The Parade of the ????? Soldiers.
(By Lola Rhodes.)

Hats off! Along the street there flirts
A puff of powder, a ruffle of skirts,
A bare knee gleams in the sun,
Hats off! The flappers are passing on.

Black and brown and yellow they gleam,
Little bobbed heads like heads in a dream,
Earrings as long as they grow,
Little rouged cheeks with a pinkish glow.

Short skirts, long skirts, every kind,
Shoes that trip like a summer wind,
Hose of gray, of flesh, of fawn,
Hats on! The flappers are gone—
are gone.

Hard-boiled!

Bill the Burglar was hard-boiled, there was no doubt of that. He had been shot at by hundreds of policemen and had been pierced by at least a dozen bullets, but evidently he was too tough to hurt. At last, however, he was captured and condemned to die in the electric chair.

The faithful day came, and Bill was led to the execution room and strapped in the chair. It took six men to do it, and they had their hands full, at that.

Five, ten minutes, passed, and hard-boiled Bill's air of bravado began to fade. He grew a shade paler, and seemed a trifle nervous.

"Alright, come on!" he growled, "turn on the juice and have it over with!"

"Turn it on, man!" stuttered the prison electrician, in an awed voice. "It's been on for five minutes!"

Tripping the Light Fantastic.
Helen: "What sort of a dancer is Jack?"
May: "Not bad, he's really very light on your feet."
—Mrs. Ralph Dell.

Not every actor who cries for bread receives a role.

Motions and Emotions.
The boat began to roll and pitch,
The judge clung to the rail;
He didn't like the bounding waves,
His solemn face grew pale;
But happily a clever thought
Came to his legal brain,
He over-ruled the motion
And felt all right again.
—Lillian Radke.

Quite Right.
Jimmy: "Hey, Dad!"
Dad: "Well?"
Jimmy: "What kinda boxes do they use when they box a kid's ears?"
Dad: "Cuff boxes."
—Harry J. Williams.

Those Questions.
First Motorist: "Having tire trouble?"
Second motorist (wiping the perspiration from his face): "Naw, just took it off to rest the rim!"
—Joan Koopman.

"Yes," remarked the theatrical manager of the show that was flopping, as he sorrowfully viewed the hundreds of vacant chairs, "Yes, this is indeed a drama of the great, open spaces."

Class.
He was the teacher
Instructing the girls,
Paulines and Elises,
Ethels and Pearls.

Though there were fifty,
He fell for one lass;
Mabel entranced him
For she was the "class."
—Edgar Daniel Kramer.

Barber Shops Chords.
Gayboy (to barber who has just cut his chin): "You see, my man, what comes of drinking liquor?"
Barber: "Yea sir. It makes the chin tender."
—J. R. Henderson.

How Careless of Father.
My daddy's made me promise
That boys I'd never kiss
'Till I was at least eighteen—
I really don't mind this.

'Cause when he gave his orders,
He just forgot, you see,
To make me promise also
I'd not let boys kiss me!
—Patricia E. Buchanan.

Outline of History.
Lady Jane Grey was calm, and was looking her best in spite of the fact that she was doomed to die within a few minutes.

Not a cry did she utter as her head was placed upon the block, nor did she flinch when the executioner lifted his axe. Nor did she shed a tear as she heard the crisp whistle of the descending axe.

Thud! Her head dropped from the block, and the lifeless body of Lady Jane Grey flopped ungracefully in another direction, for Lady Jane Grey was a lady hen which had ceased to lay.

Radolites.
I heard New York at supper time
As plain as plain can be.
I've had Detroit, I've had Beloit
And Nashville, Tennessee.

An hour ago I heard Palm Beach
And listened in on Texas!
So now I guess I'll get washed up
And go downstairs to breakfast.
—James E. Fesler.

Faint Heart.
Tramp (to lady at back door):
"Lady, I lost me leg, an' I thought mebbe you—"
Lady: "Well, I haven't got it here."
—A. Robert Brecker.
