DR. LENNON FAREWELLS

In Queen Street Methodist Church—Flower Service of the Sunday School.

Rev. Dr. W. S. Lennon's farewell sermon was preached to a large congregation in Queen Street Methodist Church Sunday evening. "The Gospel which I have Preached to You," was his subject, his eloquent sermon being a review of the principles which he has brought before his congregation during his four years' pastorate here. His text was found in I Cor. 15, 1-2.

Every preacher had his own gospel message and therein lay an advantage of the itinerancy of the Methodist church, he said. Hearing many viewpoints from many ministers, the people received a broader, more comprehensive, truer view of Christianity.

"I have tried to preach the old Gospel," said Dr. Lennon. Furthermore, it was a Gospel that had been tried and proven in his own life. He had never omitted the seriousness of sin and redemption, for he had discovered in his own life how hard it was to be good.

Dr. Lennon said he had acquainted himself with all the modern theories of salvation, the gospel of self help, a reconstituted social fabric and the like, but he knew of no other name by which men could be saved than that of Jesus Christ. There was no other way than by Calvary. Though his tongue had been too feeble to preach its full significance, he had loved to tell its story each time more wonderfully sweet to himself as he told it. For all his thirty odd years in the ministry he had no cut-and-dried theory of atonement. Somehow in God's mercy Calvary mastered man's sins.

But he had gone further and preached a risen, living Christ who, he had tried to show, still continued to win victories. In the conquest of the Armada, in the late war, in the present struggle for social justice. He had preached the companion Christ, the great Christ, in the sorrows of his congregation he had taught the always present love of God, leading perhaps through the valley of the shadow but because beyond there were green pastures. He had avoided preaching a Gospel that pares till only the bare stock is left, because it was untrue of Christianity. Christ gives the life that is more abundant. The greatest reward Dr. Lennon could take with him from Queen street was the knowledge that his words had led someone to give himself to Christ.

A very pleasing musical programme by the large choir included an anthem by the choir and solos by Mr. Eric Lennon and Mrs. John Crawford. Miss Pearl Nesbitt presided at the organ.

Dr. Lennon expects to leave the middle of the week for his Quebec charge. It is not known whether the new minister will be here next Sunday.

On Sunday morning the annual flower service was held in Queen street church when a very interesting Children's Day programme was given by the Sunday school.

The pulpit platform and choir loft had been beautifully decorated with peonies, daisies and evergreen by Capt. Law and a committee. The children filled the front pews while the girls of the Senior Department assisted the choir. Dr. C. C. Nash, superintendent of the school, presided. Miss Pearl Nesbitt was organ accompanist.

A welcome was extended by Eloise Shaver, children's choruses were sung, some by the Senior Department girls, the primary department and the kindergarten, a violin solo was played by Miss Mason, recitations were given by Willie Jones, Lois Skinner, and Olive Revelle. Prayer was offered by C. A. Shaver. The report of the secretary, Fred Paynter, showed $32 collection for the Sunday school picnic at Millhaven on July 14th. Capt. Robert Crawford, in hospital, remembered the picnic with a five dollar gift towards expenses.

Rev. Dr. Lennon's sermonette was a lesson for the young from flowers. Their glory soon passed, as the Scriptures said, but they were beautiful while here and they died with a promise of fruit or of seed for future generations. Let our lives be as useful.

As it was Dr. Lennon's last Sunday Dr. Nash said he wished to express an appreciation of the service in the Sunday school which the Lennon family had rendered. Dr. Nash had been a Sunday superintendent many years, in Brock street and Queen street churches, but no minister's family ever did more for the Sunday school in his experience. More than that, it was always done cheerfully and willingly.

Quitters—Attend the Oddfellows' Picnic; good prizes and lots of fun. At Vaudsen's Church, near Smith's Falls, a farewell was tendered Rev. W. A. Thompson and wife. A fitting address was read and Mr. Thompson was given a gold watch and Mrs. Thompson a bairn.

Quitters—Attend the Oddfellows' Picnic; good prizes and lots of fun. Mrs. Percy Higginson, Smith's Falls, died on Tuesday, aged fifty-eight years, from pneumonia. A husband and one son survive. Deceased was born at Kempsville and married there twenty-eight years ago. One brother, is C. C. Pelton, Kempsville.

The disposition to do is too small to produce results in not a few in this old world. Oddfellows' Picnic, morning boats leave 9.30 and 11 a.m.

ADDITIONS TO EDDY PLANT.

To Include A Newspaper Mill Costing Two Million Dollars. Work is to begin this week on additions and improvements to the E. G. Eddy company's plant at Hull which will include a hundred-ton-daily newspaper mill costing two million dollars.

G. H. Miller, president and J. T. Shirreff, vice-president, have been working for many months on the plans for the extensive alterations. The new paper-making machine, which will be the principal addition, will be of the most modern type with a capacity of over a hundred tons of newspaper a day. It is now being built by Messrs. Walmesley and Company (Canada) Ltd., at Montreal. The building to house it is so designed that a second machine of the same capacity can be added if future conditions warrant increased production.

The present sulphite mill will also be entirely renovated and when completed will be able to produce sixty to seventy-five tons of sulphite daily. Three digesters will be in use for the present but plans allow for the addition of other digesters if necessary.

Both the newsprint mill and the sulphite mill will be served by a large central steam plant. A railway will also connect the upper and lower mills of the company and two bridges will have to be built.

A double pipe line is to parallel the railway line for the purpose of economically transferring the raw materials. Arrangements for the power supply have been completed with the Ottawa-Hull Power Company Ltd., who will supply one extra 6,000 horse power from its new plant at Bryson, Que. This supply will about double the present consumption of power at the Chandlers plant. The company have also spent considerable money opening up their new Gattineau limits at the head of the Gattineau river, and the firm intends to float all the pulp wood required for the new mill down the Gattineau and into the Ottawa River and then to the mill. Wood cut on the limits one year will reach the mill by this method within a year. It will be a very economical means of getting the wood supply.

The company now employs between 1,300 and 1,400 employees but when the building programme is completed the number will be increased fifty per cent. The contract for the principal buildings and the erection work has been awarded the Anglin-Norcross Company, of Montreal, the firm which is constructing the Douglas library, at Queen's. The new mills are expected to be in operation on May 1st, 1925.

Steam Freighter Aground.

The steamer Hamilton of the Canada Steamship Lines, laden with nearly 97,000 bushels of barley, bound for Montreal, lost a pin from her steering gear a mile east of Cornwall, on Saturday and the pilot lost control of the vessel for the moment, with the result that the big steam freighter ran into the bank. As she was taking water, Capt. Legault, when the steering trouble had been adjusted, headed his boat back to the lower dock and beached her alongside the wharf at the foot of the old canal.

Aid from the Donnelly Wrecking and Salvage Company, Kingston, removed the barley to the barges Marmie and Case, by which it will be transferred to Montreal. When the Hamilton is light enough she will go to Montreal under her own steam.

Oddfellows' Picnic, morning boats leave 9.30 and 11 a.m.

Owing to the limited number of leaders the committee has decided that not more than twenty applications can be accepted, and all applications, with registration fees, must be in the hands of the committee not later than Thursday, July 3rd.

The camp fees are $5 and transportation for one week so that the first twenty boys registering will have the advantage.

A programme has been carefully planned for the health and recreation of the boys while in camp. S. T. Lilley, boys' work secretary, who has broad experience in boys' camps, will be in charge. Any information will be gladly given from the office of the Y.M.C.A., phone 450.

Need of "National Conscience." At Chalmers' church on Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. G. A. Brown, preached a most inspiring sermon on "National Greatness." Mr. Brown referred to the great natural resources of the country but stated that these did not constitute the greatness of a nation. The great need of today was "a national conscience."
