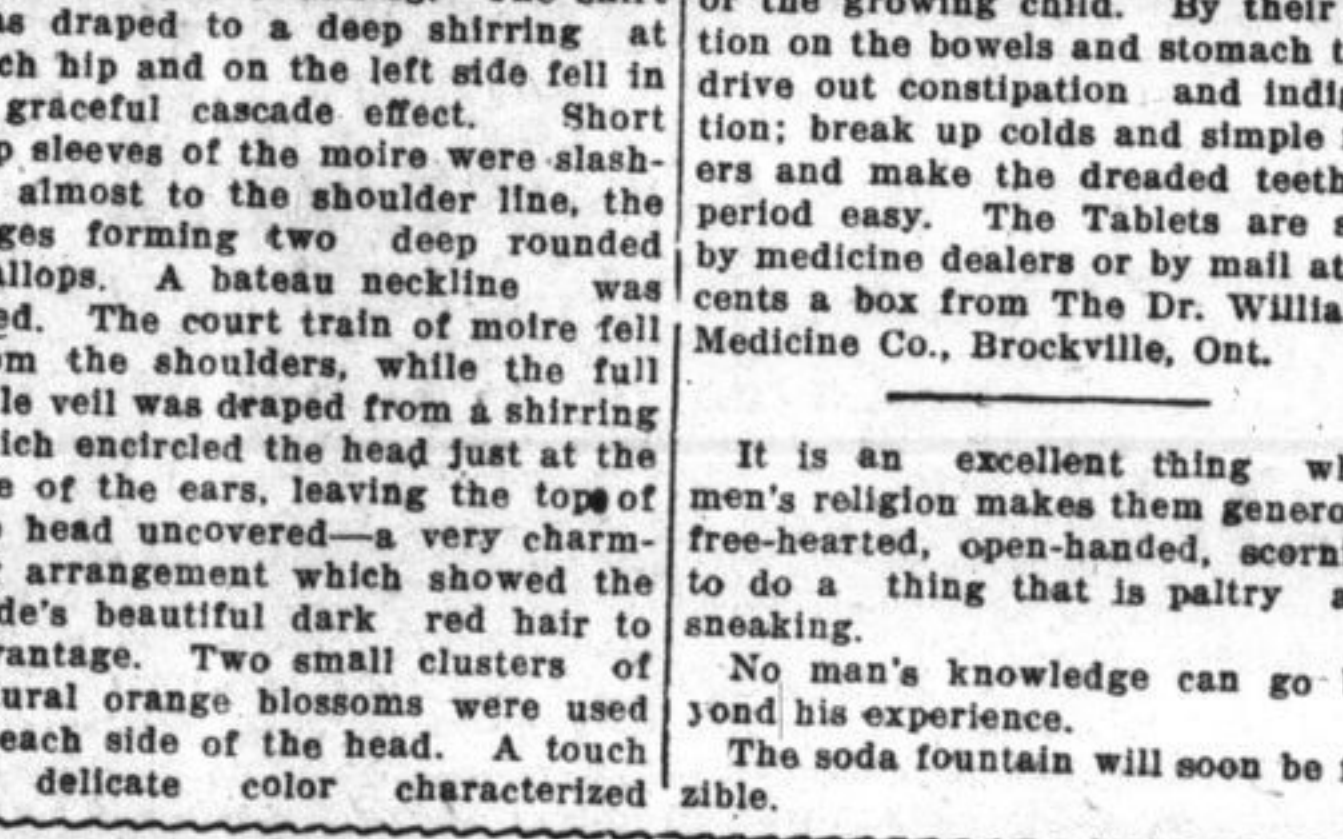

A SPLENDID LAXATIVE FOR THE BABY Mothers should constantly be on guard to keep baby's bowels working freely and his stomach sweet, for nine-tenths of the ailments from which little ones suffer are caused by derangements of the stomach and bowels.

Baby's Own Tablets are a splendid laxative for the baby. They are mild but thorough; contain neither opiates nor narcotics, and are absolutely guaranteed to be safe and efficient for either the newborn babe or the growing child.

By their action on the bowels and stomach they drive out constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fever and make the dreaded teething period easy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

It is an excellent thing when men's religion makes them generous, free-hearted, open-handed, scornful to do a thing that is paltry and sneaking.

No man's knowledge can go beyond his experience. The soda fountain will soon be fizzy.

SOME GOOD POTATO RECIPES TOMORROW'S MENU

- Breakfast Left-Over Apple Sauce Cereal Scrambled Eggs Coffee Luncheon Potato Pancakes French Dressing Tea Rolls Preserves Dinner Celery Cream Soup Lamb Chops Boiled Potatoes Spinach Coffee Rhubarb Pie

Reader Friends have kindly contributed the following potato recipes: Mrs. V.: "Potato Pie: Put a heaping tablespoon of butter into your mixing bowl. Force hot, boiled potatoes through the potato-ricer until you have three cupsful of this ricé potato; turn it upon the lump of butter. Add the juice and grated rind of one large lemon, the beaten yolks of three eggs, one cup of sweet milk, and one large cup of granulated sugar. Last, add three egg-whites beaten not too dry. Bake in a crust like any egg-pie [that is, putting it for a moment into a hot oven, then reducing the oven-temperature to medium and letting continue to bake for about 40 minutes or until the center is firm]. Sweet potatoes may be used in the same way."

Mrs. C. M.: "Potato Loaf Cake: Cream together two cups of sugar and one cup of butter; add the beaten yolks of four eggs, one cup of raw potato measured after it has been grated, and one cup of sweet milk alternately with two and one-half cups of flour which has been sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder. Next add one pound of walnuts chopped, one cup of grated chocolate, and fold in the stiffly-whipped whites of four eggs. Turn all into a greased loaf-cake pan and bake 35 to 40 minutes in a moderate oven."

A Reader: "Potato Dumplings: Pare and grate six large, raw potatoes, strain the watery liquid from them into another dish. Let this liquid stand a short time to "settle," then pour off the more watery part and add the remaining sediment to the grated potatoes. Also add one pint of mashed cooked potatoes, one tablespoon of flour, and a pinch each of salt and pepper. Form the mixture into small balls and drop these into boiling water. Here is another good recipe: Potato "Klose": Mash six cold boiled potatoes and add to them three tablespoons of flour, two level teaspoons of baking powder, one tablespoon of melted butter, one beaten egg, and a little salt and nutmeg. Shape in small balls, drop these into salted boiling water for ten minutes, and serve with tomato sauce."

Mrs. W.: "Potato Pancakes: At night pare four or five large white potatoes and let them soak in cold water overnight. You will need two cupful of the grated potatoes. In the morning drain and grate. Mix this with the beaten yolks of two eggs, one-half teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon of flour. Season with a pinch of pepper and fold in the two stiffly-whipped egg-whites. Brown these in a hot frying pan in butter, and serve with tomato or brown sauce."

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to us: YOUR full name, street number, and the names of your city and state.
