What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

MAE MURRAY IN FASHION ROW Mae Murray in "Fashion Row" latest Tiffany production for Metro release of this favorite star, at the Capitol theatre today. Crowded audiences testified by their reception of the new picture that "Fashion Row" is the best in Mae Murray's long list of successes. It has every pictorial and dramatic appeal that delights audiences. The story is interesting, the scenes are stunning, the cast supporting the star is one of high excellence, and Miss Murray is ravishing in the dual role of two sisters. As Olga Gari. nova, the newest rage of Broadway, Miss Murray is dazzling, and in the role of the drab little Russian peasant girl, Zita, she shows how great must be her art to portray so realistically these contrasting characters. Miss Murray's gowns and dances are highlights of "Fashion Row," while there are many scenes of lavish beauty Earle Foxe, Freeman Wood, Elmo Lincoln and Mathilde Brundage are in the cast. "Fashjon Row" was direct ed by Robert Z. Leonard.

SPARK PLUGS PLAYING HERE AGAINST PONIES WEDNESDAY Tomorrow evening (weather permitting) Oshawa will travel into town and take on the Ponies in the first meeting of the teams in the second half of the schedule. It is the first home game for the locals in the second section and so far they have not won any so it may also be the first victory. The surest way to make sure of the pennant is by winning both sections and Kingston had better started soon to fulfill that aim. Th umpires are scheduled as Allen and Nurse. Peterboro is playing at Belleville the same day.

HOARDED $400,000,000 IS DEAD-WEIGHT ON BUSINESS

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift

Hoarding is as unlike true thrift as a pile of iron ore is unlike a powerful locomotive. The iron ore represents potential strength and power. But it must be put through certain processes of preparation and become ACTIVE before its usefulness is made available. Hoarded wealth is a dead weight on business. Between the miser and the spendthrift there is little to choose when they are placed on the scales of moral and social valuation. The hoarding processes grade upward from the absolute miser to those who for various reasons hide away portions of their earnings rather than place them where they will flow through the regular channels of

Some interesting and rather amazing figures were compiled recently in the United States Treasury Department. These figures reveal that the amount of money which may be termed as hoarded in this country amounts to $400,000,000. There are 8,000 persons who are definitely classed as misers with $44,000,000 hidden away in secret places.

Among our foreign population, a treasury official estimates that some two million hoard $225,-

000,000 of their earnings. In rural districts, especially where banking facilities are inadequate, there is much hoarding. This is shown by the fact that when a bank is started in a rural locality where no bank existed before, personal deposits made up largely from hoarded sums at once begin to make their appearis hoarded in rural communities.

One of the great benefits which come from thrift education -lies in the fact that people are made to see how mere hoarding of money is not thrift.

Real thrift is the elimination of waste. And within this definition hoarding must be considered wasteful because the individual loses the rightful income from his savings and business in general loses the benefits that should come from these additions to the legitimate channels of trade and investment.

It is well to understand that when the saving of money is carried to the point of keeping it continually out of circulation such habits come very far from being within the rightful meaning of thrift.

MRS. MORRIS APPEARS

Regarding Neglect at Child Birth and Is Remanded Until Next Monday.

Mrs. Iris Morris was brought before Magistrate J. W. Bradshaw Tuesday noon and remanded till Monday, July 14th, at 11 a.m. on the charge of neglecting to provide reasonable assistance for herself at child-birth, contrary to Section 271 of the Criminal Code. The hearing lasted about three minutes, Mr. Bradshaw reading the charge to her and telling her she did not have to plead, and John Hickey, acting for the crown attorney, asking for the remand. The accused said nothing. A. E. Day appeared for her.

It is understood that there will be another charge laid against her, of illegally disposing of the body of her infant.

JUSTIFY INCREASE.

In Premiums For Fire Insurance On

Rented Stocks. The following letter was received by the J. K. Carrol firm of insurance agents, and throws some light on the recent increase on premiums for fire insurance on retail stocks. It is from the Canadian Fire Underwriters Association: "Dear Sirs: I duly received your has spent the past six weeks with her Roblin, cf; Allen, lf; Ham, rf; Dav- letter of the third, referring to the city. I might say first of all that this increase is not specially upon risks in Kingston, but applies to every specially rated place in Ontario and also in Quebec.

"It is a matter of knowledge, not only to insurance man but to all classes of the community who read the public press, that the fire losses in Canada, and especially in Ontario. have been very heavy in the last few years. Efforts have been made by the Ontario Fire Prevention Bureau and by various public bodies including the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to arouse the public, but so far apparently without success.

"It must be borne in mind that the expense ratio of the companies is now 40 per cent. of the premiums. of which 5 per cent. represents the governments, so that in 1922 there was a straight loss of 11 per cent. of the premium income and last year a loss of 7 per cent. upon the premiums. The fire insurance companies have been very patient and been hoping that there would some change in the situation and the increases have been applied only to those classes upon which the losses have been very heavy, and on those classes the assured have been obtaining their insurance at considerably less than cost.

"The fire losses should, I think convince any reasonable person that the action of the insurance companies is justified and reasonable. "Yours truly.
