Mr. Barney Foster: If you were born on June 25th, Barney, you are living under the influence of Grouchissimo, the sign of the Crab. That is to say, you will never get astigmatism looking for the silver lining in any cloud.

What you don't know about the cussedness of human nature could be printed on the back of a postage stamp and sealed in a quinine capsule. You would find success in laundry work, specializing in wet blankets. Your favorite pastime is writing letters to this newspaper, signed Pro Bono Publico, prophesying the downfall of civilization, the present administration, and the younger generation. You will live to be a hundred years old, probably, since all Grouchissimo people are famed for their longevity.

Look for the Silver Lining
Pretty But Practical.
Farmer Simmons had gone to town for a few days. Before he started he had promised to bring his daughter a present, so he went into a jeweler's shop and said to the clerk: "I want a pair of earrings, cheap but pretty."
"Yes, sir," said the clerk. "You want something a trifle loud, I suppose?"
"Well, I don't mind if one of them is loud," replied the farmer, "my gal is deaf in one ear."

Dr. Traprock's Treatment For Sleeping Sickness.
We had been talking steadily in the Doctor's study for three hours, when I involuntarily yawned. The great explorer leaped from his chair, threw up his arm as if to ward off a blow and cried sharply, "Don't."
"Don't what?" I asked. He appeared embarrassed.
"Pardon me," he said, "it was your yawn that upset me. Ever since I had the sleeping sickness in Uganda you know that dread disease is spread through yawning."
"I caught the disease from an audience to whom I was lecturing. Having contracted it, it was up to me to find the cure. Prior to that time the method had been to treat sleeping sickness with alarm-clocks, but this was annoying to the well members of the community. I immediately set about an intensive study of the symptoms and quickly decided that the germ was isolated in the yawn. Moreover I found that the malady was not confined to human beings but extended to the animal kingdom and that the lion, the king of beasts, was the greatest sufferer. In fact, most of the roars we heard about the village were merely the lions yawning."
"So I took an anti-toxin from the tonsils of a lion in the act of yawning. The results were marvellous; in three days I was practically well."
"Pardon me," I interrupted, "do you mean to tell me you actually gathered this serum from the distended jaws of a live lion? How in the world did you do it?"
Dr. Traprock leaned back and yawned. "Forgive me," he said, "I

GANANOQUE

June 25.—Yesterday a party of twenty-five Californians arrived in Gananoque on a tour conducted by the Rev. Henry Fiske and were registered at the Inn. Mrs. Fiske was included in the party, which was a merry one, and though their stay was limited to a few hours only they made the very best use of the time. H. F. Ward, the local agent of the C.N.R., accompanied them, on a tour of the islands in Ray Address' launch, after which Mayor Wilson met them at the Inn for luncheon. It will be remembered that Rev. Mr. Fiske brought a similar party here a couple of years ago, and as evidence that he considers this spot worthy to include in his itinerary he volunteered the information that he would be back again with another party next year. They visited several of the manufacturing plants in town and left on the fast train for the east and will sail from Montreal for Europe.
Miss Mary Jeroy, Hotel Dieu, Kingston, is spending her vacation here with her parents.
Miss Edythe Haynes spent yesterday with Kingston friends.

W. J. Phillips announces the engagement of his daughter, Helen Marcella, R.N., of the Social Service Department, Brooklyn, to Edward A. DuVal, 51 Downing street, Brooklyn. The wedding will take place at St. John's Church, Gananoque on December 31st.
W. D. Toland, wife and son William, Kalamazoo, Michigan, are visiting friends in Gananoque and Kingston. They motored through New York State. Mr. Toland who is one of Gananoque's prosperous "old boys" and at one time on the staff of the Reporter is now advertising manager for a large Kalamazoo firm.
Rev. Fathers Meehan and Rheau, Winnipeg, who have been the guests of Father Hanley for the past few days are spending a few days in Kingston and Ottawa prior to their return to the west the latter part of the week.
Miss Marjorie Jeroy is the guest of Mrs. Charles Whitcombe, Kingston. The Daughters of the Empire held a special meeting on Monday evening, the last until after the summer season. Several important matters were dealt with including the forming of committees etc., to take charge of the luncheons to be given in honor of Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Cockshutt, also to Mr. and Mrs. Linklater and ex-pupils on Linklater day. These luncheons will take place at the armouries and in the first instance a charge of $1.00 will be made and in the second instance, which will be a buffet luncheon, fifty cents. The Canadian Club will co-operate with the L.O.D.E. Further details will be published in the near future.

Miss Nina Meggs has returned to Oakville after spending the past ten days here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Meggs at "The Bluff."

Reginald Abrams has returned to Belleville after spending his vacation here with his parents Mr. and Mrs. H. Abrams.
Alexander McCahey, who spent the past few weeks with his uncle at the Provincial, has left for New York, but will return later on.
Mrs. G. H. Chapman and three children, Hamilton, are the guests of the former's sister, Mrs. R. J. Kelly, Stone street.

CHINESE MEDICAL GRADUATE OF QUEEN'S

Leaves St. Thomas for Shanghai, China, to Enter Hospital Work.

St. Thomas Journal.
Ross Wong, who is entitled to the letters M.D., after his name, leaves St. Thomas this week for China, his native land. Ross was graduated from the Faculty of Medicine, of Queen's University, Kingston, this spring with a fine standing, and after successfully completing the examinations at the university, wrote and passed the Ontario Medical Council examinations. It was his intention to enter a hospital in Canada after graduation, but last week he received word from a hospital in Shanghai, China, that they would welcome him on the staff there.

The record of Ross Wong is a noteworthy one, and one which is an inspiring example of what determination and applied energy are capable of accomplishing. Thirteen years ago Ross Wong came to Canada, to St. Thomas, with his brother, George Wong, their father owning the laundry business west of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. In their home in Canton neither boy had heard English spoken—the language of the country to which they had come was a meaningless gabble. They acquired the use of a few words after being in the country some months, learned to say a few simple sentences. George was the first to start to school. Before trying his entrance he went to work in the Erie cafe, of which he is now the proprietor. Ross was the younger, but after commencing he was not satisfied with a public school education. At the Collegiate Institute he was one of the best students, and it is a remarkable fact that in English and Composition he always obtained first class honors. And now, after having lived thirteen years in Canada, Ross Wong, M.D., is returning to China to give the people of his native country the benefit of the training he has received.

Shanghai, where he will be located, is a city of about one million inhabitants, and the hospital to which Dr. Wong is going is one of the largest and most up-to-date in that city. A city that size offers a wide field for anyone engaged in medical work and there Dr. Wong will be able to render a great service, not only because of his ability as a medical man, but also because of his knowledge of the civilization of the west.

Dr. Wong does not look to be twenty-five years old, but he is, as he was thirteen when he came to Canada. Nor is there anything about his appearance or his conversation to distinguish him as a college man, unless perhaps it be that astounding command of the English language. He is rather below the average height, probably a little above five feet in height, broad in the shoulders but not heavily built. He appears to be forever smiling, talks in a low quiet voice, and though reserved appears to have that happy faculty of quickly making friends. That, briefly, is Ross Wong, the Chinese student-graduate, who leaves St. Thomas this week for Shanghai.

Swerbrick-Garrett Wedding.

A pretty wedding was solemnized on June 21st, at the Methodist parsonage, Inverary, by Rev. R. Calvert, when Miss Edna Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Garrett, Inverary, became the bride of Mordie John Swerbrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Swerbrick, Sydenham. The bride looked charming in a gown of blue silk with hat to match and carrying a bouquet of roses. Miss Mary C. Campbell, Verona, is bridesmaid, and Howard H. Perrin, Brockville, was best man. After the signing of the register, Mr. and Mrs. Swerbrick left the parsonage amid showers of confetti for the home of the bride where a dinner was awaiting them and about twenty guests. The groom's gift to his bride was a gold wrist watch, to the bridesmaid a gold brooch, set with pearls, and to the best man a stick pin set with pearls. Later in the day the couple left for Sydenham, where the groom is a prosperous young farmer.

The marriage of Miss Anna B. Purteile, daughter of the late Thomas Purteile and Mrs. Purteile, Picton, to Dr. Walter J. Hobson, Perth, will take place the latter part of June at St. Gregory's church, Picton.

At Trenton on June 23rd, the death occurred of Mrs. W. F. Maguire at the age of sixty-four years. Deceased had been ill for several years from cancer. She is survived by four sons, one daughter and one brother.

Germans Tired of War Boats.
Berlin, June 25.—War literature has been thrown into discard as far as demand for it on the part of the Berlin reading public is concerned. Novels with exciting plots, especially if they are dramatized on the screen, are the top-notchers in demand, according to Berlin librarians. Next to novels, books on travel are most in demand.
