OFFICIAL NEEDED TO ENFORCE QUARANTINE

In Order to Stop Scarlet Fever Epidemic—Carelessness in Sick Homes.

A conference of the Board of Health and the management committee of the Board of Education, held on Monday afternoon in the city buildings to discuss methods of stopping the city's scarlet fever epidemic, favored the appointment of a special official to help the Board of Health enforce the quarantine regulations.

Inspector Stuart's recent report to the Board of Education recommending the appointment of another school nurse, which was read by Secretary Allen at the opening of the meeting, showed that the school nurse had found 268 cases of contagious diseases among the school children in the last eight months. Miss Lovick, who was present, said that 115 of these were scarlet fever.

Trustee Elliott considered this to be an alarming situation. He did not blame the Board of Health but rather the fact that quarantine rules were not kept by the families in quarantine. He favored the strictest quarantine possible, if such were necessary to clear up the trouble.

Dr. Williamson, who presided, explained to the meeting the quarantine precautions in scarlet fever. The sick were to be kept at home and prevented from mingling with other people but the breadwinner was allowed to go out on his usual business, unless it involved the handling of food, as the disease was not borne on the air but required actual contact to be transmitted. It was known that the rules were broken but evidence to prove these infractions was not available. Complaints were received but they were generally anonymous and when asked to appear as witnesses these communicants would refuse. As Mrs. Volume said in describing such a case in her experience, they did not want to "get into a scrap with their neighbors."

Dr. Williamson said he always investigated these complaints. He also said that one difficulty with the present epidemic, as in the one of the previous year, was the fact that it was mild and often no doctor was called. One undiagnosed case at large was worse than an infraction of quarantine. Seeing that only 10 per cent. of the population are susceptible, most of such children must have had the disease by this time.

Trustee Moore, who has one child now in the isolation hospital with the disease and another under suspicion, claimed that it was possible that doctors did not always report cases to the medical health officer. He also described a case where milk was delivered and empty bottles taken away, and pointed out that the isolation hospital was not screened. He suggested that the school nurse might at once visit children sent home from school sick. Inspector Stuart claimed this was not possible with the present staff and Miss Lovick said she generally allowed three days to pass before visiting such children. Even then she received some rude rebuffs.

Dr. Sands thought the trouble would be helped very much if all children sick with scarlet fever were sent to the isolation hospital and the cost, if necessary, paid by the city. Practitioners had been urged to do this in the past, but there was no law for it.

Trustee Elliott spoke in favor of the appointment, perhaps for six months or less, of a special official to see that the quarantine was kept.

Dr. Sands referred to the case of a man once appointed in the city to watch a small-pox case. Other officials found him one night enjoying himself in the quarantined home.

Dr. Williamson believed the proper man would be a help. A court action would be of great value in stopping infractions and an inspector could gather the evidence necessary.

Miss Lovick told of a family where all but one of the children developed scarlet fever, each one about ten days after the previous one had returned from the hospital.

Dr. Williamson stated that patients were kept in the hospital the full term of the quarantine and that the children might have developed the disease from an unknown source.

Mrs. Volume pointed out the advisability of providing precautions for the supervised playgrounds when the school nurse would not be on duty.

The members of the Board of Education assured Dr. Williamson that they were one hundred per cent. back of him in the search for a solution of the scarlet fever problem.

Those present were Dr. Williamson, Mrs. Volume and Dr. Sands, of the Board of Health, and from the Board of Education Chairman Cooke, Trustees Mills, Elliott, Moore and Revelle, Inspector Stuart, Miss Lovick and Secretary Allen.

GAVE A CHALK TALK TO THE KIWANIS

On "The Early History of Kingston" — Prof. Conacher's Address Interesting

Chalk talks, always an unusual form of entertainment, when given by such a past master of this new art as Prof. Conacher, of Queen's, provide unlimited interest and fun. The Kingston Kiwanis Club had only one regret at their meeting on Monday in the Hotel Frontenac and that was that the double-handed professor of French could not have had more time for his sketching and accompanying poignant remarks.

In his treatment of the subject, "The Early History of Kingston" the professor showed a thorough insight into local municipal and provincial gossip, ancient and modern. First two Indian chiefs appeared, one from each hand. They were discussing the establishment of a civic hotel in Cataragui as Kingston was known in its younger days. Then Count Frontenac arrives and propitiates the hostile chiefs with a box of Oberdorf's cigars. Cataragui then began to go rapidly ahead and the real estate sign-boards of "LaSalle and Hutton" added a picturesque touch to the landscape. LaSalle launches the first boat and the Wolfe Islander steams out of the harbor with a cow in the prow.

So the hilarity went on. The professor took sly raps at local celebrities, the newspapers and the clergy with special reference to the political parties of both complexions. When Kiwanians Jack McCallum and Murdoch Johnston moved a vote of thanks the hope was expressed that Prof. Conacher could come back again and entertain the club for an entire hour.

Monday marked the opening day of the International Kiwanis convention in Denver, Col., and in honor of the occasion the local club observed the zero hour programme outlined by headquarters. The members stood for a minute in silence in recognition of universal brotherhood, then ex-President Frank Hoag read the president's message from Edmund F. Arliss. Kiwanian Halliday sang a special song, "Onward in Kiwanis." A telegram of greetings from the three Toronto clubs was read by Secretary Macnee.

On motion of ex-President Hugh Nickle and Frank Hoag, the executive was given power to arrange band concerts this summer, as was done last year. The executive is also looking after the boat trip for next Monday Kiwanian John M. Campbell has offered the club the use of the steamer Brockville for the day and the club will likely embark about four o'clock, have lunch down the river and come home about ten or eleven p.m.

In telling about the big international convention in Denver, President Mills said the Kiwanis movement now included 1,240 clubs and 88,000 members.

The Syracuse Kiwanis Club is to visit Newboro on the 27th inst and a good number of the local club signified their intention of attending. Kiwanian Stanley Driver was asked to make up a baseball team for the event.

The visitors included F. L. Jackson, of the Manufacturer's Life Insurance Company, Kingston, and W. H. Blake, of Toronto. Kiwanian T. H. Kidd collected the fines.

An Address on "Memories."

The weekly meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of Bethel church was held on Monday evening under the leadership of Miss Elsie Duncan, and was well attended. The topic for the evening was "Memories, a Blessing or a Curse," and was ably taken by Miss Jennie Wilson. Miss Wilson pointed out that memories were something that we could not get away from, and the things that we do, say and hear now will come into our thoughts at some later

CELEBRATES FIRST MASS.

Erinsville Proud of the Rev. Father Benedict Farrell.

Napanee, June 17.—The church of the Assumption, Erinsville, was filled to the doors on Sunday, June 15th, the occasion being the first solemn high mass celebrated by Rev. Father Benedict Farrell, who was ordained in Montreal on Saturday. He was assisted by Rev. Father Nicholson as sub-deacon. Rev. Father Nicholson preached a very impressive sermon taking for his text "The Lord has sworn and He will not repent, thou art a priest forever."

Father Farrell's mother, sister, two brothers, uncle and two cousins were present at the ordination in Montreal.

The choir, with Miss R. Killorin, organist, Miss Frances Dwyer, Napanee and John Killorin, ably rendered Leonard's mass in "F." Miss Dwyer sang "Veni Jesu" at communion.

Father Farrell gave his individual blessing to about 600 people after the mass.

After mass about fifty relatives and friends partook of a sumptuous dinner at the home. Guests from a distance were Mrs. Mary Smith and Miss F. McBride, Danbury, Ia. John Hayes and Miss Florence Hayes, Detroit, Mich., Mrs. James Mooney, Watertown, N.Y., Mrs. James McAvoy, Saskatoon, Sask., M. J. Farrell, Port Colborne.

At 7.30 p.m. Rev. Father Farrell celebrated benediction.

This was an occasion of which the Erinsville parish might well be proud as Father Farrell is the first priest to be ordained from that parish.

Therefore, it is necessary that the things we do should be well considered so that later the memory of that act would not be a reproach to us but a blessing. She gave as an example the story of the Prodigal who wasted his substance in riotous living, and had a good time while it lasted in false pleasure, but who later repented of his acts and came home again to his father. Before we act in the time to consider the results of an action, not after it has ended with disastrous results. Let your life be lived in Christ and your memories will always be sweet, she said.
